None of family found on SS Index - Leo's ch. could still be living

A Thomas Barry, conductor for MCR, resigned his position the day before the Essex explosion, Aug. 13, 1907. Sent for article from Comber Hearld (Aug. 22) about conductor resigning. Also another article about explosion.

Border crossing card: 4/11/1910- states he first came in Aug. 1907 on MCR/owns home at 51 Harrison/sister Elizabeth McCaffery, Locust St. St. Thomas/frieght inspector/5'7", ruddy comp. grey hair, blue eyes. Had $5000 on him/b. Biddulph

Buried in Sec. 47 Lot 350 of Mt. Olivet

Comber Herald 22 Aug. 1907 - States Thomas resigned "in the past few days." Will be star witness at Essex explosion trial. Reports of the explosion state he had resigned before it happened - this article suggests he resigned afterwards.

Amherstburg Echo-20 June 1902 "Thomas Barry, conductor on the MCR has purchased the Campbell residence on Sandwich St."

Notes for ANNA THERESA REISER:

A Thomas Barry, conductor for MCR, resigned his position the day before the Essex explosion, Aug. 13, 1907. Sent for article from Comber Hearld (Aug. 22) about conductor resigning. Also another article about explosion.

Border crossing card: 4/11/1910- states he first came in Aug. 1907 on MCR/owns home at 51 Harrison/sister Elizabeth McCaffery, Locust St. St. Thomas/frieght inspector/5'7", ruddy comp. grey hair, blue eyes. Had $5000 on him/b. Biddulph

Buried in Sec. 47 Lot 350 of Mt. Olivet

Comber Herald 22 Aug. 1907 - States Thomas resigned "in the past few days." Will be star witness at Essex explosion trial. Reports of the explosion state he had resigned before it happened - this article suggests he resigned afterwards.

Greetings:

I am trying to locate the burial place of several of my ancestors.

I know: Anna T. Barry was buried at Mt. Olivet on 11 Sept. 1942

Can your records be checked to see if the following people are also buried there?

Thomas J. Barry - 27 Dec. 1950 - husband of the above Anna T. Section 47, Lot 350
Gertrude Barry - d. 1925 - 1942 - daughter of the above
Leo J. Barry - d. 23 Feb. 1951 - son of the above Section 63, Lot 110
Jennie Barry - d. aft. 1951 - wife of Leo J.
William J. Barry - d. aft. 1951 - son of Thomas and Anna

If possible, I would appreciate copies of the burial cards so I will have official documentation.

Thank you for your time and assistance. Enclosed is a SASE and a small donation.

Sincerely,

Helen C Read

Dear Helen:

Sorry for the delay regarding your letter of October 16, 1999.

I was unfortunately not able to find a lot of information for you. The records during the years 1889 to 1934 were very scarce.

I did find the following:

Elizabeth McCaffery - died July 5, 1936 and was buried July 7, 1936. Daughters were Mrs. Casey and Mrs. Wrathell.

William John Barry, born in Elgin, bapt. Aug. 11, 1884 by Rev. W. Flannery. No date of birth.

Thomas Joseph Barry, born in Elgin Bapt. Aug. 14, 1887 and also baptised by Rev. W. Flannery.

Leo Francis Barry, born in Elgin and baptised September 14, 1890 also by Rev. W. Flannery.

No records for Johannah Barry and Gertrude Barry. Also no marriage record for Thomas and Anna.

Hoping this information will be of some help to you.
Yours Truly,
Jean Goddeeris
Secretary

Dear Ms Read:

I have searched the records for the information that you requested and found obituaries for John McCaffrey and Elizabeth McCaffrey.
There is no copy of a St. Thomas newspaper for Feb. 1905 either in print or on microfilm so I was unable to find an obituary for Johanna Barry.

I hope that this information helps. The donation will go towards the collection. Thank you.

Sincerely,

neighbors near the alley that runs between Champlain and Monroe street near Rivard street saw three men in an alley acting in what they believed to be a suspicious manner. The police flyer was sent out and one of the three captured, while a sawed off shot gun loaded with quarter inch buck shot was found beneath a waggon tongue in the alley.

The man under arrest gave his name as Joe Collhra, 99 Cass avenue. Detectives were sent to search that place and others are out to locate the other two men. Mr. Palma passed the alley a few moments before the alarm and it is believed the three intended to waylay him as he returned from his bank later in the evening.

Palma is well known in St. Thomas. As a member of the firm of Marble and Palma he has been in this city a great deal within the past few months in connection with their contract for grading and ballasting of the London and Port Stanley Railway. Palma is an Italian and is reputed to be worth half a million dollars.

ORRIE S. CAUGHELL DIES IN CHICAGO

Former Well-Known St. Thomas Man Ill For Three Years—Had Aunt Here

Arthur Munro received a message Sunday evening advising him of the death of Orrie S. Caughell, of Chicago, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Caughell, formerly of this city. Mr. Caughell, who was a representative of the Herendeen Milling Company, had been ill for the past three years of diabetes.

He is survived by his aunts, Mrs. Arthur Munro and Mrs. Annie Wilson, Southwick street. His wife predeceased him some time ago. As a pupil of Balaclava street school in the eighties he will be remembered by many in this city.

The remains will be brought to the city and the funeral will take place on Tuesday at 3 p.m. from Mr. Munro's residence, 49 Southwick St., to St. Thomas Cemetery.

British Destroyers Damaged

(Canadian Press Cable Despatches)

London, Dec. 21.—Persistent rumors are current that a German cruiser has been sunk off the coast of Scotland. It is also rumored that two British destroyers arrived at Leith, Scotland badly damaged. There is no official confirmation to these report but they are causing a great deal of excitement in the metropolis, the conclusion drawn being that there has been a severe naval battle off the Scottish coast.

May Adopt Plan to Test Sincerity of the Movement

Mayor Johnson has called a public meeting to be held in the city hall Wednesday evening for the purpose of getting an expression of opinion from the ratepayers regarding the matter of an election or no election.

Although Mayor Johnson claims to have come across no one wanting an election this year there are plenty of citizens, it appears, other than aspirants for office, who would like to see the usual vote taken. The meeting on Wednesday night will no doubt be a warm one.

Ald. Roche, an aspirant for the mayoralty, said Monday that he would by no means force an election were it the opinion of the ratepayers at large that the annual exercises should be called off, but providing there is a vote taken, Ald. Roche will be right in the thick of the fight opposing Mayor Johnson.

It is also understood that a couple of aspirants for aldermanic honors would be willing to put in their share of the election cost merely for the sake of having the vote taken at the polls. As there will be some 25 candidates up for Council, mayoralty and school board, the cost would be but from $12 to $15 per candidate, and this sum could be handed over to the Belgian Relief Fund by the city.

It is pointed out that if the "Safety First" movers are in real earnest regarding the saving of the $[illegible] expenditure for an election, the plan should meet with favor by them, but if the move is being made from purely "Safety First" motives and not from a patriotic standpoint, it has another complexion.

FAVORS ACCLAMATION IN THE TOWNSHIPS

"Briton" However Thinks There Should Be Elections in This City

The Editor, The Journal,—

It is refreshing to observe that in a large number of municipalities throughout the Province of Ontario, aspirants for municipal honors are prepared to forget differences of opinion and forego apparent rights by reason of the stress of war and permit the election by acclamation of councils.

Speaking generally and with a fairly intimate knowledge of the personnel of the majority of the councils of the municipalities comprising the County of Elgin, I venture to suggest as earnestly as I may be permitted, that there is not a municipality in the county that would suffer if the present councils were returned unopposed. If this suggestion were carried out it should be upon the distinct understanding that every dollar of the expense thus saved by each municipality would be voted for the relief of the Belgians. The poor sufferers of that devastated country are loudly calling for bread and raiment. I conceive it to be the duty, as well as a high privilege of this country and every true citizen thereof to respond to that call.

Let us have no elections in Elgin in January, 1915, and with the money thereby saved directly or indirectly send flour or clothing or both to the nation of heroes—Belgium.

BRITON

Edit. Note.—The writer expressly stated that the sentiments expressed in the letter were not to be applied to the situation in St. Thomas as he did not favor the agitation for the elimination of elections in this city.

TAYLOR—JENNINGS

Former St. Thomas Man Weds Superior, Wis., Girl.

One of the prettiest weddings of the Christmas season took place on Thursday, Dec. 17 at four p.m. at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. George L. Taft, Superior, Wis., when Andy R. Taylor chief clerk in the engineering department of the Great Northern Railway, Superior, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe. Taylor, 5[illegible] Catharine street, St. Thomas, was united in marriage to Miss Mildred [illegible] Jennings, of Rice Lake, Wis. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. E. Kern of the Methodist church.

The bride was charming in a wedding gown of white duchess satin with over drape of real old lace [illegible] in cap effect and carrying bride's roses. She was assisted by Miss [illegible] Brant of St. Paul, who made a very pretty bridesmaid in her costume of pink charmeuse, with large picture hat and carrying yellow [illegible] mums. The groom was attended by Harry [illegible] Brown of Duluth.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor will be at home to their friends after Jan. 4 at 64 St. Catharine street, city, and after Jan. 1[illegible] at the [illegible] Apartment, Superior.

ONE OUTCOME, SAYS LAURIER

Liberal Leader Writes An Interesting Letter to Sir Gilbert Parker —Exhaustion of Germans.

London, Dec. 23.—Sir Gilbert Parker has received a letter from Sir Wilfrid Laurier in which he says: "Public sentiment in the United States is even stronger for the Allies than you in Europe are aware —even more than is attested in the events which you have summarized in your papers. You are familiar with the facts. How could it be otherwise? It is simply absurd, if not absolutely insane, in view of the works of Bernhardi and the speeches of the Kaiser, and the tone of the German professors themselves, for them now to make us believe that they were not the aggressors, when even to-day in every line which they publish they assert that they are the strongest race in the world, and that it is for the world's benefit that they should rule it. On the whole, for my part, I am satisfied with the progress which has been made so far by the Allies. There have been no great successes on either side. [illegible] the beginning was rather discouraging to us, but the result seems to me absolutely beyond doubt. It is [illegible] that the losses of the Germans have been at least twice as great as the losses of the Allies. [illegible] war progress in this way for two [illegible] and the result will not be simply a victory, but a complete exhaustion of Germany, as the South was exhausted after the civil war in the United States. This, and this alone, is the aim to which we must all look forward. I am surprised at my own sentiments, but this is a contest between civilization and barbarism. There is no alternative

$200,000 IN STOLEN BONDS IS RECOVERED

Five Men Placed Under Arrest In New York

NEW YORK, July 6.—The Federal Bureau of Investigation announced that recovery of an additional $200,000 in bonds and the arrest of five men had rewarded a swift succession of Independence holiday raids that went far to solve two Manhattan bond thefts in which $2,046,000 was taken.

Two treasury notes of $100,000 each were found in a traveling bag checked in busy Grand Central terminal, the bureau office here said. The check was found in possession of Morris Roisner, described by agents as a leading St. Paul, (Minn.) hoodlum, when he was seized in the roundup that followed. Roisner was at liberty in $1,000 bond as a material witness in the William Hamm, Jr., kidnapping.

Others arrested were listed as Dave Berman about 35; Moe Sedway, 42; Jack Greenberg, alias Green, 28, and Benjamin Espy, 50, all living at New York hotels except Espy, whose address was given as Brooklyn.

The five arrests brought to sixteen the total of persons in custody on charges growing out of thefts of $1,456,000 on January 28, 1935, from the Bank of Manhattan Company and of $590,000 from the United States Trust Company of December 13, 1934. All were treasury bonds. The two notes found at Grand Central were described as Company loot.

The bureau said recoveries of large bonds now totalled $950,000 in addition to smaller items adding several thousands to that figure. Some $440,000 of them were recovered in Europe several months ago.

had happened to him. The wreckage of the buggy lay nearby. With his head buzzing and aching, Giles still wondering what had happened to him, went back to West Lorne and reported the accident. Police came to the conclusion he was the victim of a hit-and-run driver.

Provincial Constables Kelly and Marsland went to work on the case with practically no clue as to what had occurred. Giles couldn't remember anything. And it was not until Cochrane came back to West Lorne on Sunday to find out more about Giles that police obtained conclusive proof that Cochrane must have stopped. He was able to describe the cuts on Giles' face and to give corroborative evidence to the police that he had stopped and endeavored to persuade Giles to let himself be taken to a doctor.

So far no charges have been laid, but the matter is still under investigation. Police say the light on Giles' buggy was none too good.

BEANS OPEN UNCHANGED

CHATHAM, July 6 (CP).—Beans were reported unchanged with dealers offering farmers $1 bushel for handpicked white beans, 67 cents for choice, and $1 for yellow eyes.

PASS[illegible] AT LAMBETH

Native of Westminster Township Last of Family of Fifteen

Richard Jacob Bainard, of Lambeth, retired farmer, passed away early Sunday morning in his ninetieth year. Mr. Bainard, who was born in the township of Westminster, had lived in Lambeth for the past thirteen years. He also farmed for a number of years at Glanworth. He was an active member of the United Church at Lambeth. One son, Frank D. Bainard, was the youngest and last surviving member of a family of fifteen.

The funeral will be held on Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock, eastern standard time, from the United church, Lambeth, with interment in the family plot in the St. Thomas cemetery.

MRS. J. M'CAFFREY A NATIVE OF LUCAN

Had Resided in St. Thomas for Fifty-Eight Years

Mrs. Elizabeth McCaffrey, 124 Inkerman street, wife of the late John McCaffrey, passed away Sunday morning in her eighty-fourth year. Mrs. McCaffrey, who was born in Lucan, had resided in St. Thomas for the past fifty-eight years. She was a member of Holy Angels' church, of the Altar Society and of the League of the Sacred Heart. One son and two daughters survive, Vernard, Kansas City; Mrs. James Casey, 124 Inkerman street, and Mrs. James Wrathell, 52 Hughes street, city; also two brothers, Thomas Barry, Detroit, and Timothy Barry, Cleveland, and twelve grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

The funeral will be held on Tuesday morning at eight-thirty from the residence of her daughter, 124 Inkerman street, thence to Holy Angels' church for requiem high mass at nine o'clock. Interment will be made in the Roman Catholic cemetery.

JOHN ALLIN PASSES IN MEMORIAL HOSPITAL

Former C. N. R. Employee Was In His 75th Year

Death on Sunday morning took John Allin, an esteemed resident, of St. George St., north, at the Memorial Hospital after an illness of three months. He was a retired C. N. R. sectionman and was 74 years of age.

Coming to the city 50 years ago, Mr. Allin worked at the Flax Mill on St. George Street, later joining the employ of the C. N. R., from which position he was pensioned 7 years ago. He was a native of Leeds County and a member of the Church of Christ. He belonged to the Brotherhood of Railway Maintenance Employees Lodge No. 1635.

Besides his widow, he leaves two sons, Jack Allin, Belleville, and Roy Allin, St. George St., north; and three sisters, Mrs. Redmond, North Dakota, U. S. A., Mrs. Arthur Gray, Barnes street; and Mrs. George Gilbert, Port Stanley.

The remains are at rest at the P. R. Williams and Son Funeral Home and the funeral will take place from there Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock with interment in the Elmdale Memorial Cemetery. Rev. L. W. Reid will conduct the services.

Pacific. When I picked up the boat train at Montreal West for Quebec I found myself on the longest passenger train I had seen in Canada or any other country in many years. There were 22 coaches, all comfortably [illegible] and one had to step lively to get a place in the diner at meal times.

"What's this? An excursion?" I said to the conductor.

"Just our regular load," he answered.

"Looks as if passenger traffic has picked up."

"I'll say it has and then some."

Less than a week later I took a sleeper from Ottawa to Toronto on the pool train operated by the C.P. R. and the Canadian National and there was a surprisingly large number of passengers aboard. The same situation prevailed when I continued my trip from Toronto to Detroit on the Canadian Pacific.

"Good business, eh?" I observed to the dining car steward.

"Business certainly is fine," he answered. "We have all we can handle conveniently. My usual run is out West, and boy, are we getting the business? I'll say we are."

The C.N.R. reports a similar increase in business.

If passenger traffic on the railways is a significant barometer, and, of course, it is, Canada is very definitely on the up grade.

EX-IMPERIALS HOLD BIG PICNIC AT PARK

Fine Sports Program Is Followed by "Banquet"

A very enjoyable picnic was held at Pinafore Park on Saturday by the ex-Imperials and their families, about 80 being in attendance. During the afternoon a number of races were run off under the supervision of R. V. Smith, W. S. Lover, Jack Bentley and W. P. Whitehead. The results were as follows:

Children under 6, Gerogina May Cowie, Shirley Roulston; girls, 11 to 14, Sadie Ross, Peggy Baker, Violet Turner; boys, 9 to 10, Allan Ross, Billie Lover; girls, 6 to 8, Lillian Gregory; boys, 6 to 8, Donald Appleyard, Jack Pullen, Richard Wilton; boys, 11 to 14, Fred Tull, Allan Ross; girls, 14 and over, Gwen Fuller, Irene Baker; wheelbarrow race, Mrs. Appleyard and W. S. Lover; men's 100-yard race, Alex Ross, Stan Redding; feeding the chicken (ladies), Mrs. Tinling, Mrs. McPherson; feeding the chicken (men), Alex Ross; shoe race, girls, Jean Claridge; shoe race, boys, Fred Tull; kicking the slipper, Mrs. Ross, Mrs. Merritt; placing the plate, Stan Redding, Jack Bentley, W. S. Lover; hop race, girls, Jean Claridge, Vera Claridge; rolling race, boys, Allan Ross; soda biscuit, Lillian Gregory, Vera Claridge; university stunt, Oxford vs. Cambridge ended in a draw.

After the sports everyone sat down to a delightful supper which had been arranged by Mrs. W. S. Lover and her very able committee, Mrs. Tallby, Mrs. Bentley and Mrs. McPherson. The registration was looked after by Mrs. D. T. Pullen and Mrs. J. Tinling. A large number of the prizes for the sports were very generously donated by R. V. Smith, of the Old Gardens. When the evening drew to a close, all the members joined hands and sang "Auld Lang Syne," with Sandy McPherson being the soloist. They then sang "God Save the King" and departed to their homes with pleasant recollections of this first picnic of ex-Imperials.

PROGRESS MADE ON NEW OCEAN SERVICE

Beatty Hopeful of Line From Canada to Antipodes

SOUTHAMPTON, July 6.—Good progress has been made regarding provision for new tonnage for the New Zealand - Australia - Canada service, declared Sir Edward Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, before sailing for Canada Saturday in the Empress of Britain.

Sir Edward said a final decision by the Imperial and Dominion governments had not been reached, but expected it would not be delayed. The Imperial shipping committee had indicated "a most gratifying desire to expedite their report on the special matters referred to them."

The Canadian Pacific head said the conference on shipping questions at London had confirmed his belief "that this essential link in Imperial transportation services should not be abandoned." Effective competition with the "heavily subsidized United States lines was impossible, however, he added, unless the Imperial and Dominion governments assisted in the operation of the service.

"Once a favorable decision is [illegible] Edward said, "com-

One of Four Men Touring Loses Life at Peterboro

PETERBORO, July 6 (CP). James Morrison, 23, Irish Canadian horseman formerly employed at the J. E. Smallman farm, London, Ont., lost his wife in the Otonabee River here yesterday. Coroner Dr. H. N. Young declared no inquest will be held. Death was attributed to collapse of the heart and probable rupture of the lungs. It was the first drowning fatality here this year.

One of four young men from London, Ont., who were on an auto-camping holiday, Morrison was swimming in the Otonabee River half a mile below Nassau dam, when he got into difficulties.

His companion, James Slattery, 29, of London, made a gallant effort to save the drowning youth at the risk of his own life. Slattery swam about 150 yards to the assistance of his drowning companion, and struggled ashore with Morrison's unconscious form, landing on the west bank of the river some distance below the point where the pair had been bathing.

Methods of artificial respiration were applied for more than two hours.

was thrown clear, but not before he was badly burned.

The freight had been shunted to the siding just ahead of the passenger train and the switch apparently had not been closed or was defective, police said. In that case, however, signal lights should have been red.

E. E. Wright, superintendent of the Detroit Division, said that the question of the open switch could not be determined until after the wreck was cleared away sometime Sunday night.

"It may have been an open switch, or defective equipment, or any one of a number of things," he said. "We will probably know some time Monday."

"How many passengers were on the train?" he was asked.

100 Passengers Aboard

"Probably around a hundred," estimated. "So far as we know there was no one injured, although a few of the passengers may have been shaken up."

The freight train had been proceeding into Detroit ahead of the limited and went into the siding to let it pass on the open track. Smeed, before he became unconscious, told Deputy Sheriff Lon Swisher that the passenger train had gone through an open switch.

As soon as he saw the freight train ahead, Smeed shouted a warning to Dennis and attempted to stop the locomotive. Dennis jumped for the coal pile and was buried in it when the tender left the track and rolled over.

Smeed apparently was thrown against the blazing fire before being flung clear of the locomotive.

The sound of the crash was heard for several miles. The engine plowed under the rear of the freight train and was partly buried under telescoped cars. One had been loaded with sand, another with cam shafts and two of the splintered cars were of the refrigerator type.

Harry Agge, deputy sheriff on road patrol at the time, said he heard the crash while near Westwood Inn, nearly 10 miles away. He went to the wreck and helped release Dennis, who finally was removed when a torch was used to cut a hole through the bottom of the tender.

Smeed, who lived at 2236 Lamonthe Ave., in Detroit, had been with the railway for 45 years. It was the first wreck in which he was involved.

Fireman Laughs at Death

The man whom his rescuers described as "the gamest guy we ever saw" grinned at visitors Sunday afternoon from his bed at Wayne General Hospital.

"I'm fine," he said. "I'm getting so these things don't bother me any more."

He is Floyd E. Dennis, fireman of the wrecked flyer. Dennis has been involved in three similar accidents in the past three years.

Dennis was entombed for four hours under seven tons of coal and the wreckage of the engine and tender which left the track.

He suffered general contusions and minor cuts, but his condition is not believed to be serious. His companion, Engineer James Smeed was fatally burned.

"There was some steel over me—part of the wreckage of the tender, which kept the coal from caving in on me," Dennis explained. "I was scared to death that when they were working to uncover my face and chest so I could breathe, he said, when he saw that the e[illegible] gine was going to strike th[illegible] freight train, a fast east-bound r[illegible] frigerator train.

Is Cautious About Steam

"I know that in a wreck, th[illegible] steam pipes burst and anyone [illegible] the engine cab gets burned," [illegible] said.

The tender tipped over on t[illegible] of Dennis, its load of coal buryi[illegible] him.

"I tell you, that's a sensation[illegible]" he exclaimed.

First to reach the buried en[illegible]neer was the driver of a pass[illegible] bakery truck whose name is u[illegible]known. With his bare hands, [illegible] burrowed through the coal, remo[illegible]ing one lump at a time, until [illegible] found Dennis' face. Also on t[illegible] scene were Woodrow Meyers a[illegible] Paul Wendt, of Wayne, who help[illegible] clear the coal.

"We got a flashlight in so [illegible] could see how bad he was hur[illegible]" Meyers said. "When we flashed [illegible] in, he looked right up at us a[illegible] grinned."

For four trying hours Den[illegible] stayed there while train crews [illegible] townsmen with infinite caut[illegible] moved the coal.

"With every lump we though[illegible] would cave," Meyers said. "We [illegible] it away from his chest so he c[illegible] breathe. And he lay there [illegible] kidded."

Claims Nine Lives

"'I guess I've got nine lives [illegible] a cat,' he'd say. 'Six more to [illegible] now.'"

"He only broke down on[illegible]" Wendt said. "That was after [illegible] railroad crews had brought a[illegible]yline torches and were trying [illegible] cut through the steel to him. T[illegible] couldn't reach him.

"'Are they getting there?' [illegible] asked and then when he saw [illegible] they weren't, he sobered down[illegible]

"'I wish you'd get my wife h[illegible]' he said. 'I might not get ou[illegible] here. This coal might give wa[illegible]'"

Mrs. Dennis was driving [illegible] her home at Jackson to the sc[illegible] but did not reach Wayne [illegible] after her husband had been [illegible] moved to the hospital.

"I tell you," said Wendt, [illegible] the gamest guy we ever s[illegible]" Meyers nodded his agreement.

Smeed, the dead engineer, [illegible] born in New Richmond, Mich[illegible] attended high school at Sauga[illegible] and started working for the [illegible]igan Central after leaving [illegible] school. He had been an eng[illegible] for 30 years and during the [illegible] 23 years lived in Detroit.

Surviving Smeed are his w[illegible] Mrs. Ida M. Smeed, two [illegible] Harry W. Smeed, of Coloma [illegible] Harold W. Smeed, of Decatur [illegible] and two daughters, Miss [illegible]erine and Miss Esther Smee[illegible] Detroit.

Dear Ms. Read:

Regarding your questions in the letter of October 12. St. Boniface Church would have been near to the address you indicated. The records for that closed church are in the custody of the Archdiocese of Detroit, Archives Office.

The following information is from the death register of St. Boniface Church in Detroit.

> Anna Barry of 1817 W. Vernor, Mother of William, Thomas and Leo. Wife of Thomas Barry. Aged 84 years, 11 months. Died 8 September 1942, Buried 11 September 1942 at Mt. Olivet Cemetery in Detroit. A Requiem High Mass was sung at 10:00 am. Rev. Charles A. Dohring officiating.

I did not find any entry in the death register for Thomas Barry. You may wish to contact Mt. Olivet Cemetery at 17100 Van Dyke, Detroit 48234. The telephone number is 313-365-5650. They could locate a burial card for Thomas. He may be in the grave next to Anna. The Burial Card would indicate the church he was buried from, date of death and date of burial, age and possibly next of kin.

Thank you for your kind donation to the Archives Office. I hope this information helps in your search.

Sincerely,

Timothy J. Westfall

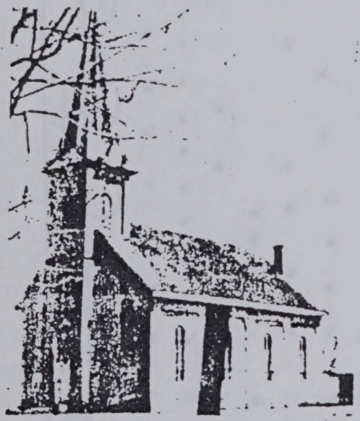
History (Excerpt from page 130 and 131 in "Sure and this is Biddulph" by Jennie Raycraft Lewis, now deceased.

IV St. Peter's — Roman Catholic

The parish of the Church of Our Lady of Mount Carmel contains two churches, the one at Mt. Carmel and the Mission Church of St. Peter's on the Front Road or London Road (now Highway No. 4) and this church is generally known in the parish as the "Front Church."



St. Peter's — Roman Catholic

St. Peter's Church and Parish were established before Mt. Carmel, the first church on the same site as the present one — being built about 1850 — was a little frame church. This served the needs of the parish for about 25 years.

The cemetery, though, had been established before this, the first burial taking place in 1843, that of Patrick Glavin a child of four years and four months. John Glavin, the father, walked to London and back the same day to see Father O'Dwyer, who told him to bury the child on a hill near a certain tree and that he would bless the grave the next time he came out. A small stone marks the spot.

An old register recording the baptisms and marriages of Biddulph and McGillivray, names the committee appointed for the building of " the Roman Catholic Church at McGillivray" (St. Peter's) as: Patrick Glavin, Thomas Loughlin, Patrick Cowley, Daniel Coughlin, Patrick Flanagan, Peter Logan, John Glavin, John Barry, Lawrence Barry, Robert Merrick, Michael Lyons and Jeremiah Collins. This inscription is in the handwriting of Father James Flynn. On the inside cover of the register is another inscription in the handwriting of Rev. P. F. Crinnan — "For the use of Biddulph and McGillivray, November 4, 1854," which leads one to believe that the church may have been opened on this date.

Following Father Flynn the Rev. T. Kerwin, R. Dean and Rev. J. D. Ryan took charge of the parish commencing in February, 1851. The last visit of Father Kerwin was in September; 1854; Father Ryan having paid his last visit in January of the same year. Rev. A. Carayon made a few visits in 1852. Following Fr. Kerwin there came Rev. P. F. Crinnan who came from Stratford, riding on horseback. He came regularly from September, 1854 to March, 1858 and a few times in 1859.

In addition to the register spoken of before, there is a small register at Mt. Carmel bearing the inscription "A Registry of Marriages and Baptisms in the Church of St. Peter's, McGillivray" — the first mention of the church being named St. Peter's. In this register the baptism of John Cain by Father Crinnan in September, 1854 and the first marriage by Father Crinnan was that of Michael Ford and Mariah Hannon, on February 11, 1855.

Father Michael Prendergast came for most of the year 1858, to be followed in December of that year by Rev. James Murphy, who continued to come quite regularly till May, 1865.

X The Rev. Joseph Gerard succeeded Father Murphy in June, 1865 and continued to care for the parish till January, 1869, when Rev. P. J. Brennan, the first resident priest at Mt. Carmel took charge. It was during Father Brennan's pastorate that the present church at St. Peter's was built. This was opened in 1871.

Family names of some of the early parishioners were: Hennessy, Glavin, Curtain, Bayhen, O'Neil, McFee, O'Hara; Barry, Carroll, O'Leary, O'Brien, Thompson, Cain, Doyle; Kilgallan, Laughlin, Regan, Boyle, Flanagan, Farmer, Egan; Boland, Fogarty, Kelly, Maher, Delehaye, Carey, Quinn and others.

At present Father J. Kelly, parish priest who resides at Mt. Carmel, conducts masses each Sunday in St. Peter's Church. (Information from Regina Mundi Seminary, London and from Father J. Kelly, Mt. Carmel.)

HISTORY OF OUR LADY OF MT. CARMEL R.C. CEMETERY

A brief history is given in the writeup as it appeared in the Exeter Times Advocate newspaper on July 8, 1987, celebrating the 100th anniversary.

In conversation with Pat Sullivan and Stephen Dietrich the day of the recording of this cemetery on July 19, 1987, we learned that the 1st parish burials were perhaps surrounding the log church 1¼ miles east of the present cemetery.

They surmised the cemetery board wanted a new church on higher ground, and the cemetery was likely first in use 1840-1850, as we now see it. The earliest burial date is for Sister Martha Quarry, who died Oct. 13, 1823 aged 38, of yellow fever. Quite obviously, there were graves and, their tombstones, moved to the present cemetery on the crest of the hill.

The land was owned by John Ragan on the 1878 Huron County atlas, so perhaps he donated the land for the church and cemetery. No records exist this far back with the cemetery board.

The cemetery is beautifully kept, and the grounds around the church and rectory are lovingly cared for, and the flowers are blooming profusely.

We thank the members of the parish for coming to help us. We enjoyed meeting them and hope this recording will be of assistance to them.

Elegant ladies in long gowns with poke bonnets or wide-brimmed flowered hats; gentlemen in black dress suits, complete with black string ties, gold watch chain and top hats; a beard growing contest; a fashion show with a twist; a real live magician; square-dancing to the tune of a fiddle; barbecued chicken in a tent ... Doone Pioneer Village? A fair in Goderich? Wrong!

All this and more could be found at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church this weekend, as parishioners, old and new, celebrated "A Century of Blessings". Yes, Mount Carmel residents took a long look backwards at their roots and found a good deal to be thankful for in their rich heritage.

The first church, a little log structure, was erected at Mud Creek, about 1¼ miles east, in 1860, then a small frame church erected on the present site. Father Martin Kelly was pastor from 1879 to 1889, and supervised the building of the present Mount Carmel Church, the cornerstone laid in July 24, 1887.

The first settlers were Irish Catholics who left during the potato famine, around 1835, followed by a number of German families in 1870, and a few Scottish settlers. After the Second World War, people came over from Holland and Belgium to join the parish community.

The first school was a little log cabin about 1½ miles north of Mt. Carmel, then another frame one near the present school site. In 1906 a brick two room school house served the needs of the people, and in 1924 the Ursuline Sisters came to teach, converting the home of Joe Glavin into a convent. In 1956, a new three-room school was built, adding two rooms in 1961, in 1964, and a gymnasium in 1968 to comprise the present school facility.

DATA ON THE McISAAC FAMILY HISTORY:

One of the earliest families in this parish was that of the McIsaac family. The writer had correspondence with Neil R. McIsaac, 12852 Masonic, Warren, Michigan, 48093. U.S.A. There is a great deal of genealogical data contained herein and I am sure that Mr. McIsaac will reply to anyone interested in exchanging information on this family. Not all names below are in index.

May I quote, "My great, greatgrandfather was Peter McIsaac, who settled when he came to Canada from Scotland in the Dashwood-Mt. Carmel (Offa) area near what is also called Khiva. He had three sons; Ronald (Rhanalyd), Angus and John. Ronald is my greatgrandfather. Ronald married Mary McEachern from that area and they had ten or eleven children; John, Peter, Angus, Dan, Augustus (Hugh), Sarah, Christena, Mary, Annie and another daughter whom I can't think of her name.

My grandfather, Peter, remained in the Dashwood area and Dan lived in Crediton. Most of the others moved to Michigan, except Sarah who married Otto Restameyer, and Christina who mmoved to London and married an Armstrong. Peter, my grandfather, married Lucinda Dickson, and they had three children; Milford, Ervine (my father) and Ethilda (Mary Clothilde) who died at nine years of age.

Ervine had four children; Florence (Mrs. Hately, of Windsor; Roy, of London; Gerald, of Windsor, and Neil (myself), of Warren, Michigan.

........I have been in contact with an Edwin McIsaac of Gibraltar, Michigan, who said he is a descendant of the original settlers from the Parkhill area."

The above has been in touch with the Scottish Catholic parish at Bornish St. Columban R.C. Church in West Williams, and also with Donald Read of Ottawa.

MT. CARMEL R.C. CEMETERY 3250

This cemetery is read in two sections. Rows 1-39 comprise the southerly portion closest to the church lawns, and the very oldest stones are on the crest of the hill. Rows 40-54 are in the new section to the north side. Everyone mentioned on a tombstone is listed in the index, and many are still living. We do this in order to present as much genealogical data as possible for researchers of family history. Rows all read south to north.

HISTORY OF ST. PATRICK'S R.C. CHURCH
Lot 10, Con. 6. Proof Line (No.4 Hwy)
Biddulph Township, Middlesex County, Ontario

Excerpts taken from the book, "Sure and This is Biddulph" by Jennie Reycraft Lewis, published for the Biddulph township council.

"Rt. Rev. M. Power of Toronto established St. Patrick's congregation in 1845 for an estimated 25 Roman Catholic families. John and Archibald McIlhargey who came from Ireland and settled on Lots 18 and 19, Con. 16, London Township, were believed to be the first settlers in the parish. St Patrick's was served for a time by Father James Flynn, assistant to Dean Kirwan, rector of St. Lawrence, (later St. Peter's) parish in London.

The first church, a frame building, was built in 1850. It was built by Thomas Howard, a contractor. In 1853, with 150 families, a new priest was appointed, Rev. Fr. P. F. Crinnon, and the brick structure, moddelled after the first St. Peter's Cathedral, was built by 1859. The frame building was used as the first St. Patrick's School, until 1885 when the brick school was built.

The story of the Donnelly tragedy has been told over and over in varying versions during the past 100 years, Father John Connolly was the priest in charge of the parish during this troublesome period. After the murder was committed, Father Connolly was threatened with violence ff he allowed the bodies of the victims to enter the church. He was not easily intimidated and went about his duty performing the funeral mass. He knew murder could strike again, possibly at him. However the church was packed for the funeral services and a large crowd stood outside, and there was no disburbance."

Notes added by the writer:

A list of all the parish priests serving this parish, as well as sons of the parish who became priests is on file.

It should be mentioned that the original Donnelly stone has been replaced by another with less bitter wording. Also, I have been told the new stone does not rest on the actual graves.

It is to be presumed that the cemetery has been in existence since 1852. A Rhoda Ryder, daughter of Patrick and Ann Ryder, died May 15, 1852, at 11 years and 10 ms. (see F-5). Also Ann McIlhargey, daughter of Patrick and Margaret McIlhargey, died November 12, 1853, at age 4 years and 4 mons.

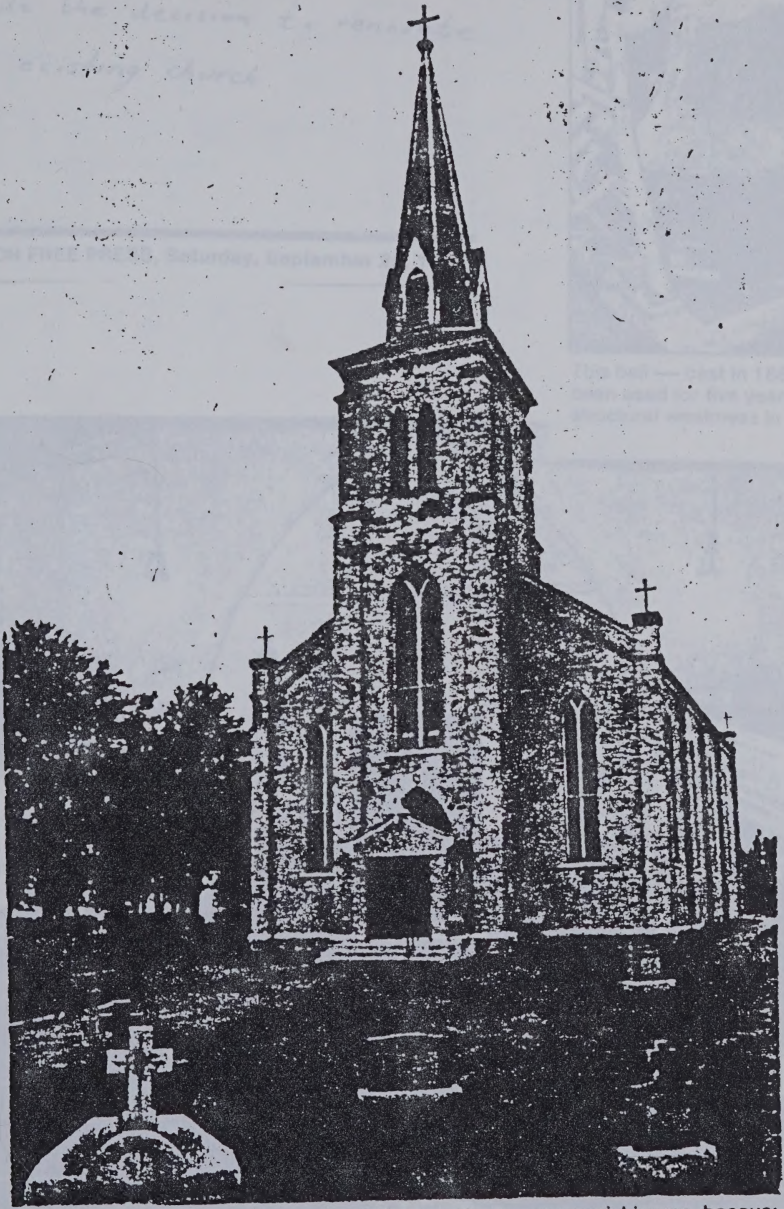
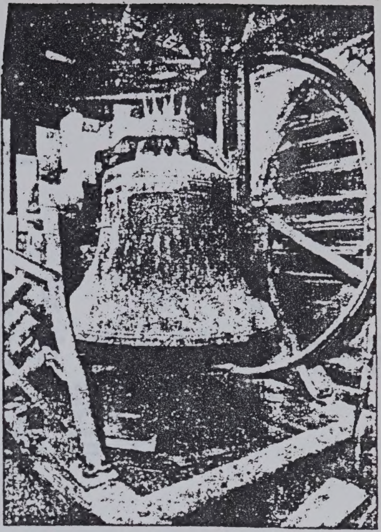
THE LONDON FREE PRESS, Saturday, September 25, 1982



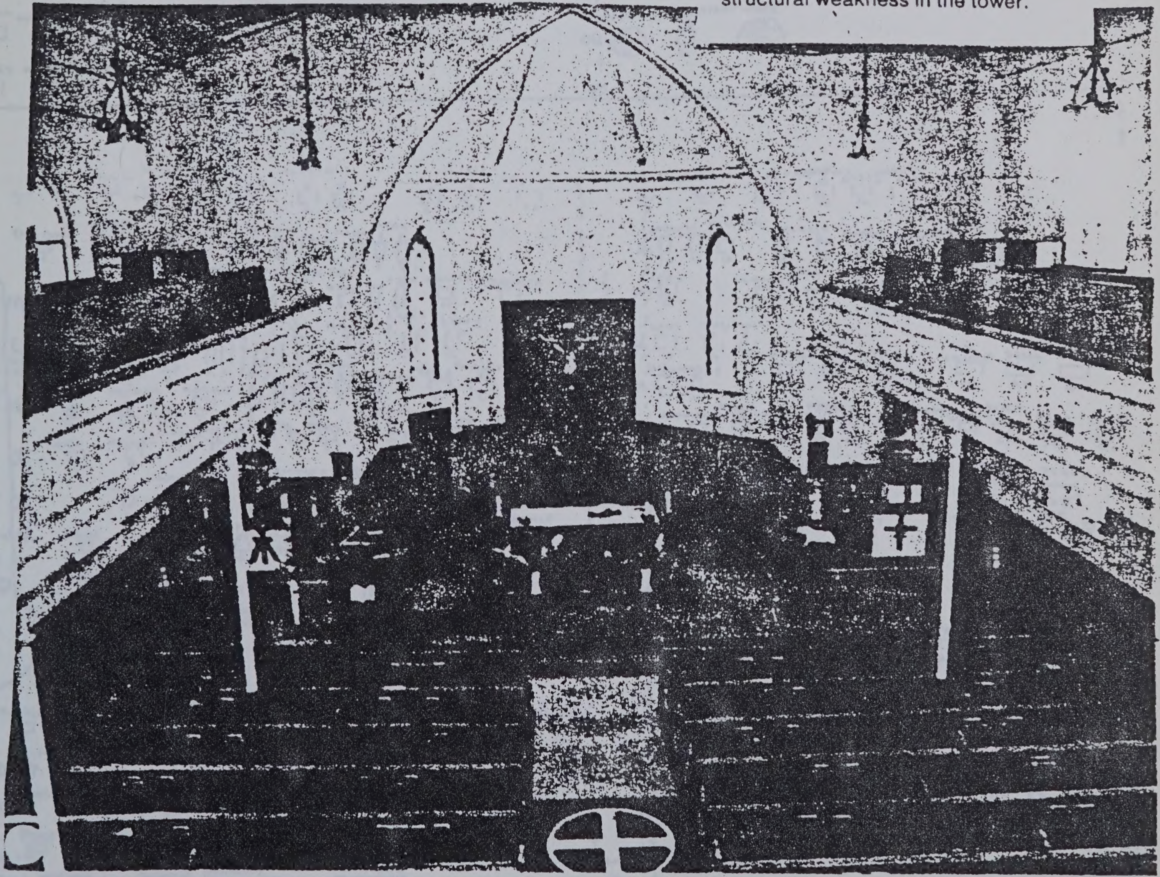
St. Patrick's church near Lucan should be saved, say some parishioners, becaus its lofty cross-topped spire and tall stained glass windows are a monument to the first settlers in the area. Others say the deteriorating structure isn't worth spending money on and want a new church built. (It was saved!)

A few weeks later the Bishop made the decision to renovate the existing church

THE LONDON FREE PRESS, Saturday, September 25, 1982



This bell — cast in 1865 — hasn't been used for five years because of a structural weakness in the tower.



f St. Patrick's church is renovated balconies along either side will be removed and the interior completely refinished, giving he 123-year-old church a "fresh and appealing" look, says Rev. Joseph Patrick Finn.

St. Patrick's R.C. Cemetery
Biddulph Twp.

This index includes all names mentioned on the tombstones. Many may not be buried in this cemetery, and many are still living. We have included allthis extra data in order to present all the information we do have on file. It is to be remembered as well that several surnames have different spellings, yet phonetically true. This community was settled by 25 Irish Catholic families who came out to settle together, and it is possible that they are mostly all the same families. Do check carefully.

Double letters with numbers indicate new section.

RESEARCHING RAILROAD RECORDS

By James M. Franzen

Researching railroad personnel records is very difficult to start with because they are private companies. Adding to the problem are bankruptcies and consoildations that have taken place over the years. At best you only may be able to come up with a general history of the company your ancestor worked for.

To find out if an early railroad became part of one of the large modern systems first, locate it on an early map, then check a current state or county map that identifies railroads. To find the headquarters of the railroad check the Moody's Transportation Manual, found in the reference section at library's.

One source of early railroad records may be in historical collections of major libraries, such as the*Bentley Historical Collections, or state archives. One source for locating these collections for Michigan railroads is Railroads in Michigan: A Catalog of Company Publications, 1836-1980, by Le Roy Barnett (Jackson District Libraray, R/016.385/B). Another source is to try local libraries or historical societies located in headquarters cities of the early railroad companies. Sources of this information are; The Official Guide of the Railways, Natioanl Railway Publishing Co. (early copies can be found at the University of Michigan Engineering Library), or Report on Transportation Business in the United States at the Elevnth Census, 1890--Part I--Transportation by Land (The Library of Michigan has a copy). One last suggestion for trying to locate sources of early records is a railroad historical society (a * list is at the end of this article).

The Railroad Retirement Board

A more recent source of information is the Railroad Retirement Board. I say recent because the only information, if available, would only go back to the 1920's. I have a copy of Form AA-1, Application for Annuity to Railroad Retirement Board, for one * of my grandfathers. It is a salmon color, eight page, form, that has great information. You will find; Social Security number, date and place of birth, current address at time of application, last railroad worked for, marital status (if currently married, name and wife's date of birth) and a list of all railroads worked for (dates of service, occupation, location and exact name on pay roll). The address of the Railroad Retirement Board is; U.S. Railroad Retirement Board, Division of Public Affairs, 844 Rush St. Chicago, IL 60611. They request; name, date of birth, year of death, railroad, and year last worked in railroad industry, for the person you are researching.

* Could Bentley Collection be in Ann Arbor? I'll swear I read something else which said MI rr records in Ann Arbor. might check internet for Bentley Collection.

1932 - Detroit

Growth was slow until 1872 when the Canada Southern Railway was built from Amherstburg to Fort Erie passing through the town. That same year, the previously mentioned Great Western Railway servicing London, fearing loss of business to the Canada Southern, ran a line from Glencoe to Welland, also passing through St. Thomas. The two lines promoted rapid growth and from 1872 to 1880 population of St. Thomas rose from 2,200 to 8,367. St. Thomas was called "the pride of the west" and reached city status in 1881, a year that also marked the opening of Alma College in the city as a private girl's school.

What was the city of 10,000 like in 1881? It had dirt roads, wooden sidewalks if the adjacent merchant paid for them, plank crosswalks, gas street lights plus a few electric lights all energized by a local coke plant. Water circulated between outdoor toilets and wells. Garbage was dumped in the ravines or buried in the backyards. Smoke from coal and wood-burning stoves filled the air and that year the local Council decided not to adopt a bylaw to force milk cows off the street between 6 a.m. and 7 p.m. Wagons, buggies and horse drawn street cars supplied transportation for those who could afford to use them. Stagecoach lines connected the city with Fingal and Sparta. A crude water system supplied unpurified water at very low pressure to parts of the city.

The few storm and sanitary sewers dumped directly into ravines creating a pollution problem which would worsen when unlimited quantities of purified water to supply indoor plumbing becase available from a new pumping station built in the Waterworks Park in 1891.

The city would not have a hospital until 1892 when Amasa Wood donated a hospital to the city.

In 1882, Canada Southern Railway leased its facilities to the Michigan Central which rapidly became the city's largest employer and also Canada's fastest railway with trains achieving speeds of over 100 miles per hour before 1900.

HELP EMPIRE AND ALLIES

Commons Pass Resolution That Whole Strength Must Be Turned Toward Winning the War; Foster Outlines Imperial Policy.

Ottawa, May 22.—A resolution moved by Col. John Currie, South Simcoe, was debate Monday and passed unanimously with the assent of the Government. The resolution was as follows:

"That in the opinion of the House, with a view to increasing the power of the allies in the prosecution of the war, the Government should enter into immediate consultation with his majesty's Government in Great Britain, the other dominions, India and the colonies, in order with their aid to bring the whole economic strength of the empire into co-operation with our allies in a policy directed against the enemy.""

He declared that unless the allies won this war the loss of the Dominion of Canada would be far greater than to any of the other countries. Canada was the only country which had gone into this war without the hope of getting anything for it. Now that they were into it, the only thing that Canadians might possible hope for would be some advantage in trade.

Referring to the high prices of certain necessaries, he said it was wrong to take profits out of the mouths of wives and children. It was wrong to raise the cost of food, but it was not wrong to increase legitimate business.

Must Help Allies.

Sir George Foster, who spoke for the Government, outlined the recommendations of the economic conference of Paris. He declared that insofar as trading with the enemy was concerned they had laid down the principle that there should be no trade with the enemy whatever. Insofar as the allies were concerned they had laid down the principle that during the war there should be all possible co-operation and that after the war, during a period of reconstruction, they should all work together for the upbuilding of allied nations.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier: "Does that imply that after the war we should have no intercourse with our enemies? I ask that because that is the interpretation the German chancellor placed upon it."

Sir George Foster replied that the interpretation of the German chancellor was meant to stir up his own people.

Referring to the question of the returned soldiers, Sir George Foster did not believe that he would take the attitude that when he returned he would simply have to sit down and be nursed by the country for the services which he had performed. He believed that the returned soldier would come back determined to do his part in the civil work as well and as nobly as he had done his military service. If that attitude was taken the problem would not be so difficult.

Sir George Foster declared that the country could not expect to float from the period of war to the period of peace on a flood tide of prosperity. He declared that three things will be necessary. First, the wisest possible legislation, fiscal and otherwise; second, the closest co-operation between labor and capital, and third, the best brains among the artisan, working classes and producers put to the best possible purpose.

Yankee Solves U-Boat Menace

Simon Lake Invents Giant Diver Capable of Carrying Huge Cargoes; Ten Times Larger Than Deutschland.

Philadelphia, May 22— America has found the perfect answer to the German submarine terror. It is an invention by the same man whose brain devised the German menace. The man is Simon Lake.

The answer is a merchant submarine standardized and simplified so that the first one may be turned out within four months and others sent out after that at the rate of three or four a week.

Fact Becomes Public.

NAME FOOD CONTROLLER; WILL LAURIER RESIGN?

Ottawa, May 22.—(Can. Press.)—The appointment of a food controller for Canada urged by the heads of the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress is considered certain. The matter will come before the cabinet on Thursday. The Canadian controller will co-operate with the official named by the United States government for the same purpose.

Following their conference with the Premier last night the Trades Congress executive heads are in secret session on the conscription problem to-day. An official statement on their decision is expected later in the afternoon.

Will Laurier Quit?

All sorts of rumors as to Sir Wilfrid Laurier's stand on the great issue are in circulation. There is even talk of the resignation of the Liberal leadership, but it is conceded that this is purely speculation, though it is not expected Sir Wilfrid will support the Borden measure as it is shaping up at present.

Not a Word of Truth In It.

Ottawa, May 22.—(Can. Press.)—Persistent rumor from Montreal that Sir Wilfrid Laurier is about to resign the Liberal leadership on the conscription issue, was emphatically denied to-day by a former Liberal cabinet minister. "It's a pure invention without a vestige of truth behind it," he declared.

TIMOTHY C. BARRY, M. C. R. CONDUCTOR, FATALLY HURT BENEATH TRAIN'S WHEELS

No One Saw Accident, But He Apparently Was Thrown Under Coach Just As He Was Alighting at the East End of the Depot; Had Been in Service of the Company Many Years, Living Here Until a Few Years Ago.

Timothy C. Barry, one of the best-known passenger conductors in the service of the Michigan Central Railway, was so badly injured beneath the wheels of train No. 1 at the depot here late Monday evening that he died forty minutes later in the Amasa Wood hospital.

Mr. Barry was in charge of this fast train between Buffalo and Detroit, which is due to reach here at 11.23. It seems to have been his custom to drop off the forepart of the train as it pulled into the depot in order that he could go to the despatchers' room upstairs by the stairway from the east arch, which would mean that the train would still be travelling at a good rate of speed. No one saw the accident, but from the place where the accident occurred and the position in which the body was found when his cries had attracted other members of the crew to the scene, it looks as if something had gone wrong just as he stepped off. Some of the officials are inclined to the belief that his coat must have been caught, preventing him from reaching the ground and throwing him under the wheels before he could properly regain his feet or grasp a fresh hold of the coach railing.

Retained Consciousness.

When taken from beneath the wheels of the train, it was found that both of his legs and one arm had been crushed. Mr. Barry was still conscious and able to converse with friends, but he could throw no light on how the accident happened. The ambulance was hastily summoned and he was rushed to the hospital, but he died about 40 minutes after the accident, or shortly after he arrived at the hospital.

Mrs. Barry Meets With Accident.

Just as soon as the serious nature of Mr. Barry's injuries were ascertained, Mrs. Barry was notified by long distance telephone and came down to St. Thomas on No. 18 express. Mrs. Barry, on going to answer the telephone in her home, had the misfortune to sprain her ankle. She pluckily made the trip to St. Thomas, however.

Mrs. Barry is at present stopping at the home of friends, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. L. Coughlin, 12 Myrtle street.

The theory that Mr. Barry, in the dim light, had run into one of the posts supporting the platform shelter and had been thrown back under the wheels of the train, is not accepted by the officials.

Coroner Ewin, who was notified, called an inquest and ordered the remains removed to Towers & Company's undertaking parlors. The jury, comprising the following, met on Tuesday morning and after viewing the remains adjourned until Friday evening at 7.30: C. C. Raison (foreman), W. Kimbel, Samuel Axford, W. Irwin, G. R. Stevenson, P. C. Smiley, H. F. Stansell, and Byron Charlton.

The accident delayed the train here 26 minutes. Conductor N. H. Ryan took the train on to Detroit.

On Road Many Years.

Mr. Barry, although only 50 years of age, was one of the oldest and best-known men in the service. A native of St. Thomas, the son of the late John Barry, Eagle street, he entered the road's employ when only a lad and had been with them continuously ever since, working his way up through the train service until he had been given one of the best and most responsible runs on the road.

For some years he was located at Montrose, being in the freight service there, but up till a couple of years ago, when the L. & P. S. R. was electrified, he was in charge of the train on the London division. Since then he had been on the main line, making his home in Detroit, at No. 65 Eleventh street.

The deceased is survived by his wife, Mrs. Margaret Goodwall Barry, of Detroit, and four brothers, John of Forsythe, Montana, an engineer on the Northern Pacific Railroad; James, a New York Central engineer at Buffalo, and Patrick, who is employed by the Pearce-Arrow Motor Works, Buffalo.

Mr. Barry's funeral will likely take place to the Holy Angels church here on Friday morning.

May Be Able to Shed Light.

It was learned this afternoon that a man, whose identity is not known, was the first to pick up Mr. Barry's body and may have seen the accident. It is believed this man was either about to board or was just leaving the train when the accident happened, in which case he, no doubt, would be able to tell what caused Mr. Barry to fall beneath the wheels.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Smith, who died one year ago to-morrow, May 24, 1917.

'Twas a mournful time that hour
When death gave the alarm;
'Twas Jesus plucked the flower
And took her to his arms;
She bore her suffering well,
The agony and the pain;
No mortal tongue can tell
To try us all in vain.
'Twas hard to part with mother,
Our sorrow can't be told;
But she has gone to be with Jesus
In the city of pure gold.
We bade her a last farewell,
These words we spoke with pain,
But hope to meet her there on high
In the city of the King.

THE LATE T. C. BARRY.

Funeral on Friday Was Very Largely Attended.

The funeral of the late T. C. Barry took place Friday morning from the undertaking parlors of C. A. Towers to Holy Angels church, where requiem high mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Langlois, the services at the undertaking parlors and at the grave being conducted by Rev. Father West. The funeral was very largely attended and was in charge of St. Thomas Council, Knights of Columbus, who attended in a body, together with the members of the O. R. C., also the Ladies' Auxiliary of the O. R. C. of Detroit and St. Thomas, of which deceased, also Mrs. Barry, were active members. The floral offerings, which were many and beautiful, included a pillow and spray from the wife; large wreath from brothers; crescent from Ladies' Auxiliary of O. R. C. Detroit; designs and sprays from friends in Detroit and St. Thomas, and also a very large number of mass cards were received from relatives and friends.

Among the relatives present from a distance were James Barry and wife and Patrick Barry, of Buffalo; John Barry and daughter Margaret, of Forsythe, Montana; Harry Dromgole, Wallacetown, Ont.; the Misses Crowley, Detroit; Hugh McNeil and wife, Detroit; Neil McNeil, Alpena, Mich.; Dan McNeil, Alvinston, Ont.; Mrs. F. J. Benner and daughter, Mary, Alvinston, Ont.; and Mr. McCallum, Detroit. The following friends were also present: Mrs. Tillie McLaughlin, Mrs. Munce, Mrs. J. Whiting, Capt. Archie McLaughlin, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Croft, all of Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Reynolds, Leamington, and Miss Flora Burns, Toronto, Ont.

The following members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the O. R. C., Detroit, who arrived in St. Thomas in a special car attached to M. C. R. No. 23, attended in a body: Mrs. W. D. Bailey, Mrs. H. M. Scoville, Mrs. W. A. Judd, Mrs. Josie Patterson, Mrs. J. Callacutt, Mrs. E. R. Tucker, Mrs. G. M. Croft, Mrs. G. A. Sturr, Mrs. F. Reynolds, Mrs. W. Perkins, Mrs. C. A. Loddell; also a large representation of the O. R. C. of Detroit.

The pall-bearers were P. Handley, E. Adderman and P. J. Fox, of the O. R. C., and J. Burke, F. Quick and F. J. Moore, of the K. of C. The floral bearer was M. J. Coughlin.

During the service in the church solos were sung by Miss B. Tracey and J. Bridgeman, jr., also a duet by Mrs. C. W. Waters and Mrs. J. Butler.

THOMAS HOWELL SPEAKS AT SPARTA

Honorary Secretary of Men's Federation Will Also Give Lecture on the Belgian Situation.

Sparta, May 23.—(Special.)—Thos. Howell, honorary secretary of the Christian Men's Federation of Canada, was the speaker at the Baptist church last Sunday morning and at the Plains in the afternoon. His appeal on behalf of the Belgian refugees met with a generous response. The morning offering was $122 and the afternoon $62. Mr. Howell will deliver an address Friday evening on "The Situation in Belgium," illustrated with war pictures. Mr. Howell has travelled in both Belgium and France and is conversant with the real situation in Europe. It is hoped that every one will avail themselves of this opportunity of hearing Mr. Howell, who comes under the auspices of the Women's Patriotic Society. The lecture will be held in the Methodist church, and a silver collection for Belgian relief will be taken.

Ben. Sanderson, of New York, is at his home here.

The rubber contest of the Senior Patriotic Society ended last Thursday with Mrs. Stuart Perry and Mrs. Jack Rundle as captains. Mrs. Perry and her assistants were successful in collecting the larger donation. Sixty-two dollars and fifty cents was realized, this being the largest cheque the dealer to whom the rubbers were sold ever gave any society.

Mrs. Charles Rundle is the recipient of a Black Watch badge, in the form of an elegant silver medal presented to her son, Pte. Douglas Rundle last fall, after their retreat in the battle of Mons. Pieces of the battalion colors worn during the battle were also enclosed. Pte. Rundle reported meeting Bill Stafford and Norman Minor recently. He chatted with the latter at St. Leonards-on-the-Sea.

Mrs. William Mills continues to be quite ill.

The Cavell Club meets Saturday afternoon at the home of Miss Winnie Corvett.

The Baptist young people and their friends enjoyed an ice-cream social at the church last Friday night.

Farmers in the district are responding to the urgent call for more food production. Last week was a busy week in the fields and a number of the fair sex were handling the lines and doing well.

Mrs. Ed. Yarwood's many friends are pleased to know she is sufficiently improved to leave Amasa Wood Hospital and has returned to her home here.

Joe Turrill is the proud possessor of a fine new Grey-Dort.

Residents of the village are requested to have all available rags, papers, magazines, etc., in tied parcels for the Senior Patriotic Society when they will be collected Saturday morning.

Miss Jessie Rand's commenced duties in the Royal Bank, Aylmer, on Monday.

Notorious Murderer Told Mother is Dying; Sends No Message.

New York, 25.—Dr. Authur Warren Waite, was executed at Sing Sing prison last night for the murder of his father-in-law, John E. Peck, of Grand Rapids, Mich.

The young dentist walked calmly, with a firm step, from his cell to the death chamber.

The two hours before his death, Waite, spent in prayer with his spiritual adviser. The clergyman asked the condemned man if there was anyone to whom he wished to sent a message of farewell.

"No thank you doctor," Waite replied, with smile, "there is really no one I know to whom I care to send a farewell message."

"Not even to your mother?" queried Mr. Paterson.

"There is nobody, thank you," Waite replied.

DOHERTY—FOX.

Pretty Wedding of Two Well Known Local Young People.

The marriage took place at the residence of the Rev. Chas. E. Evans, 65 Mitchell street, on Thursday evening, May 24, of Margaret Fox, niece of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Grantham, 27 Horton street, and Wilfred H. Doherty, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Doherty, 75 Catharine street. After the ceremony they, with some of their immediate friends, partook of a dainty wedding breakwast at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Grantham. The young couple then left for points west on No. 9, Wabash, amid showers of confetti and best wishes of their many friends. On their return they will reside in the city.

REDMOND—JOHNSTON.

Wedding in London of Interest to St. Thomas People.

St. Martin's church, London, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Wednesday, May 23, when Father Laurendeau united in marriage Lucina Theresa, youngest daughter of James Johnston, of Glanworth, and George Redmond, second youngest son of John Redmond. The bride was attired in a traveling costume, with white hat, and wore a corsage bouquet. She was attended by Mrs. W. C. Benton, and the groom was assisted by Mr. Benton. A sumptuous wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's brother, James Johnston, jr. The tables and dining-room were beautifully decorated with carnations and ferns. In the evening the happy couple, followed by the good wishes of their many friends, left for their home in St. Thomas.

HIDDEN PUZZLE

LITTLE LIGHT IS THROWN ON DEATH OF TIMOTHY BARRY

Jury's Investigation Results in Verdict of Accidental Death; Several Witnesses Heard.

The Verdict.

"We the jury impanelled to enquire into the death of Timothy C. Barry find from the evidence heard at the coroner's inquest that the said Timothy Barry came to his death at the Amasa Wood Hospital on Monday, May 21st, about midnight from injuries received while acting in his proper capacity as conductor of No. 1, M. C. R. train, when alighting from his train while in motion, he falling by some unknown cause under the wheels of the coaches."

The above is the verdict returned by the coroner's jury with C. C. Raison as foreman at the inquest into the death of Conductor T. C. Barry of the M. C. R. who was killed on Monday evening last when he fell under the wheels of his train.

The inquest was of short duration, lasting les than an hour and the one question to decide seemed to be who was the stranger who stood near the train just as the accident happened. It appears from one of the witnesses that this man left his umbrella at the depot and from his screams and excited movements at the time must have seen the accident just as it occurred. His identity cannot be discovered, however, and nothing is known as to what became of him. He apparently boarded the train immediately afterwards.

The principal witnesses in the case on Friday evening were Stephen O'Sullivan the new manager of the M. C. R. dining hall, Steward H. J. Burgess and Brakeman C. D. Gates.

Mr. Burgess said that he saw No. 1 coming in from the east. He was going to the buffet car and he saw a man swinging from the rear end of one of the cars. He looked a little closer and it seemed as though he was caught by his coat or something in the door of the vestibule. He later saw the man fall under the wheels and the body was rolled three or four times, the witnes was too sick at this time to go near him.

Stephen O'Sullivan said that he saw the man leaning from the car. He seemed as though he was holding on to the car by his arm. He stepped off but seemed to be carried with the motion of the train until suddenly he fell and was rolled under the train.

C. D. Gates said that the deceased was on the bottom step when he passed him. He was signaling the engineer to stop the train. He had a lantern on his arm. The witness then said that he saw Mr. Barry try to step off but in some way his feet seemed to slip and he fell alongside the train throwing up his arms and shouting. He rolled over two or three times. Witness screamed for help, and went to aid the injured man.

Arthur Britton, a night porter at the depot, said that he saw a bundle under the train being rolled along as the train moved. When he arrived at the platform he did not think it was a man. He heard screaming and shouting but thought it was a crowd of foot ball players, some college boys going through. He could throw no light on the matter of how the man came to his death however.

Chas. B. Northy, brakeman on the train, Chas. B. Hugh, baggageman, R. Styles, taxi driver and William Dell, another brakeman, happened to be standing by, gave evidence of minor importance.

HEALTHY CHILDREN

It is natural for little ones to be well and with care every baby can be kept well. The main thing towards keeping little ones well is to keep their little stomach sweet and their bowels regular. Baby's Own Tablets will do this, Thousands of mothers keep the Tablets in the house as they find them an efficient guard against illness. Concerning them Mrs. Hilaire Desmarais, St. Joseph de Sorel, Que., writes; "I believe Baby's Own Tablets are the best medicine in the world for children. My baby was terribly constipated but the Tablets promptly cured him and now he is a big healthy child." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

WIN TICKETS TO SEE "HARVEY"

Two passes to see "Harvey," the picture starting at the United Artists Theater Friday, will be awarded daily to each of the first 25 finders of all the "Harveys" scattered through the ads in the classified pages. In the picture "Harvey" starring James Stewart, Harvey is never seen. But you can find "Harvey" in Free Press classified ads and make it pay off.

HERE'S WHAT YOU DO

Starting Wednesday, December 20, the word "Harvey" will be printed a number of times daily in Free Press Want Ads. Find all of the "Harvey's" you can, clip out each ad in which the word appears, paste them all on a sheet of paper and mail to the "Classified Manager," The Detroit Free Press, Detroit 31, Mich. Be sure to write your name, address and zone number, if any, on your entry sheet, also the date of the paper from which you clip the ads. Entries must be postmarked by midnight, same date of publication. Prizes will be awarded in the order in which correct answers are received, and tickets will be mailed to the winners.

PHILADELPHIA, [illegible] — A $300,000 "reward pool" for safeguarding company property and the lives of 43,000 employes against sabotage was announced today by Socony-Vacuum Oil Co.

Socony-Vacuum and its two major domestic affiliates, General Petroleum Corp., Los Angeles, and Magnolia Petroleum Corp., Dallas, Tex., will pay rewards up to $25,000 for evidence against saboteurs.

The company said it did not consider war "necessarily imminent" but thought it "should take appropriate preparedness measures just as our Government is doing."

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28 [illegible] Government strategists believe Red China's military campaign in Korea may bring an eventual split between China and Russia over which Communist nation shall be the supreme power in Asia.

This analysis is part of a continuing survey to provide the framework for long range United States policy in Asia. A conclusion may not be available for a long time.

First hints that Russia and China may not see eye-to-eye on their future roles in Asia were noted in late November when the Chinese Reds moved into Korea and Gen. Wu Hsiu-Chuan, their foreign minister, addressed the United Nations' Security Council. Experts feel that Wu almost stated openly China's dreams of being the dominant Asian power.

IN MEMORIAM

IN CHERISHED MEMORY of my beloved wife, Mary J. Neiva, whom God called home three years ago Dec. 25, 1947.

In my heart memory lingers always,
Tender, loved and true;
There is not a day, darling,
I do not think of you.

Your loving husband, Ed.

IN LOVING MEMORY of our mother, Elsie Caswell.

Somewhere beyond the sunset
When our life on earth is done,
We will meet in glad reunion
As Jesus calls us one by one.

—Joan and Doreen

IN LOVING MEMORY of our dear son and brother, Pfc. Donald C. Radtke, who departed this life two years ago today.

God's Heaven must be beautiful;
For the ones we love the best
Are called so soon to be a part
Of that fair land of rest.

We've found comfort in the thought,
That the one we love now waits
For us where all is peace and joy,
Beyond the golden gates.

—Sadly missed by Mom, Dad and brother Ken.

IN LOVING MEMORY of our dear Beatrice [illegible] (nee Banks) who passed away eight years ago today. Sadly missed and always remembered by her family.

BUILDING A NEW FUTURE FOR THE PAST

LIBRARY RESEARCH SERVICE

The Library Research Service is offered by the History Library of the Western Reserve Historical Society principally to assist those who can not visit the library to conduct their own research. This service is on a fee basis of $40.00 per hour (one half-hour minimum which includes up to ten photocopies).

The sources which will be searched for your request are listed on the form, along with the time it will take to conduct the search. If you wish to have the search done, please sign the form and return it with prepayment.

Upon receipt of the completed order form, the specified research will be conducted under the supervision of the library's reference staff. Research results will be returned within three weeks (extraordinary research problems may take longer). The results will consist of sources consulted and transcriptions or photocopies (up to a maximum of ten) from those sources. If additional copies are required, charges will be billed separately. When appropriate, a written account of the research results, a description of the problems encountered, and referrals to other libraries and sources will be included.

The staff of the Library Research Service will be as thorough and accurate as possible. Every effort will be made to provide complete and useful information from the sources searched. Decisions on which materials will be photocopied or transcribed will be at the discretion of the staff, unless otherwise specified by the patron.

Patrons should be aware of the fact that some records, such as census schedules, newspaper articles, and genealogies may not be entirely accurate. The Library Research Service does not guarantee to provide an answer to every question, but only to report the results of the research conducted by its staff.

NOTES

Dear Ms. Read,

This contract was designed to address your request as stated in your letter of 1 February 2000. Please find enclosed your check # 2785 in the amant of $8.00.

Feel free to contact the library with any questions.

Sincerely,

Julia M. [illegible]

Reference Staff

OCTOBER 17, 1999

DEAR MRS. READ

FURTHER TO OUR TELEPHONE CONVERSATION OF THIS DATE.

1- THE CANADA SOUTHER RAILROAD (CSR) WAS CONSTRUCTED IN 1870 AND TRAFFIC COMMENCED IN 1872

2- THE MICHIGAN CENTRAL RAILROAD TOOK OVER THE ABOVE LINE ~~ON~~ IN 1882

3- THE NEW YORK CENTRAL TOOK OVER THE LINE ON FEBRUARY 1, 1930

THE CITY DIRECTORY, FOR ST. THOMAS SHOWS THE FOLLOWING

TIMOTH C. BARRY " BOARDS QUEEN'S HOTEL
741-743 TALBOT ST. CORNER HORTON (NE CORNER)
WORKS NYC RR

THERE IS NO RECORD OF HIM RESIDING IN ST. THOMAS AFTER THAT DATE. THE QUEEN'S HOTEL WAS A VERY PROMINENT HOTEL WHERE NYCRR EMPLOYEES BOARDED. THE HOTEL IS NO LONGER STANDING.

I TRUST THE ABOVE ANSWERS YOUR QUESTIONS. I WOULD BE PLEASED TO MEET YOU, IF YOU EVER COME TO ST. THOMAS

BEST REGARDS! Ray Galloway

DYNAMITE EXPERT'S EVIDENCE AT INQUEST INTO DISASTER THAT WRECKED ESSEX TOWN

Friction Enough to Have Caused Accident, Says Delong — Opinion Expressed That There Should be Inspector of Dynamite —Inquest Adjourned to Friday.

Essex, August 14.—Expert evidence as to the manufacture of dynamite, and its care was heard yesterday afternoon by the coroner's jury investigating the explosion of Saturday, which caused the death of Brakeman Leo Conlin and Joseph McNarry.

Crown Attorney Rodd is conducting the examination and Attorney D. W. Saunders, of Toronto, is acting for the M. C. R.

The chief witness was Lee Delong, who said he was a nitro-glycerine maker and shooter, now working in the Leamington oil fields. Asked to describe the process of making nitro-gylcerine, he said:

"We take 1,000 parts sulphuric acid, 500 parts nitric acid, and 225 parts glycerine. After a washing process and then another in which the mixture is stirred while at a temperature of 140 degrees Fahrenheit, it is nitro-glycerine.

"For use in the oil fields it is put up in 10 quart cans, and transported in a specially-equipped wagon with padded cells and pan bottom. For dynamite, we mix it with sawdust or pulpwood and sodas.

"Dynamite is made with 40,40, 60 and 70 per cent of the nitro-glycerine and is usually put up in one-fourth pound sticks in Canada, shipped in boxes with sawdust packing.

"Unless it is thoroughly dried, or cured, before packing, it is liable to yield its nitro-glycerine, which like a true liquid, seeks the lowest level.

"I would say that if nitro-glycerine leaked from boxes in a car on such a day as last Saturday, that dynamite was not properly cured. Ordinary friction would not explode the nitro-glycerine."

"What would you say," began Mr. Rodd, "if the leaking nitro-glycerine pools on the car floor came in contact with two iron pipes, some barrels and some other stuff rolling around in there?"

"That it would probably explode under the friction which such contact would set up," replied Delong.

"Well, we will show that there were iron pipes and oil barrels put in that car that morning," said the crown attorney. And by other witnesses called later on he did.

"What should have been done when it was found that the nitro-glycerine was leaking from the dynamite?" asked Mr. Rodd.

"Wood alcohol should have been poured on it. That kills the power in nitro-glycerine. It could have been procured at any drug store."

Attorney E. A. Wismer, appointed by Mayor Hicks to look after the interests of the townspeople of Essex in the inquest, asked the witness.

"Should there have been someone familiar with explosives along with business putting in iron pipes and other stuff in that car to give rise to fricton."

Mr. Saunders was not disposed to argue this with the witness. He framed up another gypothetical question:

"Suposing some iron pipes and barrels were in the car, would there be danger of explosion if the dynamite were properly manufactured?"

"No," said Delong.

Yet the juror persisted, asking if it was customary to pile half a car of steel rails and iron pipes in with a shipment of dynamite.

"Not that I know of in all my experience," said the witness.

"Would you consider it safe to put other merchandise in a car with dynamite?" asked another juror.

"No. Especially not in this case, where the nitro-glycerine was leaking out. If it were properly made dynamite, it might do no harm."

"In any case isn't it much better to leave other things out when you're not an expert and don't know?" asked Attorney Wismer.

"Yes."

"Is there any other hypothesis on which you can explain the explosion than by the leaking out of nitro-glycerine from improperly made dynamite?" asked Crown Attorney Rodd.

The witness said spontaneous combustion was a remote possibility, but that as soon as he heard of the explosion he thought of the leaking nitro theory.

Asked if he had ever heard of such explosions before, Delong said that he knew of several of them, one recently in Casey, Ill., another last winter at Winfield, Ten., where five cars of it blew up.

"Would not an inspector have to look at each cartridge shipped and make a chemical analysis of it before determining whether or not it had been poorly put up?" asked Attorney Saunders, for the Michigan Central.

"Well, maybe not that much trouble, but he would have to examine it closely," said Delong.

"And that would be impracticable, would it not?"

"I cannot say," said Delong.

By several other witnesses the prosecution showed that for an hour or so before the explosion there was crackling under the wheels of the explosive-laden car whenever it moved and that the attention of Station Agent Stimers and Conductor Barry, both of whom were badly injured in the disaster, was called to it.

The station agent, conductor and several others went down to the car about half an hour before the big explosion. Conductor Barry appeared distinctly in fear of just what happened, according to the testimony of

BEES PICNIC AT SPRINGBANK

Representatives Present From all Lodges in District—The Prize Winners.

The Knights of the Maccabees of the district held a very successful picnic at Springbank, London, yesterday, members being present from the tents and hives of St. Thomas, London and district. The different events on the program were well contested and resulted as follows:

Married men's race.— C. Atkins, Springfield; N. B. Dake, Kirkton; Gibson, Kirkton.

Married ladies' race.— Mrs. N. Moore, Kirkton; Mrs. Morrow, London; Mrs. Durbon, London.

Single ladies' race.—Miss Henderson; Miss Newman, Miss Wilkie, London.

Single men's race.—J. Atkins, Aylmer, J. Ballantine, London; S. R. Charlton, London.

Sack race.—W. McIntyre, Nairn; B. Wood, London; N. Charlton, London.

Egg and spoon race.—Mrs. Durbon, London; Ethel Logan, London; Mrs. Blake, London.

Hop, step and jump. — Atkins, Springfield; Charlton, London; Ballantine, London.

Boys' race.—B. Wood, M. Charlton, F. Moore.

Girls' race.—Misses Blake, Myer, I. Blake and Leper.

Past commanders' race.—Atkins, Springfield; Drennan, St. Thomas; Gibson, Kirkton; O'Neil, London; Turner, Aylmer; Dake, Kirkton.

The tug-of-war was between Kirkton-London and Aylmer-Springfield teams, and was neatly won by the former after a hard pull.

In the ball game conditions were reversed, the Aylmer-Springfield team won by a score of 8 to 4.

"Yes. There should have been an inspector along. I don't know whether the law requires that in Canada. I myself have been sent with carloads of dynamite. But usually when I turn out dynamite I am satisfied that it is well cured, and can be sent unwatched."

Attorney Saunders took up cross-examination for the railroad.

"How is dynamite usually shipped?" he asked.

"In a comman box car."

"Can the ordinary person tell by looking at a box of dynamite whether the explosive in it is improperly made?"

"No."

"Can he tell by looking at a stick of it?"

"No."

"Is it the practice for railroads to employ experts to analyze dynamite consigned over their routes?"

"Not that I know of."

"Would there be any reason why a station agent should expect trouble to follow his shifting boxes of dynamite properly made around in a car?"

"No."

"There's some brown stuff like sawdust on the springs here."

C. E. Taylor, a business man of Essex, testified that in looking for a car of coal consigned to him, he stopped at the doorway of the car while the station agent and others were inside. He said that there were boxes piled two and three deep in the east end of the car, while on the floor were two patches of a dark fluid that he thought at the time was syrup.

"I saw a placard on the car," said Mr. Naylor. "It was very conspicuous, bearing this legend: 'This car is loaded with dangerous explosives and must not be placed within eight cars of the engine or eight cars of the caboose, unless there are less than 16 cars in the train.' As soon as I saw that I got away."

The prosecution endeavored to bring out that the engine of the "Amherstburg plug" backed up and coupled onto the dynamite car, when there were at least six other cars in the train. Brodie Green said he was certain the car was attached to the engine. Charles Green said the same thing.

SMASHED BY JEROME.

Dread Secret Order Broken Up by New York Police.

New York, Aug. 14.—The secret society of the Hunchakist has been smashed by the efforts of the New York police force.

With the arrest of Kassak Jelalian on Sunday night, the end of the society became certain. This man confessed to District Attorney Jerome, the police say, that it was he who had directed the murders of Father Kaspar, whose body was cut to pieces, and the wealthy rug merchant, Tavshanjiau, killed on Union square.

He furthermore stated, it is said, that he had stood by while Bedros Hamptzoonian waited for the coming of the victim and pointed out the man.

It is stated that Father Hartouguessian is not directly connected with the society, though he is still believed to have known a great deal of its inner workings.

When on a visit to the Armenian quarter, in Boston, Police Lieut. Petrosino of New York encountered an Armenian named Hanoojian, who furnished information which resulted in the arrest in this city of Borhas Alliepunerjian.

The police searched the building where he lived, and in the cellar, under a coal heap, they found a number of poisoned daggers, several bombs, a quantity of poisoned bullets, revolvers, and a number of large bottles of hydrocyanic acid.

RELIGIOUS FACTIONS.

Protestants Said to Cheer the Belfast Troops—Birrell's Statement.

London, Aug. 14.—In the House of Commons yesterday, the Irish Secretary, Mr. Birrell, faced a shower of questions concerning the Belfast strike. The Irish members of Parliament wanted the troops withdrawn from Belfast, and others urged the necessity of a full enquiry into the affairs. Mr. Birrell said:

"The Government is fully alive to the urgency of this matter, and is doing all it can to secure a settlement of the most unfortunate strike."

It appears that in the trouble at Belfast, there has developed a cleavage on religious lines. The Protestants have cheered the troops while the attacking parties apparently have been composed of Catholics.

Belfast, Aug. 14.—During the rioting Monday night, a woman and two men were killed. A recurrence of the disturbance is expected. Captured rioters are taken before the magistrates at the point of the bayonet. Some of the streets were strung with wire to entangle the cavalry, and the gas mains were cut Monday night.

DYNAMITE EXPERT'S EVIDENCE

By William Damm and H.G. Powell draymen, Crown Attorney Rodd showed that at least one oil barrell had been put in the car. James A. Coulter testified that he saw the iron pipes put in the west end of the car. All saw what they thought was oil or syrup on the floor.

Among the witnesses called to testify as to the short, sharp explosions that heralded the big crash was Bert Esseltine, whose face is still bandaged, cut and bruised from the injuries he received when the roof of the building he was in near the tracks collapsed.

Everywhere about the inquest were evidences of the terrific force of the explosion. Not a window in the hall in which the court sat was intact. From the sashes they swung by their pulley cords in the breeze. As they clattered and rattled to and fro, bits of glass dropped every now and then.

And with each smash of glass the spectators twitched nervously, and looked around furitively. So nervous is Essex even now that if one had exploded a paper bag filled with wind in that court room yesterday afternoon a panic would have followed.

It was impossible to close the inquest yesterday because the two most important witnesses, Conductor Barry and Station Agent Stiniers, who will testify as to their instructions in handling the car, are lying seriously injured in the hospital. Adjournment was taken until Friday, Aug. 23, at 1 o'clock.

Among those present at the inquest was Special Dominion Railway Commissioner A. B. Aylesworth, of Ottawa. He did not take part in the questioning. Attorney C. P. Milligan, of Detroit, was there as representative of the widow of Brakeman Leo Conlin. He said the Michigan Central had tried to settle with her, but failed.

Attorney Saunders said the railroad had so far made no effort to pay Essexites for property damaged in the explosion.

"We want to settle the responsibility and the degree of it before we do anything like that," he said.

Celebration of Aldboro' Pioneer's 82nd Birthday—Aggregate Ages 1734

On Tuesday Mr. Adam McLean, of New Glasgow, celebrated his eighty-second birthday. Mr. McLean still enjoys fairly good health, and was able to swing a scythe this summer, perhaps not with his old-time vigor, but at least in a way that would make some of the boys half his age hustle to follow him.

To help him celebrate, twenty-two old friends were invited to spend the afternoon with him. Those invited were Mrs. N. Ford, Mrs. McNeil, Mrs. King, Mrs. McGregor, Mrs. Gillies, Mrs. Gordon, Mrs. Patterson, Mrs. Schleihauf, Mrs. Buchanan, Mrs. Walker, Miss McNaughton, Miss M. McIntyte, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Mowbray, Mr. and Mrs. J. Pearce, Mr. and Mrs. A. Maccoll, Mr. Havens, Mr. D. McCollum, Mr. F. McDiarmid, Mr. A. McIntyre.

The youngest of the party was 63 years of age, the oldest 83. Thirteen of them were over 75 years old. The aggregate age of all was 1,734 years, the average nearly 75½ years. All but five were either born in Aldborough or have lived there upwards of 60 years. All but four are Scotch and all but five Presbyterian.

The afternoon was pleasantly spent in recalling incidents of the time when they were boys and girls; of the time when life in Aldborough was surely the strenuous life, although with plenty of hardship there was mixed the usual amount of pleasure. No doubt at times a feeling of sadness came over them as they recalled those who had gone before, and with whom so many years of their lives had been spent.

While the grim reaper has been rapidly gathering his harvest during the last few years, it is pleasing to reflect that so many of the old pioneers are still left in this southern part of Aldboro.

The day will remain through the time that is left them as a pleasant memory of the happy days of long ago, so vividly recalled by the meeting together and the hearty handclasp of old friends.

They will also long retain a pleasant feeling for the kindly thought that prompted Mr. McLean's family to have so many of them together to spend a social afternoon. After singing "God be with you till

THE LATE JOSEPH McNARRY, M. C. R. Brakeman, killed by explosion at Essex Saturday.

BARRY ALLEGED TO HAVE BEEN AFRAID

Said to Have Previously Reported Dynamite Car as Unsafe—Leakings Exploded.

According to a Detroit newspaper, the statement of Conductor Thomas Barry, who had charge of the plug train, shows that the car of dynamite was in such a condition as to make it unsafe and that he was afraid of it to such an extent that he reported it to Station Agent Stimer.

Barry is said to have told the following while lying in a cot in the Aberdeen Hotel, having his wounds dressed by Dr. Keane:

"While we were switching, making up the train, several persons told me that the dynamite car was leaking, and that the stuff was exploding when the car wheels ran over it.

"I saw it for myself, and was afraid of it, and I notified Mr. Stimer. We opened the car and went in. There must have been a hundred boxes of it. In some cases they were piled one on another, but in others they were standing alone. We found five or six boxes that were not standing on their right end, and turned them around, thinking that this would stop the leaking.

"Several merchants in this town also got in the car, and I told them that the man who made the stuff did not know what he was about. They joked me and said that I was scared. Then we got out and closed the car. This must have been half an hour

Essex Man at Sombra Hears of Explosion and Takes Ill-Fated Car.

Sombra, Aug. 13.—Mr. W. C. Shaw, merchant, of this place, seriously injured in a head-on collision at Algonac, Mich., Sunday, is in a critical condition and grave fears are entertained for his recovery.

Mr. Shaw came here from Essex a nonth ago, buying out H. Waddell. lis family still lives at Essex, and wing to the explosion at that town Saturday, Mr. Shaw was going home o see his family, being unable to et telephone connection on Saturay.

Hearing of the catastrophe in his ome town, he caught the first car. t happened to be the southbound egular for Detroit, which met the Fishermen's Special" at a curve near he village of Randolph, Mich., fatal- injuring thirteen.

The regular had orders to meet the pecial at a place called "The Nook", ut the motorman, John Copeland, n by without waiting.

The cars met almost without warnnning quite slowly. The special hit e regular at full speed and both lescoped standing practically on eir rear trucks. Passengers were rown in heaps inside both cars and me were thrown out.

Motorman Clarence Wilton, of the ecial, stuck to his post and was ushed when his vestibule went to eces. John, better known as Shorty" Copeland, jumped when he w the danger, and suffered only a uised and sprained ankle as the relt of a tank rolling on him.

Both cars were practically smashed debris, and the pile held up traffic til late in the afternoon, when the ecking crew from Detroit finished aring the track. W. C. Shaw, the ssex man, was thrown violently en the cars met and suffers a concussion of the brain, besides serious ternal injuries, bruises and cuts. , was cared for at the home of a ttager.

ROUGH TIME AT BRANTFORD, he features of the Civic Holiday celetion at Brantford yesterday was the L. A. League game between Brantd and St. Catharines.

t proved one of the roughest ever yed in that city, culminating in an hibition of rowdyism of the most disaceful character. Referee Donald Hall, Oshawa, towards the close of the secd quarter, when the score stood 3 to 1 favor of the visitors, was threatened th assault by spectators who rushed the field. He immediately stopped the y and awarded the game to St. Cathines. Thereupon hundreds swarmed on field, making deliberate attempts on feree Hall and Field Captain McIllin, of St. Catharines, both being mobd and struck repeatedly in the face and dy.

To the credit of the local players and me of the spectators, it should be id, they made valiant efforts to prot the visitors, surrounding them and ting back the assailants until they re landed in the dressing rooms. The eree was hurried away and all the yers kept under lock and key.

Throughout the game and at time of saults there were no police on the ld. Later the police arrived and proted the visitors. Although efforts were de to assault them, they were rushed the station in covered vans.

The game, itself was brutally rough, players, particularly among the visirs, were frequently laid out. The antford men laid on the hickory in the st approved manner, and, in consence, decorated the fence for extended riods.

The referee was strict and impartial. antford made an attempt to play Ollie vidson, of the Tecumsehs; Taylor, of years of age, the oldest 83. Thirteen of them were over 75 years old. The aggregate age of all was 1,734 years, the average nearly 75¼ years. All but five were either born in Aldborough or have lived there upwards of 60 years. All but four are Scotch and all but five Presbyterian.

The afternoon was pleasantly spent in recalling incidents of the time when they were boys and girls; of the time when life in Aldborough was surely the strenuous life, although with plenty of hardship there was mixed the usual amount of pleasure. No doubt at times a feeling of sadness came over them as they recalled those who had gone before, and with whom so many years of their lives had been spent.

While the grim reaper has been rapidly gathering his harvest during the last few years, it is pleasing to reflect that so many of the old pioneers are still left in this southern part of Aldboro.

The day will remain through the time that is left them as a pleasant memory of the happy days of long ago, so vividly recalled by the meeting together and the hearty handclasp of old friends.

They will also long retain a pleasant feeling for the kindly thought that prompted Mr. McLean's family to have so many of them together to spend a social afternoon After singing "God be with you till we meet again," the party dispersed.

The engine was just stopping, but I do think the wheels were not tight when the explosion came. I was knocked down and blown in against the door of the station."

The M.C.R. has given no explanation of the cause of the explosion of dynamite at Essex, being at a loss to know what should have caused it. A coroner's jury, however, will make an investigation to determine this. In the meantime, it is interesting to note the explanation of an expert, who says that the explosion was caused by the detonation of nitroglycerine, due, to two causes, first, because, it is claimed, that the dynamite had been shipped green or not thoroughly dried, and secondly, because the car is said to have been allowed to stand in the sun until the heat of the boxes had reached a degree of temperature permitting the nitro-glycerine to melt away from its absorbent.

"In this instance the car got hot, and the nitro-glycerine began to melt away from its absorbent, dropping on the car trucks and then onto the track. When the engine ran over the track the numerous small explosions heard resulted, but they were not of sufficient force to reach the body of the dynamite in the car.

"The leaking continued until a sufficient amount dropped from the car trucks to the track that when the engine ran over it the whole mass was exploded. They say that there was half a carload of dynamite. It usually is made of 50 per cent. dynamite in one-pound sticks and packed

INQUEST INTO DYNAMITE CASE

Essex Jury Resumes Enquiry To-day — Stimers Still in Hospital.

Windsor, Aug. 23.—The next step in the investigation into the cause of the explosion at Essex on August 10 will be taken today, when the crown authorities and the inquest jury will take evidence from tdose immediately connected with the fatality.

A great many witnesses have been summoned, including several experts in the methods employed in shipping high explosives. Crown Attorney Rodd believes that a clear case of negligence has been established against the Michigan Central and he hopes to produce additional evidence that will convict the corporation of criminal negligence also.

The investigation was to start at 1 o'clock, in the town hall at Essex, and it is possible that it will not be concluded until next week some time. It is not announced just who the first witness would be, but it is believed that one of the railway freight men will be called.

Neither Station Agent A. O. Stimers of Fireman Jack Madigan will be able to leave Hotel Dieu in Windson to attend the inquest, and it may be that their evidence will be taken in the hospital. Neither will be able to leave for a week more at least.

Aylmer, Aug. 23.—The meeting called by the Board of Trade to get the citizens out to meet the representatives of the Canadian Condensed Milk Co. at the town hall last evening was well attended and was a success in every way. Mayor Kilmer called the meeting to order and asked the members of the council and Board of Trade to take seats on the platform. Messrs. Knight, Rogers and Marshall, representing the above mentioned company, were also invited to the platform.

About two hundred citizens were present, many of them ratepayers. The chairman explained the object of the meeting.

Mr. R. G. B. Moore, chairman of the Board of Trade, was called on to present the proposition of the company, which was about as follows: The company asks a guarantee of 40,000lbs. of milk per day, commencing January 1st next; prices for the first four months to be as follows: During January, $1.40 per cwt.; February, $1.40; March, $1.35; April, $1.30. Next, a site 300x1000 feet, exemption from taxes for a term of years, not including school tax, a guarantee of 800 gallons of water per minute, and protection from the town in case of damages arising from sewage.

For this the company promises to erect a plant two storeys high, 50x186 feet, 50x157 feet; also a boiler and engine house, the plant to cost between $50,000 and $60,000, and to be built of brick and cement.

MICHIGAN CENTRAL HELD RESPONSIBLE FOR DYNAMITE EXPLOSION AT ESSEX

THE VERDICT:

"We find gross carelessness on the part of the said Company in not shipping the dynamite in a car properly prepared for the purpose, in using a way or line Car on which other freight was being shipped, and in permitting the car to be delayed and shunted around in transit."—Verdict of the Coroner's Jury at Essex investigating the cause of the dynamite explosion, August 10th, which killed Jos. McNary and Leo Conlin.

Coroner's Jury Charges Gross Negligence—Expert Evidence Heard—Crown Attorney Satisfied—Townspeople Preparing Claims for damages.

Essex, ~~Ont.~~, Aug. 24.—The responsibility for the explosion of dynamite Aug. 10, which killed Jas. McNarry and Leo Conlin, has been fixed upon the Michigan Central Railway by Coroner Brien's jury.

Crown Attorney Rodd conducted the investigation and the evidence was concluded last evening. After that the jury was out but 20 minutes, when it brought in its verdict.

Witnesses were called to trace the car from Black Rock to Essex. The evidence went to show that it was four days on the way, being sent on the morning of August 6; it reached St. Thomas on the evening of the seventh and remained there until the morning of the ninth, being then shipped to Essex, where it was kept until the next morning, the day of the explosion.

It went all the distance as way freight, stops being made at Welland, St. Thomas and Ridgetown before reaching Essex to unload and receive consignments.

The regulations concerning shipment of explosives were produced and called for special construction of cars.

The evidence was to the effect that no precautions were taken by the railway employes.

Michigan Central Station Entered Early This Morning by Robbers Who Ransack Place, Holding Operator at Revolver's Point—Get Little Booty.

(Special to The Journal.)

Ridgetown, Aug. 24.—Ridgetown has a masked robber sensation. Apparently the hold-up men thought there was considerable money at the Michigan Central station and they chose the most quiet time of the night to attempt the robbery.

The operator, Mc. C. Burk, was alone after midnight, and while little dreaming of trouble, he was confronted with the cold steel of a revolver.

With the muzzle in such close range there was nothing for the operator to do but to obey the command to hold up his hands. There were two masked men evidently set in their purpose of looting the station, and the operator could get no help—that could be easily seen. Even if a call for help would have availed or an attempt to wire could be made, it ~~would scarcely have been worth while~~ risking being shot.

The masked men looked too formidable and the men had plenty of time to carry out their intentions, they rushed things, fearing perhaps that a freight might arrive any minute.

When they were satisfied that they had secured all the booty obtainable the robbers left hurriedly. The operator wired in both directions to look out for the men, and at the first opportunity notified the local authorities. No trace, however, has been had as yet of the whereabouts of the masked men, though the police all around have been notified.

At the police court this morning Edward Hanrohan, of New York, was charged with trespass on the M. C. R. He slept in the yards here last night. It was suspected, too, that he might know something of the robbery of the M. C. R. station at Ridgetown. He, however, had no money. He was fined $5 or 25 days in jail, and he went to jail.

Two men were arrested by P. C. Geddes and M.C.R. Constable Allen

FIRE AT THE PALACE CAFE

Mr. E. Jessop's Premises Damaged to the Extent of $1,000 Last Night.

The Palace Cafe, Talbot street east, conducted by E. Jessop, was damaged by fire and water last night. The fire was discovered about 8 o'clock, and evidently started in a bedroom at the southeast end of the living apartments over the cafe. The upstairs is practically gutted and nearly all the furniture destroyed. The contents of the cafe were damaged by water. Mr. Jessop estimates his loss at $1,000, covered by insurance. The damage to the building will be $200 or $300.

The firemen arrived promptly and soon had the flames under control. When the fire broke out Mr. Jessop was downstairs in the restaurant attending to business, there being no one upstairs at all, the girls having gone to the opera house. Mr. Jessop says that the only cause he can ascribe for the fire is that a lamp had been left burning and exploded.

fore reaching Essex to unload and receive consignments.

The regulations concerning shipment of explosives were produced and called for special construction of cars.

The evidence was to the effect that no precautions were taken by the railway employes.

Six trainmen were called and only one had seen the regulations. Conductor Barry said it had been the rule to send a despatcher ahead of dynamite cars, but this had not been done.

In the testimony elicited by the crown during the closing session, the Michigan Central fared ill, though the Pluto Powder Co., makers of the explosive that wrecked the town, came off with flying colors through the expert opinions delivered with gurgles and gusto by Frederick Gulign, for the last 35 years a handler of nitro-glycerine and dynamite.

Even Division Superintendent Adams, of St. Thomas, could not place the railroad's action in handling the car in a favorable light. His answers to the last two questions put him by Crown Attorney Rodd showed his sincerity in testifying.

"Does the way in which this car of dangerous explosives was handled meet with your approval ?" asked the crown attorney.

"Not entirely," said the division superintendent.

"Do you think that, with your knowledge of handling freight, that car was landed in Essex in the best possible way ?"

"Not in the best."

A moment later Mr. Adams added :

"Understand, I don't mean to imply the accident came about through the way this car was handled. I'm saying I am not satisfied that it was taken care of in the best possible shape."

In attempted refutation of a statement made by Conductor Barry, in charge of the train in which the car was carried, that he had often received special telegraphic messages signed by the superintendent, relative to extraordinary precautions when cars of dynamite were coming through to the Dunbar & Sullivan Co. at Amherstburg, Mr. Adams said :

"A year ago I issued special orders to trainmen, directing them to familiarize themselves with the Michigan Central's printed instructions relative to handling explosives. I am not aware that special telegraphic orders were sent out over my name, as Mr. Barry says. The chief dispatcher told me no such instructions had been sent out in the last year."

The witness whom Crown Attorney Rodd got after with a sharp stick was A. D. McAllister, freight foreman, under whose orders the car was loaded at Black Rock, near Buffalo. He said that on reading the way bill, "5,000 pounds of powder cartridges," he thought, the shipment was gun cartridges.

"Yet you placarded the car "High Explosives ?" asked Mr. Rodd.

"Yes."

"And do you consider a gun cartridge a high explosive ?"

"Why, yes."

"Do you ever remember of dynamite having been shipped over your road ?"

"No."

"Did you know of the Dunbar & Sullivan Dredging Co.?"

"Heard of 'em."

"And you knew they were in the dredging business ?"

"No."

"What !"

"I didn't know just what they were doing."

"Did you think they were dredging with gun cartridges, or were you possessed of the idea that these dredgers were shooting ducks at Amherstburg ?"

There was no answer forthcoming from Mr. McAllister. He went on to say, however, that he did not consider it necessary to nail cleats on the car door, secure the boxes in their places, examine the axles, or any other precautions, because, he said, that was out of his line.

"What other freight did you put into that car ?" asked Mr. Rodd.

"I put a large hawser in the doorway, some band iron, two bars of iron about two inches square and five feet long, a barrel of grease, a box of hardware and some other stuff," said the witness. "The car was not very full, and it was an A1 car, with kingbolts beneath the floor, not a nail showing inside the car. Had I known those boxes contained dynamite, I would have refused to load them on."

"Are you simple enough to believe your road was not receiving dynamite for shipment daily ?" demanded the crown representative.

"I knew nothing about its doing so."

"Well, you know now ?"

"And I suppose you feel so bad about it that you will quit your job tomorrow," concluded the prosecutor, with some asperity.

Expert Frederick Gulian's testimony was a glorification of the Pluto Powder Co.'s dynamite product and of the Pennsylvania railroad's regulations for transporting it. He assured the jury that Pluto powder was put up "just like a doctor's prescription," and that the theory of nitro-glycerine leaking from it because it was improperly

"Now the company will surely settle."

That's what Essex wants out of the inquiry—settlement of the quarter-million dollars' loss in property. All are busy right now compiling their claims against the company, to file with Attorney E. A. Wismer, who represented the town in the inquest. If they get fair pay for the property ruined in the disaster they do not care much about what happens the prosecution policy.

"Well, well," remarked the clergyman. "I am sadly disappointed. I thought the girls were going to college or something of that sort."

It is an institutional church, and the next question was:

"Your parish visitor is a woman?"

"Oh, certainly. A college graduate, especially trained for the work; but that is quite different. She is deeply interested in charities—"

"On a salary of twelve hundred a year?"

"Well, you understand there is much routine work, accounts, books, and all that sort of thing. A woman must be trained; she must have more than ordinary intelligence."

"In other words, she must be a thorough business woman as well as a church member, and give her undivided attention to her duties."

"Precisely. She is an exceptional young woman."

Is she? Can it be possible that the [illegible] gentleman does not know that all over the United States, in offices shops and stores, are other intelligent young women similarly trained as dependable business machines? This girl is not the exception, but the rule.

He assured the jury that Pluto powder was put up "just like a doctor's prescription," and that the theory of nitro-glycerine leaking from it because it was improperly cured was "absurd, sirs, absurd."

"A green cartridge?" he repeated when the crown attorney began questioning him on the basis of Expert Leo De Long's testimony of 10 days ago. "That's a new one on me. I never heard of nitro-glycerine leaking from dynamite, and I would not employ in my factory a man who said that was his theory of how this explosion occurred."

"Then what explanation of it can you offer?" asked Mr. Rodd.

"I'd give you $5,000 for a tenable theory regarding it," cried Mr. Gulian. "I can't give an explanation, and I've been 35 years with dynamite. I cannot explain the fact that the boxes were leaking; I think the witnesses are mistaken in saying they were. I say the same thing about the minor explosions which some say preceded the big one."

"Then what is the danger in shipping dynamite?"

"Collision, sir."

"What are your instructions to your men?"

"Handle it as safely as you can."

"Why?"

"Because dynamite is made to explode. And it does explode, with all our precautions. Last year we had 11 men killed. Why? We don't know."

Yet a little later on, Mr. Gulian made the court this offer: That he would take a stick of dynamite, place it on a wooden block, and pound it with a ten-pound sledge. He said he had that much faith in its refusal to explode except under metallic friction.

The inquisition closed with the testimony of W. H. Jones, dynamite expert for the Dunbar & Sullivan Co., who said that he knew of nitroglycerin leaking from dynamite, but thought it hardly possible that it would run out of the 58 per cent. product shipped by the Pluto Powder Co. to the dredges at Amherstburg.

Despite the mass of evidence, ranging from chemical formulae and expert testimony as to the manufacture and caprices of nitro-glycerine to the intricacies of railroad regulations regarding shipments of high explosives, the jurors reached their conclusion almost unanimously on the first ballot.

Despite the mass of evidence, ranging from chemical formulae and expert testimony as to the manufacture and caprices of nitro-glycerine to the intricacies of railroad regulations regarding shipments of high explosives, the jurors reached their conclusion almost unanimously on the first ballot.

That the verdict would sting the railroad was expected by those who noted the attitude of the jurors during to-day's closing session of the inquiry conducted by Attorney Rodd on behalf of the crown. Whenever a juror asked a question, it was plain in his words and manner that he thought the Michigan Central had no business piling sheet steel, bar iron, hardware, hawsers and package freight in with boxes of dynamite in no way secured in the box car that blew up.

The time at which the case was handed over to the jury also helped out in bringing their decision quickly. The bells chimed 6 just before Crown Attorney Rodd announced that the crown's evidence was all submitted.

On receipt of the verdict for which he had worked during the inquisition, the crown attorney was visibly elated. Yet he declined to say whether prosecutions would follow. Asked about the probability of criminal cases consequent on the opinion delivered by the jurors, he said:

"I have not had time to decide on that as yet. At this stage I would not care to say whether there would or would not be any action along the line of criminal prosecution."

Among the townspeople, the unanimous exclamation on hearing of the verdict was:

MICHIGAN CENTRAL HELD RESPONSIBLE FOR DYNAMITE EXPLOSION AT ESSEX

THE VERDICT:

"We find gross carelessness on the part of the said Company in not shipping the dynamite in a car properly prepared for the purpose, in using a way or line Car on which other freight was being shipped, and in permitting the car to be delayed and shunted around in transit."—Verdict of the Coroner's Jury at Essex investigating the cause of the dynamite explosion, August 10th, which killed Jos. McNary and Leo Conlin.

Coroner's Jury Charges Gross Negligence—Expert Evidence Heard—Crown Attorney Satisfied—Townspeople Preparing Claims for damages.

Essex, Ont., Aug. 24.—The responsibility for the explosion of dynamite Aug. 10, which killed Jas. McNarry and Leo Conlin, has been fixed upon the Michigan Central Railway by Coroner Brien's jury.

Crown Attorney Rodd conducted the investigation and the evidence was concluded last evening. After that the jury was out but 20 minutes, when it brought in its verdict.

Witnesses were called to trace the car from Black Rock to Essex. The evidence went to show that it was four days on the way, being sent on the morning of August 6; it reached St. Thomas on the evening of the seventh and remained there until the morning of the ninth, being then shipped to Essex, where it was kept until the next morning, the day of the explosion.

It went all the distance as way freight, stops being made at Welland, St. Thomas and Ridgetown before reaching Essex to unload and receive consignments.

The regulations concerning shipment of explosives were produced and called for special construction of cars.

The evidence was to the effect that no precautions were taken by the railway employes.

Six trainmen were called and only one had seen the regulations. Conductor Barry said it had been the rule to send a despatcher ahead of dynamite cars, but this had not been done.

In the testimony elicited by the crown during the closing session, the Michigan Central fared ill, though the Pluto Powder Co., makers of the explosive that wrecked the town, came off with flying colors through the expert opinions delivered with gurgles and gusto by Frederick Gulign, for the last 35 years a handler of nitro-glycerine and dynamite.

Even Division Superintendent Adams, of St. Thomas, could not place the railroad's action in handling the car in a favorable light. His answers to the last two questions put him by Crown Attorney Rodd showed his sincerity in testifying.

"Does the way in which this car of dangerous explosives was handled meet with your approval?" asked the crown attorney.

"Not entirely," said the division superintendent.

Michigan Central Station Entered Early This Morning by Robbers Who Ransack Place, Holding Operator at Revolver's Point—Get Little Booty.

(Special to The Journal.)

Ridgetown, Aug. 24.—Ridgetown has a masked robber sensation. Apparently the hold-up men thought here was considerable money at the Michigan Central station and they hose the most quiet time of the night to attempt the robbery.

The operator, Mc. C. Burk, was alone after midnight, and while little dreaming of trouble, he was confronted with the cold steel of a revolver.

With the muzzle in such close range there was nothing for the operator to do but to obey the command to hold up his hands. There were two masked men evidently set in their purpose of looting the station, and the operator could get no help—that could be easily seen. Even if a call for help would have availed or an attempt to wire could be made, it ~~would scarcely have been worth while~~ risking being shot.

The masked men looked too formidable to trifle with, and the operator surrendered. One of the robbers kept him at the point of the revolver, while his accomplice ransacked the station.

There happened to be very little money in the station till, and this the robbers secured. Other than this the masked men gained little, for [illegible] of little use, and the men had plenty of time to carry out their intentions, they rushed things, fearing perhaps that a freight might arrive any minute.

When they were satisfied that they had secured all the booty obtainable the robbers left hurriedly. The operator wired in both directions to look out for the men, and at the first opportunity notified the local authorities. No trace, however, has been had as yet of the whereabouts of the masked men, though the police all around have been notified.

At the police court this morning Edward Hanrohan, of New York, was charged with trespass on the M. C. R. He slept in the yards here last night. It was suspected, too, that he might know something of the robbery of the M. C. R. station at Ridgetown. He, however, had no money. He was fined $5 or 25 days in jail, and he went to jail.

Two men were arrested by P. C. Geddes and M.C.R. Constable Allen on suspicion of being the robbers. One had $21 in cash and the other $3. The officers after questioning let them go.

One of the two men concerned in the robbe is described as being 25 years of age, 5 feet 8 or 9 inches in height, and weight about 115 pounds He is the one who committed the robbery while his companion kept

Two St. Thomas Men Among the Killed—Others Seriously Injured Essex Man Dead.

THOUGHT IT WAS EARTHQUAKE

Station and Freight Sheds Blown to Atoms—Every Building Rocked and Every Pane of Glass Smashed---Detroit and Windsor Doctors on Way in Special Train.

A load of dynamite on the M.C.R. tracks at Essex blew up the town this morning, causing loss of life and terrible injury and demolishing station and other buildings.

The windows in all the public buildings and most private houses are broken and everything is in chaos.

THE DEAD;

JOS. McNARRY, brakeman passenger train.
LEO CONLIN, brakeman passenger train.,
JAMES BRIAN, Prominent Resident of Essex.

THE INJURED:

THOMAS BARRY, conductor, Cut on head and Shoulders.
A. O. STIMER, station agent, Essex.
DAVID COTTRELL, engineer passenger train.

(From staff representative of The Journal at 3 p.m.)

Windsor, Aug. 10.—The official list of the dead at Essex is given at three—Jos. McNeary and Leo. Conlin, both St. Thomas men, brakemen on the M.C.R. out of Amherstburg, and Dr. James Brian, of Essex, a prominent citizen, who died from shock.

Of the injured, Thos. Barry, conductor, and D. Cottrell, engineer, who run out of Amherstburg, are both St. Thomas men. The latter is very badly injured, and Thos. Barry is cut on the head and shoulders. Station Agent A. O. Stimer, of Essex, is also seriously injured.

It appears now that this car of dynamite was en route to Amherstburg, and consisted of 100 boxes. The nitroglycerine was leaking and Brakemen McNeary and Conlin went into the car to straighten the boxes. Just as they came out of the cars the explosion took place, and the two were blown to atoms.

Five cars of the freight were demolished and every building within a radius of 100 yards.

WILL RUN FIVE SPECIAL TRAINS

M. C. R. Employees Twenty-third Annual Excursion to Detroit.

The M.C.R. employes' 32nd annual excursion to Detroit on Saturday, August 24th, bids fair to surpass all previous excursions. Five special trains will be run from Bridgeburg and Montrose, Tillsonburg, Ridgetown, and two from St. Thomas.

The first special will leave the city at 6.15 a.m., and will run through to Windsor without stopping for passengers.

The second special will leave at 7.15 a.m., picking up passengers as far as Highgate, and then running thtough without stopping.

These trains will be made up of the finest coaches on the system. Passengers arriving at Windsor will be able to view the approach to the great tunnel now under construction.

Pleasant river trips on the White Star Line and Belle Isle steamers, trolley rides on the fine observation cars of the D.U.R. around the city; high-class vaudeville at the Temple theatre and Wonderland, and the Electric Park, with its 50,000 blazing electric lights, and Creatore's band, will be good attractions for excursionists to enjoy themselves while in Detroit. Returning trains will leave Detroit Saturday night at 8 p.m. and 8.30 p.m.; Sunday at 8 p.m. and Monday at 5 p.m. As this is the last cheap excursion to Detroit this season, undoubtedly large numbers will go with the boys and enjoy a fast ride on the smoothest and finest double-tracked road bed in America.

Five cars of the freight were demolished and every building within a radius of 100 yards.

(By Staff Representative of The Journal.)

Windsor, Aug. 10.—At Essex about nine o'clock this morning a load of dynamite standing on a freight car near the M.C.R. station exploded with terrific force. So great was the concussion that every building in the town rocked and many toppled over. The probability is that not a pane of window glass remains in the town unbroken.

The passenger train which runs between Essex and Amherstburg was about to start, when Engineer David Cottrell and Fireman Madigan, both of Amherstburg, were thrown out of the cab and both are reported killed.

The deopt buildings and freight sheds were blown to atoms. J. A. Abbott, the operator, escaped with slight injuries, while Jud Smith was unhurt. Green's elevator and Lay & Richards' mill were totally destroyed.

The scenes which followed the explosion cannot well be pictured in words. People rushed from their rocking houses and places of employment, their first impression being that an earthquake had occurred.

Simultaneously with the shock occurred the crash of glass, and to this many owe their injuries. Throughout the town mothers could be seen bleeding from many cuts, yet forgetting themselves in order to give attention to their infants and children, who were likewise suffering. It was some time before the people of the town were brought to a realization as to just what had happened. Those fortunate enough to escape injury went at once to the succor of the men, women and children who were bruised and were running in all directions about the streets, fearful lest their homes would collapse should they return to them. Many women fainted and were removed to places of safety by the volunteer nurses, men and women who did heroic work.

Just what the loss of life will be is at the present time problematical. Help is arriving from neighboring towns. A special train of doctors and nurses has started from Detroit and Windsor for the wrecked town. It is certain that the number of injured will run into the scores, the streets being crowded with those cut and hurt by falling timbers and glass.

The noise and shock of the explosion were heard for 20 miles in every direction. In Windsor, 16 miles away, people in the stores rushed into the streets convinced that an earthquake had occurred. On one store the awning was seen to fall as a result of the concussion. In the Windsor Club, where a party of newspapermen were in session, the doors swung on the hinges.

OFEICIAL REPORT

The M.C.R. official report of the accident is as follows:

Essex, Aug. 10.—A car of dynamite exploded on train No. 111 just east of Essex depot at 9.18 this morning, badly wrecking combination coach, engine, freight house and depot, as well as doing considerable damage to houses and stores.

Brakemen McNarry and Conlin, of Amherstburg, formerly of St. Thomas, were instantly killed; Conductor T. Barry, of Amherstburg, Engineer David Cotterell and Fireman Maddigan, of St. Thomas, badly injured, though not fatally. Agent Stimer, of Essex, is badly injured, and it cannot be said at present if he will recover. A large hole was blown in the track, facing the eastbound main track. The freight house tracks are all torn up for a distance of 50 yards. A car containing coal and the car dyaamite car were totally consumed.

Engineer David Cotterell was brought to his home here on No. 36 express this afternoon, and attended by Dr. Duncombe. He was able walk from the train to a cab. His injuries consist of burns on the head, nexk, and he is thought to injured internally.

Passengers on No. 36 say that one could not imagine the effect of the explosion. A very deep hole was blown in the ground and everything torn to pieces about the station yards and town. Brakemen McNarry and Conlin were literally blown to pieces, and only a few pieces of their remains were recovered.

The auxilliary was sent out within a very few minutes after the news of the explosion was received, and arrived at the scene of the explosion at 1.45 p.m. Supt. H. H. Adams, Drs. Fulton and Curtis, and Supt. Miller of the Railway Hospital Association, accompanied the crew.

Two sons of Conductor T. Barry, of Amherstburg, who was among the injured, are at present visiting Mr. George C. Begg.

Dynamite Explosion Wrecked Three-Fourths of Essex Town

Like a Scene of Bombardment the Town Is Shattered From End to End

Many Miraculous Escapes From Death and Injury--People Were Dazed

Missles Were Carried A Quarter of Mile--Effects Felt as Far as Detroit

Essex, Aug. 12.—Like a thunderbolt from a clear sky, like the simultaneous bombardment of a thousand heavy guns opening unexpectedly upon an undefended town, came the explosion of a car of nitroglycerine which shook the town of Essex, on the main line of the M. C. R., to its very foundations at 9.15 Saturday morning.

Friday afternoon the car that caused the trouble was shunted into the freight siding at Essex. Shortly afterwards persons passing noticed the slow, thick, oily drip of the substance on the track, and soon spread the report that "the dynamite was leaking." Little attention was paid to this.

Saturday morning the report reached Agent A. O. Stimers that something was leaking from the dangerous car. He walked over to the track and satisfied himself that such was the case. He called some of the yard crew and asked that the car be speedily moved away from the depot and out of the boiling sun. His orders were immediately attended to. As an engine moved towards the car the agent heard the explosive crackling like revolver shots under the locomotive's drivers. He turned to look and saw the noise came from the spot the car had occupied for several hours Friday evening. He walked on.

The next thing Agent Stimers knew was that persons were working over him trying to bring him to consciousness and carrying him to his home, about 50 yards from the depot.

The wheels of the locomotive had [illegible] the leaked liquid

Both Men Highly Respected at Amherstburg—Conlin an Athlete and Winner of Many Medals—McNary Buried in St. Thomas, Body Being Brought Here Yesterday

The funerals of Joseph McNarry and Leo Conlin, the two M. C. R. brakemen killed in the dynamite explosion at Essex on Saturday last, took place this morning, the one at St. Thomas, and the other at Amherstburg.

The body of Brakeman McNarry arrived in St. Thomas Monday morning, and was taken to the home of his brother-in-law, Chas. B. Cheeseborough, Talbot street, from which place the funeral took place this morning to the Holy Angels church. Rev. Fathers Ferron and West conducted the services, and the bearers were A. Bowie, T. Pearce, F. Chambers, P. Solomon, C. Nolan and J. O'Del. The casket was covered with beautiful floral offerings.

The late Joseph McNarry was 31 [illegible] was the star athlete of the class, and won many medals. A few days ago he ran his last race and won a fine carving set. This occurred at Chatham, and he surprised the people of that city by beating his competitors with comparative ease, reaching the goal long before the others were in sight. It was a cross-country race of three miles, and Conlin had never been over the ground before.

Immediately after the explosion all that could be found of Conlin was a portion of his scalp and an ear. Later in the evening a searching party discovered more of his skull and an arm. These were placed in a small box and taken to Amherstburg. The scalp and ear had come to the burg the night before, it being the belief of his friends that no more of him would be found.

rails, ties and earth gave way for a space double the length and depth of the car in which the explosives were carried.

The rails were bitten off as one would bite a toothpick. The car was simply nowhere to be found. Nothing remained of it but part of the forward trucks just coupled to the engine at the instant of the explosion. Even half of that truck was torn away. A bar from it—a piece of iron two inches through and three and a half feet long was found the distance of five city blocks away in the yard of D. C. Hapgood. Mr. Hapgood says it came into his yard as if it had fallen directly from the sky, and hardly an appreciable time after the shock.

A curious thing about the hole in the ground near the depot was the fact that the roadbed on either side of it was forced upward, as if the track had been laid to run over a good-sized knoll. While one gang of workmen labored to fill in this hole, another labored to reduce the hillock.

Sixty yards away was McDougall's carriage works, showrooms and livery stable, and the big, wide two-story building looked as if some mammoth giant had put his foot through the middle of it, and taken the end walls with his hands and crushed them as one would crush a crisp biscuit. In an instant $5,000 worth of damage was done.

Just next to this, but in a more direct line from the explosion, were the grist mill and saw mill of Charles E. Naylor, backed by large piles of lumber. At first glance it would seem that these lumber piles were merely tipped over, but closer examination shows that every plank in every pile was splintered its whole length, as if an auxiliary power had followed the work of the first explosion and simply ribboned each plank. The walls of the mills were slit much as if a pair of scissors had been used on tissue paper. In the slightest breeze they swayed. The damage here was more than $10,000.

The railroad depot was unroofed. It was a pretty building of field stone, but the flying missiles plowed completely through its side walls. Its roofs were smashed and twisted and laid out on the road. When the telegraphers came to tap the wires there was not a cleared space within the building large enough for the men to set up their instruments, and so a door laid over the remains of the two ruined benches were set up in the driveway of the depot.

was blown off or twisted beyond use.

The Trumbull residence was damaged to the extent of $2,000; the Murray residence, $1,000; the Methodist church, $1,000; the Presbyterian church, $500; the Sovereign Bank of Canada building, $1,000; the Aberdeen hotel, $2,000; Barber department store, $5,000; E. L. Park's jewelry store, $1,000 (mostly in dented silverware); A. S. Perry's machine shop, $500; and sundry other merchants who lose from $100 to $1,000 each.

The Essex Canning Co.'s plant, where 75 girls are employed, presented a lively scene at the time of the explosion. The girls ran screaming to the street, many of them suffering from violent bleeding at the nose, while tin cans and peeled tomatoes and other fruits rolled from benches out of windows and down stairways. None of the girls were seriously hurt, although all of them suffer what, besides deafness, is the Essex ailment, severe, thumping headaches.

The general loss, however, for miles around was that of glass. Not a window within a radius of three miles remained whole. The glass panes were not only broken, but shattered, hardly a jagged edge remaining in the sashes. Many of the thick plate-glass window pieces showed the same marking and ribbon work as was seen on the walls of wooden buildings. This freak of the frenzied force was particularly noticeable.

The total loss of plate glass alone was upwards of $7,000, many of the stores losing $300 and $500 worth apiece. Much of the finer glass was insured.

Only a few hundred yards back of the mill stood the Grace Methodist church, the inside a total wreck. Every one of the beautiful stained-glass windows that admitted light to the edifice were smashed into a thousand bits, and the doors were blown either out or in. The plaster hung in great sheets from the ceiling or was torn from the wall entirely, leaving large strips of the bare lath uncovered.

Over on the side of the wall hung the clock, with the hands pointing to 51 minutes after 9. The little church, which seats about 500, had just been repaired this last spring, and it is doubtful if $1,500 will put it into shape, even if the walls and roof have not been sprung, as it is feared.

Another big building, the I.O.O.F. and municipal building, is even more damaged than the church, although roofs and windows of houses, and buried themselves in the ground almost a quarter of a mile away, and the wonder of it all is that so few people were killed or hurt.

Saturday night in Essex resembled the pictured scenes of San Francisco after the earthquake. The town was in darkness save for the lanterns hung to trees or carried by people. The sound of the hammer as people nailed up their doors and windows resounded on all sides until far into the night, ere the weary and excited townspeople sought rest in their shattered homes.

A large force of special constables had been detailed to patrol the town all night, and they did their work thoroughly. The Times representative was held up and strictly questioned as to his business a dozen times by the vigilant sleuths, as he prowled about the dark, desolate streets. For there was nowhere to go, nowhere to sit down, no depot to wait at until the arrival of the midnight train. When the train did a deal of damage was done.

Just next to this, but in a more direct line from the explosion, were the grist mill and saw mill of Charles E. Naylor, backed by large piles of lumber. At first glance it would seem that these lumber piles were merely tipped over, but closer examination shows that every plank in every pile was splintered its whole length, as if an auxiliary power had followed the work of the first explosion and simply ribboned each plank. The walls of the mills were slit much as if a pair of scissors had been used on tissue paper. In the slightest breeze they swayed. The damage here was more than $10,000.

The railroad depot was unroofed. It was a pretty building of field stone, but the flying missiles plowed completely through its side walls. Its roofs were smashed and twisted and laid out on the road. When the telegraphers came to tap the wires there was not a cleared space within the building large enough for the men to set up their instruments, and so a door laid over the remains of the two ruined benches were set up in the driveway of the depot.

The residences all around the depot were destroyed. Veneered brick buildings were stripped of their brick and left nothing but their frame skeletons. Porches were deposited in near-by orchards. Agent Stimers' house was made to look like a building deserted for half a century. Mrs. Stimers, by the way, was injured while within it.

Talbot street was a sight that will seldom be met with. The steady crackle of glass marked the tramping of the curious throngs. The walls of the Grand Central hotel—a three-storey hostelry—bulged to such an extent that the building was labelled dangerous. Not a room held its plaster; not a partition remained whole; not a bit of chinaware was left undemolished. The dinner-hour rush showed sadly in all the hotels a lack of dishes.

In all the rooms the kerosene lamps were tipped over, leaving it to the imagination what a holocaust would have resulted had the accident occurred at night. Another "if" that comes to mind is this: An excursion train with a number of Brantford people aboard was due at Essex station at the moment the explosion happened. "If" the train had not been a few minutes late; if it had been standing alongside the depot platform awaiting orders, how many lives might have been sacrificed.

MANHOOD, WOMANHOOD — THE TURNING POINT OF HEALTH.

Growth, hard study and the tax of social life, entered upon with the zest of youth, is a severe tax on strength.

Of what use is education if you have not health to carry out much cherished plans in the future

The total loss of plate glass alone was upwards of $7,000, many of the stores losing $300 and $500 worth apiece. Much of the finer glass was insured.

Only a fe whundred yards back of the mill stood the Grace Methodist church, the inside a total wreck. Every one of the beautiful stained-glass windows that admitted light to the edifice were smashed into a thousand bits, and the doors were blown either out or in. The plaster hung in great sheets from the ceiling or was torn from the wall entirely, leaving large strips of the bare lath uncovered.

Over on the side of the wall hung the clock, with the hands pointing to 51 minutes after 9. The little church, which seats about 500, had just been repaired this last spring, and it is doubtful if $1,500 will put it into shape, even if the walls and roof have not been sprung, as it is feared.

Another big building, the I.O.O.F. and municipal building, is even more damaged than the church, although much farther away from the tracks, and a conservative estimate places the damage at $3,000, for it is feared that entire portions of the building will have to be rebuilt.

The people of Essex appeared to be too dazed to rally to the situation in any adequate way. They simply didn't know what to do. Injured persons were left to shift for themselves until outside help arrived.

Engineer David Cottrell was most terribly injured, and pulled himself by body-wracking efforts from the debris of his engine. Then two citizens gingerly responded to his appeals for aid. They put an arm under the torn and bleeding armpits of the man and started to walk him—walk him!—to the centre of the town, fully six blocks away. The gritty engineer stood the ordeal until he reached the end of the station walk, when he fainted. He came back to consciousness and spoke as best he could with the flesh of his face hanging over his mouth, and making every movement of his chin an excruciating agony.

"Can't go," he mumbled. "Drop—drop me."

At this moment News Correspondent Harvey Patton happened on the scene and saw the clumsy actions.

"For God's sake, pick up that man and carry him," he ordered, and ran ahead to a nearby house to order a couch made ready, while the rescuers, half afraid, hastened to do what they were told.

Towards night the little town was packed with strangers from all points of the compass. They came by auto, train and carriage, from Chatham, Windsor, Detroit and surrounding places. All over were groups of Essex citizens recounting in excited tones their varying experiences at the time of the explosion, which in the main were largely similar. And to it all was the accompaniment of the tinkle and crunch and jingle of glass as it was gathered and swept from scattered buildings out into the street. The curb of the main street was lined a foot deep with shattered glass.

Many were the breathless stories told. People were blown into positions for which they could not account on regaining their senses.

When the train did come in it brought even at that midnight hour several hundred curious strangers from the west, eager to see for themselves the devastation wrought by a few cans of liquid. And even a large auto from Detroit pulled in with a crowd at nearly 1 a.m.

One villager stood with his hands in his pockets thoughtfully viewing the scene of wreck and disaster. Then he turned slowly to the reporter:

"And to think that durned thing was hauled all over the country only to land here and burst up the whole danged place," he moralized.

M. C. R. Engineer Tom Fitzgerald, in charge of a tunnel work-train, was near Windsor when the explosion occurred. He heard it as plainly as though a gun had been fired close by, and for a moment thought another locomotive close by had exploded.

Despite the far-reaching effects of the explosion, it being felt as far as five miles west of Detroit, the fatalities, with the exception of Dr. Brien, who lay ill and died from shock, were confined to those connected with the road in the immediate vicinity of the explosion.

A. O. Stimers, the depot agent, received injuries from which he will not recover for some months. The whole of his right side from his neck to his ankles is covered with cuts varying from 1-8 to 3-4 of an inch in length, while several are six inches long. There are perhaps two hundred of these cuts, which were made by flying glass. He has a large cut on the right side of his neck, while on the left arm there are also wounds. Mr. Stimers is also totally deaf, but he may recover from this.

Fireman Madigan, who was just relieving the regular fireman for the day, is also seriously hurt. He has six cuts on the right side of the forehead, while the back part of the right side is badly contused and lacerated. The right arm is also contused, the wounds being from 2 to 6 inches in length.

Samuel Barrett, son of Samuel Barrett, of St. Thomas, is clerk of the Grand Central hotel at Essex. He was sitting in the front office, and had just torn the wrapper off The Daily Times, when the next thing he knew he was on his hands and knees in a back room 15 feet away. He had been blown through the closed doors, through the barroom, amidst falling bottles and glasses; and yet he was not injured. His first impression was that a boiler in a mill near-by had blown up. The hotel was badly shattered.

Two small boys were on the track not far from the depot when the explosion occurred, and were not found until after noon, when they were discovered in a dazed condition in an adjoining field.

The colored woman, Mrs. Morton, who was waiting at the depot, held a baby on her lap. The babe was blown across the platform, but was not injured, while Mrs. Morton was frightfully cut about the face and hands.

Engineer David Cottrell, who was brought back to his home in St. Thomas, is in very bad shape, and his physician, Dr. Duncombe, is in almost constant attendance. Mr. Cottrell evidently received a bad blow on the back of the head and neck, as he is badly bruised, cut and burned there. He was thrown probably 30 feet, and one of his ribs was fractured. It is feared that the broken rib has pierced one of the kidneys. One of his eyes was struck and badly hurt, and he also complains of pains in his chest. Mr. Cottrell is suffering intense pain, as it is impossible for him on account of the nature of his wounds to lie down. It will be some days before the full extent of his injuries are known.

Baggageman Foster, at the Essex depot, was rendered partially deaf by the shock, but otherwise is unhurt.

CITY GETS $3,000 FROM LEGISLATURE

Money Granted Towards the Purchase Price of Toll Road, Arrives at City Hall

The city officials have received from Provincial Treasurer Matheson a cheque for $3,000. This is the amount of the grant made by the Provincial Government towards the purchase price of the city's share of the London & Port Stanley toll road. The city asked for help towards buying the road, and a deputation went to the capital and laid the case before the Cabinet. Later through the efforts of F. G. Macdiarmid, M. L. A., the sum of $3,000 was placed in the estimates for this purpose.

ORANGEMEN HELD MEMORIAL SERVICE

Honor Deceased Brethren With Program Suitable to Occasion

Memorial services were held in the Orange Hall last evening by the Orangemen of the city in memory of the deceased. There was a good attendance and a program, suitable for the occasion. The chair was occupied by James Kane, and the following program given: Fife and drum band, selection; hymn by choir, "Jesus, Lover of My Soul;" prayer by Rev. Dr. Gundy. Roll call. There was a triangle of lights to represent each separate member, and as their names were called the gong tolled three times and then the light was extinguished. There were [illegible] members in all. Flute solo by L. Kane and Geo. Blount; address by Rev. Dr. Gundy, which was well given. He advised the brethren how they should act both in private and in public, and their duties to each other and their God. Solo by Mr. Lowe. Address by A. A. Miller, C. M. Solo by Mrs. Ball. Address by Rev. Mr. Graham, which was very edifying. Mr. Graham hoped that all the brethren would live up to their obligations. Hymn by the choir, "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name." The meeting closed by singing "God Save the King."

Missles Were Carried A Quarter of Mile--Effects Felt as Far as Detroit

Essex, Aug. 12.—Like a thunderbolt from a clear sky, like the simultaneous bombardment of a thousand heavy guns opening unexpectedly upon an undefended town, came the explosion of a car of nitroglycerine which shook the town of Essex, on the main line of the M. C. R., to its very foundations at 9.15 Saturday morning.

Friday afternoon the car that caused the trouble was shunted into the freight siding at Essex. Shortly afterwards persons passing noticed the slow, thick, oily drip of the substance on the track, and soon spread the report that "the dynamite was leaking." Little attention was paid to this.

Saturday morning the report reached Agent A. O. Stimers that something was leaking from the dangerous car. He walked over to the track and satisfied himself that such was the case. He called some of the yard crew and asked that the car be speedily moved away from the depot and out of the boiling sun. His orders were immediately attended to. As an engine moved towards the car the agent heard the explosive crackling like revolver shots under the locomotive's drivers. He turned to look and saw the noise came from the spot the car had occupied for several hours Friday evening. He walked on.

The next thing Agent Stimers knew was that persons were working over him trying to bring him to consciousness and carrying him to his home, about 50 yards from the depot.

The wheels of the locomotive had ignited enough of the leaked liquid to send a spark or spurt of flame either upward from the track or from the tire of the fatal car as it was moved in the coupling, and this, catching the dripping fluid above, let off the thousands of tons of power stored in the car.

Brakeman Leo Conlin was blown an incredible distance—almost as far from The Times office to the Grand Central Hotel, his body striking a picket fence with such force as to break the 2x4 top scantling and knock off several pickets. His shoulder-blade was found 50 yards farther on, and beside the body was a piece of car wheel, weighing about two pounds, which had accompanied him on the terrific flight through tree branches across 300 yards of space. The Times man picked up the piece of iron to take back to the city.

The scene of the wreck is almost impossible of description. There was little on the spot to see but a hole in the ground. When the nitroglycerine and dynamite let go, the downward force of it was so great that

Funerals of Essex Explosion Victims Took Place To-Day

Both Men Highly Respected at Amherstburg—Conlin an Athlete and Winner of Many Medals—McNary Buried in St. Tnomas, Body Being Brought Here Yesterday

The funerals of Joseph McNarry and Leo Conlin, the two M. C. R. brakemen killed in the dynamite explosion at Essex on Saturday last, took place this morning, the one at St. Thomas, and the other at Amherstburg.

The body of Brakeman McNarry arrived in St. Thomas Monday morning, and was taken to the home of his brother-in-law, Chas. B. Cheeseborough, Talbot street, from which place the funeral took place this morning to the Holy Angels church. Rev. Fathers Ferron and West conducted the services, and the bearers were A. Bowie, T. Pearce, F. Chambers, P. Solomon, C. Nolan and J. O'Del. The casket was covered with beautiful floral offerings.

The late Joseph McNarry was 31 years of age, and was a native of Ingersoll. Besides his widow and his two-year-old daughter, he is survived by his mother, Mrs. Dennis McNarry, city; and three sisters, Mrs. C. B. Cheeseborough and Mrs. John Sheehan, St. Thomas, and Mrs. Wm. Kelly, of Egland, North Dakota.

The funeral of Brackman Conlin took place at Amhersburg, his old home. George Warney, master of the local B. of R. T. lodge, went to the 'burg to be present at the funeral, while Wm. McDonald and Peter McDonald went as representatives of the St. Thomas branch of the C. M. B. A., deceased having belonged to both of these organizations.

A despatch from Amherstburg says: Amherstburg is in deep mourning over the loss of life in connection with the explosion at Essex on Saturday. Two of her most popular young men, Leo Conlin and Thomas McNarry, were killed. Both victims led exemplary lives, and the whole town sympathizes with their relatives. That Conducter Barry and Fireman Madigan were not killed, gives them some consolation. Barry and Madigan will likely recover.

Conlin, 27 years old, leaves a young widow. He had been boarding in the burg, pending the arrival of his wife from St. Thomas. Only ten days ago he had been placed on the run between the burg and Essex.

He was a man of remarkable physical strength. It was his custom to run for miles behind the caboose of his train, and his muscles became as hard as iron. Although of a quiet disposition, he never allowed an insult to go unnoticed. Only a few days ago he knocked a conductor insensible for using a nasty epithet to him. The conducter was known as a "bully" all along the line, and every was the star athlete of the class and won many medals. A few days ago he ran his last race and won a fine carving set. This occurred at Chatham, and he surprised the people of that city by beating his competitors with comparative ease, reaching the goal long before the others were in sight. It was a cross-country race of three miles, and Conlin had never been over the ground before.

Immediately after the explosion all that could be found of Conlin was a portion of his scalp and an ear. Later in the evening a searching party discovered more of his skull and an arm. These were placed in a small box and taken to Amherstburg. The scalp and ear had come to the burg the night before, it being the belief of his friends that no more of him would be found.

Leo was to have spent Sunday with the Misses Ketty, who live on the river front near the Lime Kiln crossing. He was at their place on Wednesday and gleefully told them of his wife's coming in a few days to prepare a home for them in Amherstburg. He was also pleased at being transferred from St. Thomas.

McNary's death is none the less sad. He leaves a young widow and little girl; also a widowed mother, who is an invalid. He, too, was a man of high ideals, and a good husband and son. He has lived in the burg for some time, but will be buried at St. Thomas because of a number of relatives having been interred there.

Friday afternoon the car that caused the trouble was shunted into the freight siding at Essex. Shortly afterwards persons passing noticed the slow, thick, oily drip of the substance on the track, and soon spread the report that "the dynamite was leaking." Little attention was paid to this.

Saturday morning the report reached Agent A. O. Stimers that something was leaking from the dangerous car. He walked over to the track and satisfied himself that such was the case. He called some of the yard crew and asked that the car be speedily moved away from the depot and out of the boiling sun. His orders were immediately attended to. As an engine moved towards the car the agent heard the explosive crackling like revolver shots under the locomotive's drivers. He turned to look and saw the noise came from the spot the car had occupied for several hours Friday evening. He walked on.

The next thing Agent Stimers know was that persons were working over him trying to bring him to consciousness and carrying him to his home, about 50 yards from the depot.

The wheels of the locomotive had ignited enough of the leaked liquid to send a spark or spurt of flame either upward from the track or from the tire of the fatal car as it was moved in the coupling, and this, catching the dripping fluid above, let off the thousands of tons of power stored in the car.

Brakeman Leo Conlin was blown an incredible distance—almost as far from The Times office to the Grand Central Hotel, his body striking a picket fence with such force as to break the 2x4 top scantling and knock off several pickets. His shoulder-blade was found 50 yards farther on, and beside the body was a piece of car wheel, weighing about two pounds, which had accompanied him on the terrific flight through tree branches across 300 yards of space. The Times man picked up the piece of iron to take back to the city.

The scene of the wreck is almost impossible of description. There was little on the spot to see but a hole in the ground. When the nitroglycerine and dynamite let go, the downward force of it was so great that

MONEY RECOVERED FROM TWO HARD CHARACTERS.

Special to The Times.

Crinan, Aug. 13.—While D. G. Campbell and family were in church Sunday burglars entered the house and took a sum of money and several valuable articles. Search was made, which resulted in the recovery of a sum of money from two suspicious-looking characters. Constable Tonks is now searching for the couple, who made their escape, but as yet there is no word of his success in capturing them.

Victims Took Place To-Day

Both Men Highly Respected at Amherstburg—Conlin an Athlete and Winner of Many Medals—McNary Buried in St. Thomas, Body Being Brought Here Yesterday

The funerals of Joseph McNarry and Leo Conlin, the two M. C. R. brakemen killed in the dynamite explosion at Essex on Saturday last, took place this morning, the one at St. Thomas, and the other at Amherstburg.

The body of Brakeman McNarry arrived in St. Thomas Monday morning, and was taken to the home of his brother-in-law, Chas. B. Cheeseborough, Talbot street, from which place the funeral took place this morning to the Holy Angels church. Rev. Fathers Ferron and West conducted the services, and the bearers were A. Bowie, T. Pearce, F. Chambers, P. Solomon, C. Nolan and J. O'Del. The casket was covered with beautiful floral offerings.

The late Joseph McNarry was 31 years of age, and was a native of Ingersoll. Besides his widow and his two-year-old daughter, he is survived by his mother, Mrs. Dennis McNarry, city; and three sisters, Mrs. C. B. Cheeseborough and Mrs. John Sheehan, St. Thomas, and Mrs. Wm. Kelly, of Egland, North Dakota.

The funeral of Braekman Conlin took place at Amhersburg, his old home. George Warney, master of the local B. of R. T. lodge, went to the 'burg to be present at the funeral, while Wm. McDonald and Peter McDonald went as representatives of the St. Thomas branch of the C. M. B. A., deceased having belonged to both of these organizations.

A despatch from Amherstburg says: Amherstburg is in deep mourning over the loss of life in connection with the explosion at Essex on Saturday. Two of her most popular young men, Leo Conlin and Thomas McNarry, were killed. Both victims led exemplary lives, and the whole town sympathizes with their relatives. That Conducter Barry and Fireman Madigan were not killed, gives them some consolation. Barry and Madigan will likely recover.

Conlin, 27 years old, leaves a young widow. He had been boarding in the burg, pending the arrival of his wife from St. Thomas. Only ten days ago he had been placed on the run between the burg and Essex.

Although of a quiet disposition, he never allowed an insult to go unnoticed. Only a few days ago he knocked a conductor insensible for using a nasty epithet to him. The conducter was known as a "bully" all along the line, and every railroad man between Windsor and St. Thomas was delighted to hear of Conlin's act.

Conlin, besides being of an athletic turn, was well educated, having taken a course at Assumption college, Sandwich. While at college he was the star athlete of the class, and won many medals. A few days ago he ran his last race and won a fine carving set. This occurred at Chatham, and he surprised the people of that city by beating his competitors with comparative ease, reaching the goal long before the others were in sight. It was a cross-country race of three miles, and Conlin had never been over the ground before.

Is Goldwin Smith's Solution of Strikes of Telegraph Operators—They Are Different

Special to The Times.

Toronto, Aug. 13.—Prof. Goldwin Smith, who celebrated his 84th anniversary of his birth today, interviewed this afternoon, said:

"I have been thinking of the strike of the telegraph operators. These men are different from the ordinary employee. An ordinary employee when he has a grievance against his employer has a perfect right to resort to a strike to secure his rights, but the telegraph operator is different: When he goes on strike it effects the entire community, and there should be a clause in the contract under which they are engaged forbidding them to strike, and providing that if they go out on strike they stay out. Of course, the proper solution of the question is the adoption of the same system as is in vogue in England, where the telegraph is operated by the government as a department of the postal service. It might occasion serious business loss for the telegraph service to be tied up.

"We might as well allow the postal department to be disarranged by a strike."

STRIKE IS SPREADING

Telegraphers Everywhere Are Deserting Their Keys.

Montreal Operators In G. N. W. Quit Work—Associated Press Being Badly Affected—It Is Feared That Both Canada and the United States May Be Tied Up Soon—More to Be Called Out To-Day, Says President.

Montreal, Aug. 13.—The telegraph operators' strike hit this town yesterday afternoon shortly after 3 o'clock, consequently 30 of the Great Northwestern Telegraph Co. went out. It appears that one of the operators refused to take stuff from a New York strike-breaker, and he was discharged This was a signal for 25 of his fellow operators to walk out. They are mostly union men who are out, and the nine remaining in the office are non-union. So far the C. P. R. men have shown no sign of infection. There was a rumor, however, afloat that the C. P. R. operators would leave at 7.30. So far they are at their posts.

New York, Aug. 13.—Many of the telegraph operators employed throughout the country by the Associated Press struck at 8.30 o'clock (eastern time) last night. All of the night operators in the New York office of the Associated Press, with the exception of the chiefs, are out.

At the sound of a whistle blown in the operating room at 1 p. m. yesterday, the day operators in the Western Union branch offices joined the strikers at once. As the men and women marched out of the building they were cheered by striking comrades who awaited them in the street, but there was no disorder.

The secretary of the local union said the strike was unauthorized and due to the action of a chief operator in ordering out of the building three men who had refused to work wires with strike-breakers and who had returned for their pay. He said the union would stand by the strikers.

The operators in the main office of the Postal Telegraph Co. left their keys at 2.30 o'clock without disorder.

President Ahearn of the local union, in answer to a question as to whether the strike would affect operators on other wires, said, "It is likely that all operators will be called out today."

Chicago, Aug. 13.—As setting forth very clearly the Postal Co.'s side in the fight, a letter was given out. It has been addressed to striking employes in Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City and other affected offices in the west by W. J. Capen, general super-

CAR WAS IN ST. THOMAS

Before Going to Essex—Contents Billed as Cartridges, Says L'Hommedieu

The car loaded with the nitro-glycerine which exploded at Essex on Saturday, was in the St. Thomas yards for a couple of nights last week. The car, it is said, contained other goods, and some of these were taken off. It was labelled "dangerous," and is said to have gone over the road as cartridges at Detroit. General Manager L'Hommedieu of the Michigan Central says that if the shippers' manifest was correct, the car was loaded with powder cartridges, not with dynamite. The rules for handling high explosives are much more rigid than for powder. The Pluto Powder Company of Black Rock, N.Y., were the shippers.

A despatch from Ottawa says: "The different railway companies of Canada have their own rules, regulations and rates in regard to the carriage of dynamite and other high explosives. A number of roads refuse to carry explosives at all. Others demand the presence of a special attendant to guard against preventable accidents. On the Michigan Central no attendant was called for, excepting when the consignment was destined for a flag station.

The special tariff of the Michigan Central in regard to the carriage of high explosives filed with the Board of Railway Commissioners last year contains very full and explicit directions in regard to the handling of these goods, and specifically mentions that no liquid nitro-glycerine, gun cotton, excepting made up into ammunition, nor other explosive containing more than sixty per cent. of nitro-glycerine, excepting dynamite, will be accepted for transportation."

Supt. Adams of the M.C.R. is in Essex attending the inquest there, and the high officials from Detroit are also there.

The Detroit Free Press has a despatch from Essex which says: "No little indignation is expressed by the citizens that the Michigan Central should attach a car of dynamite to a train carrying passengers, but this seems to have been the custom. Twice a week a car of dynamite would be attached to the plug train running from Essex Centre to Amherstburg. It would be billed as merchandise and the train crew would not be supposed to know what was in the train, which would be made up of from four to twelve cars, the dynamite next to the engine and the passenger coach on the rear end."

J. A. Colter, of Essex, says: "There was a label on the outside of the car, a big red card. It read: 'This car is loaded with high explosive,

WILL BE FAST LACROSSE.

What promises to be a game of exceptional interest will be played at the Athletic grounds tomorrow between Brantford, the winners of district No. 5, and St. Thomas, the No. 1 district winners, in the C. L. A. intermediate series. Both teams are very fast, and as it will be a "sudden death," contest to decide who will step up a peg in the race for the championship it should be interesting. The St. Thomas team will line-up as follows:

Kempthorne, goal; McKenzie, point; Stewart, cover; Bethune, 1st defence; Howell, 2nd defence; Leddy, 3rd defence; Cuthbertson, centre; Lawler, 3rd home; Gooding, 2nd home; Fairfield, 1st home; Stewart, outside home; Shepherd, inside home. Bert Henry, referee. Pete Leddy, field captain.

The game will be called at 3 o'clock, so that people will have a chance of taking the five o'clock train to Port Stanley.

THOMAS BROS. DEFEAT AYLMER.

At Pinafore Park, Saturday, Thomas Bros. defeated Aylmer in a well-played game of ball, to the tune of 5 to 4. The feature of the game was the batting of Brebner. Chambers for Thomas Bros. pitched a good game, being invincible till the last inning, when he eased off a little and allowed Aylmer two runs. He struck out twelve men and allowed but four hits.

Pascoe for Aylmer, got a bad start, after which he settled down and pitched a good game.

town damaged, causing monetary loss of at least $200,000. Such is the result of the explosion of a car of nitro-glycerine in front of the M. C. R. depot at Essex at 9.40 on Saturday morning. The car of dynamite had reached Essex on Friday night, and was placed on a side track to be taken to Amherstburg by a plug train in the morning. This train in charge of Conductor Tom Barry, Engineer David Cottrell, Fireman James Madigan, and Brakemen George Conlon and Joseph McNarry, had plocked up the car, and was backing to the depot to await the arrival of the mail train from St. Thomas. Conductor Barry noticed that the nitro-glycerine was leaking from the car, and as the drops fell on the rails they popped. Barry drew the attention of Depot Agent Stimers to the condition of affairs, and these two, with brakeman and others, went into the car and re-adjusted the boxes to try and stop the leakage. Half an hour later the explosion occurred. McNarry and Conlon were helping to make up the train. The former was on the ground giving the engine crew the signal to slack up as they backed up to the passenger coach, which constitutes part of their train, while Conlon was hanging on the rear end of the dynamite car. Mr. Stimers, station agent, was standing near the engine, evidently watching to see how much dynamite the car was leaking.

DEVASTATION NEAR AND FAR.

When the dumbfounded townspeople came to their senses and realized that the place had not been visited by an earthquake a rush was made to the depot. There the car of dynamite had disappeared, and in its place was a hole fully six feet deep and ten feet in diameter, two cars adjoining were reduced to debris, the passenger coach was shattered, the engine was a heap of twisted iron and steel, and the once handsome stone depot was knocked out of shape. Search was made for the bodies of the dead and injured. Barry, Stimers, Cottrell and Madigan were found along the track near the ruins of the depot, and all were living, but unconscious. The bodies of McNarry and Conlon could not be found for some time, but they were located after a long search. The former's charred body was underneath a pile of burning coal, and one hand was completely gone. Brakeman Conlon was blown to pieces, and sections of his body were gathered up in different places. Portions of the head were picked up about two hundred yards away. The concussion caused by the explosion wrought great havoc for a considerable distance on either side of the track and the rails were torn up for a hundred feet or more. Pieces of track and car wheels were blown distances as far as five blocks.

The big planing mill of Laing, Ritchie & Company, standing alongside the track, employing ten or fifteen men, and consisting of two frame buildings, collapsed. The timbers were light. They escaped as if by a miracle; two found themselves lying in the street, with their clothes covered with sawdust. Adjoining the mill was Green's warehouse, being every window blown out. ... girls working on the first floor were panic-stricken. One young man named H. Williams was badly cut by flying glass. Hicks' furniture store looks as if it had passed through a battle, all the big plate glass windows being blown out. The residence of Dr. J. W. Brien, a handsome home suffered over a thousand dollars' damage. The Dawson block, a three-story structure, was damaged $5,000. Considerable damage was also done to the interior of the Grand Central Hotel. A bed was turned upside down, every window being broken, and the damage is over $1,000 Mrs. L. E. Barber's store was wrecked. There being many people in this place when the explosion occurred, everyone ran to the street and no one was injured. The windows in H. Roberts' barber shop were blown out. A man was being shaved at the time, and the barber had the razor in his hand, when something broke in two. The stovepipes was blown away, and a gasoline heater, flew across the room. Nearly every place of business and residence was more or less damaged. The Coroner, Dr. Brien, lost no time in empanelling a jury, while the Chief of Police swore in fifteen special constables to guard the propeerty.

PEOPLE WORKED ALL NIGHT.

All day and night hundreds of people arrived in autos and by train The townspeople spent most of the night getting their houses in shape for habitation. It will take years for the town to recover from the shock, but considering the way in which the buildings were wrecked it is exceedingly fortunate that so many people escaped with their lives.

There are many stories of narrow escapes told. A colored woman who was on the depot platform with a baby on her lap had the child blown out of her arms, and found it after the explosion fifty feet away. A girl is said to have been seen on the platform of a coach, but after the accident no trace of her could be found, although search was made of the debris. People after the explosion, appeared to have lost their senses, and rushed from one place to another, coming to themselves in some strange room, or locality, wondering how they reached there.

CAR WHEELS FOUND IN HOUSES.

In one house 150 feet from the track pieces of car wheels were found hanging through the rafters, while another large piece was lying by the side of a piano. The wife of Agent Stimers was hurt in her home which stood a short distance from the track, the force of the explosion having gone right through it. Next door the residence of W. Trumble was very badly damaged. It will have to be rebuilt. No one was at home at the time. Geo. Beatties residence has a car wheel embedded in it, while others twisted out of shape were found in the yard.

RAILWAY AND SHIPPERS BLAMED.

Much indignation is expressed by the townspeople at the negligence of the railway company and shippers for the careless way of handling the explosives. A car of dynamite is said to have gone over the Amherstburg line twice a week labelled merchandise. In this particu-

pure, red blood,—that is why they banish anaemia, rheumatism, St. Vitus dance, heart palpitation, indigestion and the secret ills of girlhood and womanhood. But you must get the genuine bearing the full name, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People." on the wrapper around each box. All other so-called Pink Pills are imitations. If you medicine dealer does not keep the genuine pills they will be sent at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ontario.

Disastrous Explosion.

THREE KILLED; TWENTY INJURED

Buildings All Over Town Torn and Rent by Terrific Force.—Shock Felt Twenty Miles Away.—Careless Packing and Shipping Caused Fluid to Leak From Car.

THE DEAD.

Geo. Conlon, brakeman, Amherstburg train, leaves wife and child in St. Thomas.

Joseph McNarry, Amherstburg, brakeman, leaves wife and child.

SERIOUSLY INJURED.

A. O. Stimers, station agent, in neighborhood of two hundred cuts from flying glass on right side of body; recovery will be slow. He is totally deaf from explosion.

David Cottrell, engineer, St. Thomas, cuts and bruises, rib broken and kidney punctured; recovery doubtful.

James Madigan, fireman, St. Thomas, cuts on forhead and right side, and arm badly injured; recovery will be slow.

Thos. Barry, conductor, of Amherstburg, cuts on head and body.

INJURED.

J. A. Abbott, telegraph operator, shock.

David Hess, fourteen cuts.

Michael Farraugh, mill hand, cut on head.

Bert Esseltine, mill hand, cut on head and body.

Mrs. Joseph Bailey, cuts on head.

Mrs. Martin, of Ypsilanti, Mich., cuts.

J. R. Cleves, operator, cuts.

Miss Mary Cockburn, telephone operator, suffering from shock.

Mrs. A. O. Stimers, cut by collapsing of her home.

Mrs. Geo. Beattie, two ribs, fractured.

J. Foster, baggageman, rendered partially deaf.

About a score of others cut by falling glass and timbers.

Two killed outright, one dead from shock, six seriously injured, one fatally, and thirty-three others with mior injuries, several cars and many buildings completely demolished and fully 75 per cent of the houses in town damaged, causing monetary loss of at least $200,000. Such is the result of the explosion of a car of nitro-glycerine in front of the M. C. R. depot at Essex at 9.40 on Saturday morning. The car of dynamite had reached Essex on Friday night, and was placed on a side track to be taken to Amherstburg by a plug train in the morning. This train in charge of Conductor Tom Barry, Engineer David Cottrell, Fireman James Madigan, and Brakemen George Conlon and Joseph McNarry, had picked up the car, and was backing to the depot to await the arrival of the mail train from St. Thomas. Conductor Barry noticed that the nitro-glycerine was leaking ... and as the drops fell three stories and frame. This was torn almost to pieces. The roof was taken clean off Naylor's grist mill to the north. The mill stood the force of the explosion well from the outside, but the inside was a mass of ruins. Near the grist mill was the electric light station, but it is now a complete wreck. McDougall's livery was almost torn to pieces. The Methodist church, a veneer brick structure, two blocks northeast of the depot, was put out of commission, while the grain elevator, near the track, was reduced to ruins.

ALONG TALBOT STREET.

Talbot, the main business street, suffered the worst damage of any in the town, every building on the street being damaged. The front windows of Raine's grocery store was completely blown out and the canned goods and china on the shelves thrown to the floor. Mr. Raines estimate his damage at $400. Twelve large plate glass windows in the Imperial bank building were blown out, and the plaster fell upon the clerks, but no one was injured. Considerable damage was also done to the second floor. On the second floor of O. H. Bricker's dry goods store the plaster in the front room was blown off, and in the rear of the store a window sash was torn out, but not a piece of glass broken. The office of A. K. Jordon, V. S., is a complete wreck, the chairs being blown out of the windows. The real estate office of Mr. W. Church also suffered damage, all the windows being blown out and the plaster in the office torn from the walls. A pool room over his office was wrecked. His loss is estimated at $500.

ABREDEEN HOTEL WRECKED.

The Aberdeen Hotel is a sight. It is a four-story building, and practically every window was blown out. The damage will run up high. The Essex Canning Company's plant was damaged about $10,000, and almost every window blown out. Several girls working on the first floor were panic-stricken. One young man named H. Williams was badly cut by flying glass. Hicks' furniture store looks as if it had passed through a battle, all the big plate glass windows being blown out. The residence of Dr. J. W. Brien, a handsome home suffered over a thousand dollars' damage. The Dawson block, a three-story structure, was damaged $5,000. Considerable damage was also done to the interior of the Grand Central Hotel. A bed was turned up side down, every window being broken, and the damage is over $1,000. Mr. L. E. Barber's store was wrecked. There being many people in this place when the explosion occurr

In case no bill could be found for the car of dynamite, but one was discovered for a car of cartridges. It came from Port Colborne. There is talk of damage suits being entered against both the M. C. R. and the shippers of the stuff. The officials say leaving the car in the hot sun caused the dynamite to melt and explode.

ALL ST. THOMAS MEN.

David Cottrell, engineer, who was in the explosion at Essex, is in a serious condition at his home in St. Thomas, and his recovery is decidedly doubtful. Besides cuts bruises, and burns on the back of his head, he has a fractured rib and one kidney punctured.

Geo. Conlin, and Joseph McNarry, dead brakemen, both belonged to St. Thomas, and their bodies will be taken there for interment. A wife and child survive each. Conductor Barry and Fireman Madigan are also St. Thomas men.

WISE PARENTS.

Guard Their Children's Health by Giving Them Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

The health of the growing boy or girl should be carefully guarded ing the growing time there is a danger of the blood becoming poisoned and the health seriously impaired. The blood should be kept pure and the child will grow strong, healthy and active. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are an ideal tonic for the young. They never fail to bring color to the pale cheeks and strength to the growing body. To a reporter of L'Avenir du Nord, Mr. Jos. Provost, of St. Canute, Que, tells how these pills saved his daughter Marie from a life of misery. He says, "A year ago my daughter, a girl of thirteen, was very weak. She was so ill that I feared she was going into consumption. Though I tried remedy after remedy she remained in this weak state for several months and I began to think she never would get better. I read of the good Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had been in a case of anaemia, so got some for her. Soon she began to improve; her appetite returned; she grew strong color came to her cheeks and today she is as healthy as any young girl could be. I firmly believe Dr. Williams' Pink Pills saved her life."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are equally as successful in bringing those of mature age back to health as they are in building up the young. They make pure, red blood,—that is why they banish anaemia, rheumatism, St. Vitus dance, heart palpitation, indigestion and the secret ills of girlhood and womanhood. But you must get the genuine bearing the full name, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People." on the wrapper around each box. All other so-called Pink Pills are imitations. If you medicine dealer does not keep the genuine pills they will be sent at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ontario.

4 In Memoriam

FARAGONE

Carmella Faragone—Dec. 18, 1969.
A wonderful mother, woman and old;
One who was better God never made.
A wonderful worker, so loyal and true;
One in a million—that was you.
Just in your judgement, always right;
Honest and liberal, ever upright;
Loved by everyone you knew;
A wonderful mother—that was you.
FROM DAUGHTER MILDRED AND SON-IN-LAW BENNIE AND GRANDDAUGHTER JOSEPHINE ANN PETTIFER.

FARAGONE

Frank Faragone—Dec. 19, 1966, Carmella Faragone—Dec. 18, 1969. WE MISS YOU AND WE LOVE YOU. FROM DAUGHTER BETTY AND TOM MASCHARI AND ROMITO FAMILY.

FARAGONE

Frank Faragone—Dec. 19, 1966.
Before our eyes he faded,
Growing weaker every day;
Doing all we could to save him
Until God took him away.
Never shall we cease to love him,
Never shall his memory fade;
Sweetest love forever lingers
Round his sweet and peaceful grave.

Dear Ms. Read,

We received your letters dated January 10 and 11, 2000 regarding members of the Barry and Lovett families. We have conducted the research and located the following information:

John Lovett is not recorded in the Saint Boniface death register from the years 1914 to 1917.

You had sent a letter to Saint Catherine Parish, which is now closed. The sacramental records from Saint Catherine are in the possession of the Archives. From the records of Saint Catherine Parish, we located the following death records:

Thomas Barry, son of John Barry and Johanna O'Shea, died on December 27, 1950 at the age of 94. Reverend Carl C. Groth presided over the burial on December 30, 1950 at Mount Olivet Cemetery. No next of kin is noted.

Leo J. Barry, son of Thomas Barry and Anna Reiser, died on February 23, 1951 at the age of 60. Reverend Thomas H. Villerot presided over the burial on February 26, 1951 at Mount Olivet Cemetery. Next of kin is Jennie Koster.

We would like to thank you for the two contributions you sent in the total amount of eight dollars.

We apologize for the delayed response and we hope that this information is of help to you.

Sincerely,

Ruth Rashid

Kensington Club Meets

The Kensington Club met at the home of Mrs. M. McNaughton, July 1. Mrs. Buchan presided. Roll call was responded to by "A Canadian Thip I Would Like to Take." Miss Edith Beecroft gave a talk on her trip to Peace River. Miss Sarah McLellan gave a paper on "Why We Celebrate Dominion Day." Mrs. D. Turner gave a humorous reading, "Boys Know Everything." Club Journal was given by Mrs. Harry Killins. Community singing was enjoyed by all. The August meeting will be held Aug. 5 at the home of Mrs. D. Crosson.

Parks Popular Sunday

Pinafore Park and the Waterworks Park were oases for St. Thomas citizens seeking cool spots Sunday. Both parks were patronized throughout the day, well into the evening. Many citizens evidently spent the entire day at the parks, taking both dinner and supper baskets with them. The lakeside was crowded also, virtually to the point of congestion. St. Thomas people told of motoring to Port Stanley early Sunday afternoon and returning through inability to find parking space.

Deplores the Practice

A resolution passed at the annual meeting of the London Local Council of Women at which thirty-one of the thirty-eight affiliated organizations were represented, deplored the practice of public commercial entertainment which endangers human life. The resolution noted the death of a young woman acrobat at Kitchener several months ago. Attention of National Council will be called to this, both from the aspect of its inhumanity to the performers and its undesirable effect on spectators. Mrs. John Rose was re-elected president.

Brant County Equalization

Brant county council approved the equalization of assessment basis by a 6-5 vote, as has been in effect for the past two years. Brantford township was solid with four votes against, taking the ground it had a heavy load to carry because of the number of city workers resident in the township, which had been hit by the industrial depression in Brantford, who were on township relief. The council also approved renewal of the agreement with Brantford on secondary education, by which the county pays 19 per cent. of the total cost.

Plane Causes Excitement

A Detroit business man, who is a flying enthuisast, received a surprise Saturday afternoon when he and his wife landed in his plane in a field off the lake shore, near New Glasgow, for the purpose of visiting relatives. The sudden arrivel of the plane evidently caused considerable excitement among the natives, with the result that a call was sent to the police. Traffic Officer Witts and Corporal Denton of the R. C. M. P. responded. They arrived to find things in order. The plane was not a stolen machine, as had been suggested in the wild report sent out. One report reaching the city had it that a man had been seen running from the plane after

RICHARD J. BAINARD PASSES AT LAMBETH

Native of Westminster Township Last of Family of Fifteen

Richard Jacob Bainard, of Lambeth, retired farmer, passed away early Sunday morning in his ninetieth year. Mr. Bainard, who was born in the township of Westminster, had lived in Lambeth for the past thirteen years. He also farmed for a number of years at Glanworth. He was an active member of the United Church at Lambeth. One son, Frank D. Bainard, was the youngest and last surviving member of a family of fifteen.

The funeral will be held on Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock, eastern standard time, from the United church, Lambeth, with interment in the family plot in the St. Thomas cemetery.

MRS. J. M'CAFFREY A NATIVE OF LUCAN

Had Resided in St. Thomas for Fifty-Eight Years

Mrs. Elizabeth McCaffrey, 124 Inkerman street, wife of the late John McCaffrey, passed away Sunday morning in her eighty-fourth year. Mrs. McCaffrey, who was born in Lucan, had resided in St. Thomas for the past fifty-eight years. She was a member of Holy Angels' church, of the Altar Society and of the League of the Sacred Heart. One son and two daughters survive, Vernard, Kansas City; Mrs. James Casey, 124 Inkerman street, and Mrs. James Wrathell, 42 Hughes street, city; also two brothers, Thomas Barry, Detroit, and Timothy Barry, Cleveland, and twelve grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

The funeral will be held on Tuesday morning at eight-thirty from the residence of her daughter, 124 Inkerman street, thence to Holy Angels' church for requiem high mass at nine o'clock. Interment will be made in the Roman Catholic cemetery.

JOHN ALLIN PASSES IN MEMORIAL HOSPITAL

Former C. N. R. Employee Was In His 75th Year

Death on Sunday morning took John Allin, an esteemed resident, of St. George St., north, at the Memorial Hospital after an illness of three months. He was a retired C. N. R. sectionman and was 74 years of age.

Coming to the city 50 years ago, Mr. Allin worked at the Flax Mill on St. George Street, later joining the employ of the C. N. R., from which position he was pensioned 7 years ago. He was a native of Leeds County and a member of the Church of Christ. He belonged to the Brotherhood of Railway Maintenance Employees Lodge No.

seven years with greater or less severity. The answer is yes, and one of the outstanding evidences is the very marked increase in passenger traffic on both of the Dominion's big railway systems—the Canadian Pacific, privately owned, and the Canadian National, publicly owned.

A few days ago I journeyed from Ottawa to Quebec on the Canadian Pacific. When I picked up the boat train at Montreal West for Quebec I found myself on the longest passenger train I had seen in Canada or any other country in many years. There were 22 coaches, all comfortably [illegible]d and one had to step lively to get a place in the diner at meal times.

"What's this? An excursion?" I said to the conductor.

"Just our regular load," he answered.

"Looks as if passenger traffic has picked up."

"I'll say it has and then some."

Less than a week later I took a sleeper from Ottawa to Toronto on the pool train operated by the C.P.R. and the Canadian National and there was a surprisingly large number of passengers aboard. The same situation prevailed when I continued my trip from Toronto to Detroit on the Canadian Pacific.

"Good business, eh?' I observed to the dining car steward.

"Business certainly is fine," he answered. "We have all we can handle conveniently. My usual run is out West, and boy, are we getting the business? I'll say we are."

The C.N.R. reports a similar increase in business.

If passenger traffic on the railways is a significant barometer, and, of course, it is, Canada is very definitely on the up grade.

EX-IMPERIALS HOLD BIG PICNIC AT PARK

Fine Sports Program Is Followed by "Banquet"

A very enjoyable picnic was held at Pinafore Park on Saturday by the ex-Imperials and their families, about 80 being in attendance. During the afternoon a number of races were run off under the supervision of R. V. Smith, W. S. Lover, Jack Bentley and W. P. Whitehead. The results were as follows:

Children under 6, Gerogina May Cowie, Shirley Roulston; girls, 11 to 14, Sadie Ross, Peggy Baker, Violet Turner; boys, 9 to 10, Allan Ross, Billie Lover; girls, 6 to 8, Lillian Gregory; boys, 6 to 8, Donald Appleyard, Jack Pullen, Richard Wilton; boys, 11 to 14, Fred Tull, Allan Ross; girls, 14 and over, Gwen Fuller, Irene Baker; wheelbarrow race, Mrs. Appleyard and W. S. Lover; men's 100-yard race, Alex Ross, Stan Redding; feeding the chicken (ladies), Mrs. Tinling, Mrs. McPherson; feeding the chicken (men), Alex Ross; shoe race, girls, Jean Claridge; shoe race, boys, Fred Tull; kicking the slipper, Mrs. Ross, Mrs. Merritt; placing the plate, Stan Redding, Jack Bentley, W. S. Lover; hop race, girls, Jean Claridge, Vera Claridge; rolling race, boys, Allan Ross; soda biscuit, Lillian Gregory, Vera Claridge; university stunt, Oxford vs. Cambridge ended in a draw.

After the sports everyone sat down to a delightful supper which had been arranged by Mrs. W. S. Lover and her very able committee, Mrs. Tailby, Mrs. Bentley and Mrs. McPherson. The registration was looked after by Mrs. D.

cil, testified:

"We decided because of our personal beliefs to move into the Fitzgerald neighborhood some years ago when it was 40 percent black.

"From the time we moved in, the telephone was ringing from 7 a.m. until 11 p.m. with calls from real estate firms. We finally signed a petition to halt the solicitations."

Cecil Galey, a former executive board member of the Eastern Detroit Realty Association, spoke for repeal of the ordinance.

He is now head of the Metropolitan Real Estate Association, which petitioned for the repeal. Galey said nearly half of the latter assiciation's members are black brokers.

"We claim the Cavanagh administration has sponsored the antiintegration law called the fair neighborhood practices act . . . to effectively block open housing in the city of Detroit," Galey said.

John Mogk, assistant professor of law at Wayne State University, declared:

"Last summer the occupants in our (east side) area were getting a total of more than 4,000 calls ~~a~~ week from real estate operators.

"The black and white residents joined together in a petition drive to halt the harassment."

QUINTUS L. GREEN, president of the Detroit Real Estate Brokers Association, said.

"This ordinance is racist, maybe not in its intent but in actuality.

"I don't stand in the way of white people who want to move across Eight Mile Road, so don't interfere with me when I want to move to where my brother went.

"This ordinance is being used as a weapon of intimidation against a seller to sell. It gives neighbors a chance to interfere with the sale of property.

"There's not a single thing we can do for integration. That's in a man's heart."

THE LATE LEO CONLIN, M. C. R. Brakeman, killed by explosion at Essex Saturday.

HASTENING HOME IS FATALLY INJURED

Essex Man at Sombra Hears of Explosion and Takes Ill-Fated Car.

Sombra, Aug. 13.—Mr. W. C. Shaw, merchant, of this place, seriously injured in a head-on collision at Algonac, Mich., Sunday, is in a critical condition and grave fears are entertained for his recovery.

Mr. Shaw came here from Essex a month ago, buying out H. Waddell. His family still lives at Essex, and owing to the explosion at that town Saturday, Mr. Shaw was going home to see his family, being unable to get telephone connection on Saturday.

Hearing of the catastrophe in his home town, he caught the first car. It happened to be the southbound regular for Detroit, which met the "Fishermen's Special" at a curve near the village of Randolph, Mich., fatally injuring thirteen.

The regular had orders to meet the special at a place called "The Nook", but the motorman, John Copeland, ran by without waiting.

The cars met almost without warn- running quite slowly. The special hit the regular at full speed and both telescoped standing practically on their rear trucks. Passengers were thrown in heaps inside both cars and some were thrown out.

Motorman Clarence Wilton, of the special, stuck to his post and was crushed when his vestibule went to pieces. John, better known as "Shorty" Copeland, jumped when he saw the danger, and suffered only a bruised and sprained ankle as the result of a tank rolling on him.

Both cars were practically smashed to debris, and the pile held up traffic until late in the afternoon, when the wrecking crew from Detroit finished clearing the track. W. C. Shaw, the Essex man, was thrown violently when the cars met and suffers a concussion of the brain, besides serious internal injuries, bruises and cuts. He was cared for at the home of a cottager.

ROUGH TIME AT BRANIFORD,

The features of the Civic Holiday celeration at Brantford yesterday was the C. L. A. League game between Brantford and St. Catharines.

It proved one of the roughest ever played in that city, culminating in an exhibition of rowdyism of the most disgraceful character. Referee Donald Hall, of Oshawa, towards the close of the second quarter, when the score stood 3 to 1 in favor of the visitors, was threatened with assault by spectators who rushed on the field. He immediately stopped the play and awarded the game to St. Catharines. Thereupon hundreds swarmed on the field, making deliberate attempts on Referee Hall and Field Captain McIlwain, of St. Catharines, both being mobbed and struck repeatedly in the face and body.

To the credit of the local players and some of the spectators, it should be said, they made valiant efforts to protect the visitors, surrounding them and beating back the assailants until they but at least in a way that would make some of the boys half his age hustle to follow him.

To help him celebrate, twenty-two old friends were invited to spend the afternoon with him. Those invited were Mrs. N. Ford, Mrs. McNeil, Mrs. King, Mrs. McGregor, Mrs. Gillies, Mrs. Gordon, Mrs. Patterson, Mrs. Schleihauf, Mrs. Buchanan, Mrs. Walker, Miss McNaughton, Miss M. McIntyte, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Mowbray, Mr. and Mrs. J. Pearce, Mr. and Mrs. A. Maccoll, Mr. Havens, Mr. D. McCollum, Mr. F. McDiarmid, Mr. A. McIntyre.

The youngest of the party was 63 years of age, the oldest 83. Thirteen of them were over 75 years old. The aggregate age of all was 1,734 years, the average nearly 75½ years. All but five were either born in Aldborough or have lived there upwards of 60 years. All but four are Scotch and all but five Presbyterian.

The afternoon was pleasantly spent in recalling incidents of the time when they were boys and girls; of the time when life in Aldborough was surely the strenuous life, although with plenty of hardship there was mixed the usual amount of pleasure. No doubt at times a feeling of sadness came over them as they recalled those who had gone before, and with whom so many years of their lives had been spent.

While the grim reaper has been rapidly gathering his harvest during the last few years, it is pleasing to reflect that so many of the old pioneers are still left in this southern part of Aldboro.

The day will remain through the time that is left them as a pleasant memory of the happy days of long ago, so vividly recalled by the meeting together and the hearty handclasp of old friends.

They will also long retain a pleasant feeling for the kindly thought that prompted Mr. McLean's family to have so many of them together to spend a social afternoon. After singing "God be with you till we meet again," the party dispersed.

CONDUCTOR T. BARRY, Injured in the explosion at Essex on Saturday.

THE LATE JOSEPH McNARRY, M. C. R. Brakeman, killed by explosion at Essex Saturday.

Miss Amy C. Kilgour, of Detroit, a former student of the Collegiate Institute here, and daughter of Mr. J. A. Kilgour, M.C.R. passenger conductor, graduated in the shorthand class of the Detroit Commercial College this year. Miss Kilgour was president of the class officers, and welcomed the relatives and friends of the graduates at the commencement exercises.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the B. of L. E. will have a float in the Labor Day procession. The committee met last night, when further subscriptions were received. The arrangements are progressing most favorably and the procession and demonstration is sure to be the best ever seen in the city.

SYNOPSIS: Hot humid air will cover all of the southern Ontario today as tropical air pushes across the area from the south. Widely scattered thunderstorm activity will develop overnight but will yield to mostly sunny skies and slightly drier air Saturday. The balance of the weekend will continue sunny and very warm. In Northern Ontario, an approaching ridge of high pressure will keep skies clear over the west today. The low pressure system over eastern regions will push into Quebec overnight and cloudy skies will yield to sunshine in its wake. The outlook for all regions [illegible]. Hot and humid today with isolated thunderstorms late in the day. High 32 to 35. Cooler near the lakeshore. Low 20 to 23. Saturday, sunny with cloudy periods. High 29 to 32.

Elgin

William Kevin Hayes, 36, of London, was fined $200 or 20 days in St. Thomas provincial court Monday after pleading guilty to a charge of driving while his licence was suspended. Hayes was charged on June 14 after St. Thomas OPP stopped him on County Road 25 in Southwold Township.

Six counts of violating the Income Tax Act were dismissed against an Aylmer man in St. Thomas provincial court Thursday on the grounds that he didn't deliberately set out to evade taxes, said presiding Provincial Judge G.A. Phillips.

John M. Brandow, 47, of RR 5, Aylmer, was accused of making false or deceptive entries totalling $29,566 from May of 1967 to November of 1972 in the records of Brandow-Macdonald Construction Ltd., of which he was a partner.

Because of these alleged deceptive entries Brandow was charged with making false statements on his income tax returns from 1969 to 1972 by failing to declare alleged income which he entered as business expenses.

Throughout the trial the Crown attempted to demonstrate to the court that expenses Brandow wrote off as business expenses were for his personal gain. On the witness stand Brandow denied these allegations.

Brandow's lawyer, Robert Upsdell, argued that the accused was unsophisticated as far as accounting was concerned, and may have written off more business expenses that he should have.

Mr. Upsdell maintained however that the Crown showed no benefit actually accrued to Mr. Brandow. He

CONTRIBUTED BY MARY LOU DUNCAN OF GROSSE POINTE SHORES, MICHIGAN

It has been one hundred and fifty years since many of the Irish Famine immigrants joined the mass migration to the shores of the United States. Although many of us have found these people on ships' passengers lists, few understand the procedures involved which brought the immigrants here. Richard R. Elliott a cloth merchant and a passenger agent in the city of Detroit, Wayne County, Michigan arranged for such passage. Most of the people he arranged passage for were Irish. The following was a printed advertisement found with the Richard Elliott papers in the Manuscript Collection of the Burton Historical Collection of the Detroit Public Library.

Harnden & Company Passenger Arrangements
28 Oct 1847, New York

Of Oct 21 we have to state that our prices for bringing Steerage passengers from Liverpool to New York are $20 for all over 10 yrs. and $15 for all under. This includes 1 pound of bread every day during the voyage with Fuel & Water for each person, & Head & Hospital Money in cash. We also grant Passage Certificates to Liverpool from the following places:

Belfast	1.50	Drogheda	1.00
Dublin	1.00	Dundalk	1.00
Cork	3.00	Londonderry	1.50
Waterford	2.50	Newry	1.00
Wexford	1.50	Sligo	2.00

Persons in America wishing to send to Europe for their friends, can purchase of the subscribers a Passage Certificate, which will enable the emigrant to leave Liverpool for New York, New Orleans, Baltimore, Philadelphia or Boston weekly.

When Passage certificates are purchased of us, our House in Liverpool will write and inform the Passenger what day to be ready, thereby preventing the loss of a single day in Liverpool where Passengers will be under our protection until the ship sails.

Passengers wishing to leave the United States for Europe, can secure their passage as above, remitting us $5 on account.

The subscribers are drawing Bills of Exchange at $5 the pound, payable at sight, in various parts of Europe, from One Pound Sterling to any sum required. Persons at a distance wishing to remit or procure Passage Certificates, can enclose their money to us and receive a bill, or a certificate for the same by return mail; or the same will be forwarded to their friends in Europe. The money for our Bills can be had in any town in Great Britain.

In all cases, those sending for Certificates of Passage should furnish the names and ages of all the persons sent for, with their European address in full, to be forwarded by us to our Liverpool Agency, who notify the party of the proper time to leave home and give all necessary information.

Passengers coming out under this arrangement are relieved of all care, expense and trouble in passing luggage at the Custom House, or making bargains for passage from Europe to the United States at Liverpool.

Editor's note: Mary Lou Duncan is currently working on transcribing the names of the passengers for whom Richard R. Elliott arranged passage to Detroit into a book to be published by the DSGR.

IRISH PASSENGER EMIGRATION PROCEDURES

CONTRIBUTED BY MARY LOU DUNCAN OF GROSSE POINTE SHORES, MICHIGAN

It has been one hundred and fifty years since many of the Irish Famine immigrants joined the mass migration to the shores of the United States. Although many of us have found these people on ships' passengers lists, few understand the procedures involved which brought the immigrants here. Richard R. Elliott a cloth merchant and a passenger agent in the city of Detroit, Wayne County, Michigan arranged for such passage. Most of the people he arranged passage for were Irish. The following was a printed advertisement found with the Richard Elliott papers in the Manuscript Collection of the Burton Historical Collection of the Detroit Public Library.

Harnden & Company Passenger Arrangements
28 Oct 1847, New York

Of Oct 21 we have to state that our prices for bringing Steerage passengers from Liverpool to New York are $20 for all over 10 yrs. and $15 for all under. This includes 1 pound of bread every day during the voyage with Fuel & Water for each person, & Head & Hospital Money in cash. We also grant Passage Certificates to Liverpool from the following places:

Belfast	1.50	Drogheda	1.00
Dublin	1.00	Dundalk	1.00
Cork	3.00	Londonderry	1.50
Waterford	2.50	Newry	1.00
Wexford	1.50	Sligo	2.00

Persons in America wishing to send to Europe for their friends, can purchase of the subscribers a Passage Certificate, which will enable the emigrant to leave Liverpool for New York, New Orleans, Baltimore, Philadelphia or Boston weekly.

When Passage certificates are purchased of us, our House in Liverpool will write and inform the Passenger what day to be ready, thereby preventing the loss of a single day in Liverpool where Passengers will be under our protection until the ship sails.

Passengers wishing to leave the United States for Europe, can secure their passage as above, remitting us $5 on account.

The subscribers are drawing Bills of Exchange at $5 the pound, payable at sight, in various parts of Europe, from One Pound Sterling to any sum required. Persons at a distance wishing to remit or procure Passage Certificates, can enclose their money to us and receive a bill, or a certificate for the same by return mail; or the same will be forwarded to their friends in Europe. The money for our Bills can be had in any town in Great Britain.

In all cases, those sending for Certificates of Passage should furnish the names and ages of all the persons sent for, with their European address in full, to be forwarded by us to our Liverpool Agency, who notify the party of the proper time to leave home and give all necessary information.

Passengers coming out under this arrangement are relieved of all care, expense and trouble in passing luggage at the Custom House, or making bargains for passage from Europe to the United States at Liverpool.

Editor's note: Mary Lou Duncan is currently working on transcribing the names of the passengers for whom Richard R. Elliott arranged passage to Detroit into a book to be published by the DSGR.

the name of the settlement was changed so as to be the same as the church.

Reading in notes it is reported that a new parochial residence was built at Irishtown. It was a splendid structure heated by steam. This was in Feb. 1882.

Death of a Pioneer - The angel of death called at the Convent of Sisters of St. Joseph, London, and carried away one of the oldest residents of McKillop, in the person of Mrs. Michael Maddigan, whose death took place October 28th, 1922, at the age of 88 years. Mrs. Maddigan came to this country in June, 1834, from Tipperary, Ireland, when six months old, with her mother and two older sisters. They landed in London, from where they walked to Harpurhey. Dr. Cholk then got a team and had them sent on to Irishtown, where Dinnie Dorsey, her mother's brother, lived. They afterwards joined her father who had come out some time before, at the Welland Canal, where he found employment for three years. After three years they moved to McKillop, where her father died. She then married Michael Maddigan, who lived near Beechwood. She lived on the farm for twenty years, where many new settlers found a home until they had time to build a shanty for themselves. She was always ready to give a helping hand to anyone in need, it made no difference of what creed. She had as many non-Catholic friends as Catholic and never tired singing their praises, particularly the McIntoshes and Calders, who were close neighbors in her early days. There were no roads at this time in McKillop, only blazed trees to mark the way. There was no school and not children enough to get a grant or permission to build one. There were only eleven families, so the eleven men signed up as pupils to get a school, after which there was school three days a week and three months a year, the teacher being a Mr. Low. The school was a log shanty where the present school stands to-day. It was then the Lee farm, one and one-half miles east of Seaforth. Se then had only one shanty and a finger board on the corner to direct the way to Goderich. Mrs. Madi lived in Seaforth for twenty years, where her hus died. She then moved to Dublin to live with her s Mrs. John Maddigan, and her niece, Mrs. Peter where she lived for twenty-two years. Then feeli old age coming on and not being able to attend to religious duties as she wished to, she went to the ters of St. Joseph, where she could go to mass e day, if she desired, and lived there for nearly tw years and she made many friends. Her kind chee

She died fully reconciled, and had the pleasure of receiving all the last rites of the church. Surrou with kind Sisters and friends, she hoped and pray

In 1882 the New York, Chicago & St. Louis Railroad was completed. In the same year the New York Central laid its tracks along the terrace and down the river shore to unite with the old main tracks beyond the city limits, giving that road direct western connections. The Buffalo, Pittsburg & Western Railroad Company was formed in January, 1881, by a consolidation of the Buffalo & Pittsburg Company (organized in September, 1880, for the purpose of building a road from Buffalo to near Brocton, Chautauqua county) with several other lines principally in Pennsylvania. In February, 1883, the road in question and the Oil City and Chicago, and the Olean and Salamanca roads were consolidated with the Buffalo, New York & Philadelphia.

Again, in 1882–83 the Rochester & Pittsburg Railroad Company (successor of the Rochester & State Line Company) built a line of road from Buffalo to Ashford, Cattaraugus county, by way of East Hamburg, West Falls, Colden, and Springville. This became later an important feeder from the coal regions and was a great convenience to the inhabitants of a part of Erie county that had not previously had railroad communication with other localities. Meanwhile the Lehigh Valley road (as then known) began extensive operations, sending its coal at that time over the tracks of other companies, and all contributing to make Buffalo the greatest railroad center in the United States. The New York, West Shore & Buffalo Railroad was opened through for traffic in January, 1884, but being a rival of the New York Central, which became its purchaser, it has had no marked influence. Twenty-seven great railroad corporations[1] now operate roads entering Buffalo and more than 250 passenger trains enter and leave the city daily, while the yard facilities are the greatest in the world.

[1] The following is a list of the railroads centering in Buffalo:

1. The New York Central & Hudson River; the main line, four tracks. 2. Niagara Falls & Lewiston branch. 3. Buffalo & Lockport. 4. Belt Line, Buffalo City. 5. Niagara Falls & Canandaigua branch. 6. Rome, Watertown & Ogdensburg. 7. Erie; main line, two tracks. 8. Niagara Falls & Suspension Bridge branch. 9. International Bridge branch. 10. Lockport branch. 11. Buffalo & Southwestern and New York, Pennsylvania & Ohio Division. 12. West Shore, two

Several of the large railroad corporations have established their own steamship lines, and although it is a seeming paradox, the enormous development of the railroad interest was one of the principal causes of the revival of lake commerce. Vessels that formerly brought down grain and frequently returned in ballast were laden both ways, carrying westward cargoes of iron and coal. The same influence that caused the rapid development of the coal business had a similar effect upon the iron industry. Ore docks were constructed by the Lehigh Valley Company, the New York, Lake Erie & Western Company, the New York Central, and the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Company, and the ore receipts in the port by lake increased from 197,000 tons in 1892 to 545,101 tons in 1896.

By virtue of its situation, the early establishment of adequate stock yards, and the great railroad facilities described, Buffalo has become one of the largest cattle markets in the world. While changes in the volume of this business during the last decade have not been especially marked, there has been an enormous development during the past forty years. For example, the live stock trade of 1857 included 108,203 head of cattle, 117,068 hogs, and 307,549 sheep. Ten years later the number of cattle was 257,872; of hogs, 239,943; of sheep, 697,440. In 1877 the figures are, cattle, 569,915; hogs, 1,128,770; sheep, 763,600. In 1896 the figures are, cattle, 945,274; hogs, 3,900,450; sheep, 2,664,200.

While Buffalo has never been in a paramount degree a manufacturing city, it was inevitable that with this vast inflowing tide of prosperity, hundreds of industries should spring into existence, many of which are of great importance. From the comparatively limited number of manufacturing establishments of 1870 they have increased until there are now about 3,500, employing about 100,000 operatives. With the installation of unlimited electric power from Niagara Falls, to be supplied at a price lower than can be obtained in any other city

Chapter VI

Lucan Becomes an Incorporated Village

Just as Eve was created from the rib of Adam, so Lucan was carved from the "rib" ofBiddulph. Ever since the survey, the village had been part of the township. Now there would be a change.

The progress of the village, both in size and population, had been steady since the advent of the railroad -- new places of business and new industries had opened up and the railway provided shipping, passenger and mail service.

Slowly and steadily Lucan marched on -- Lady Luck seemed to be at its side. In 1868 the population was 750 -- the number required by law for incorporation -- but it was not till 1870 that a petition was presented to Biddulph council to allow the village to separate from the township and form a corporation with a council of its own. By this time the population had reached 1100 and in a year's time it had attained an all-time high of 1200.

After due legal proceedings Lucan became a separate municipality on January 1, 1872. It was to be a year of varied results – Good Luck at the beginning and Bad Luck at the end -- both spelled out in bold letters.

On Januaray 15th Lucan's first council, having been duly elected and sworn in, met for its first business session in Currie's schoolhouse. The personnel of that council included at least two veterans – Reeve R. H. O'Neil who had previously served as reeve of Biddulph for seven years before the two municipalities were separated. William Porte, elected as Lucan councillor, had been clerk of Biddulph from 1857 - 1862. Other members of the council were: D. McRoberts, H. B. Quarry and A. Goodacre. Clerk, S. C. Hersey; treasurer, J. C. Frank; Assessor, Thomas Atkinson. John C. Frank, also Captain of No. 5 Company, 26th Battalion, a volunteer group recruited to repel Finian invasions in 1866.

At this time there were plans for another railway -- a branch of the Great Western, known later as the London-Huron and Bruce, which was to run from London to Wingham and which, in all probability would pass through both Biddulph and Lucan. Indeed it was quite probable that Lucan would be the crossing point of the Grand Trunk and the Great Western. Lucan -- a railway centre, with the promise of becoming a town of considerable size and importance! It was wonderful news – the whole town was excited, yet the new council faced grave responsibility. What would the "parent" council of Biddulph do about the matter? -- Perhaps they would lead the way and Lucan would follow.

It was customary for a railway company to assess each municipality through which the railroad passed, an amount of money in proportion to the benefit derived. In this case, Lucan's share was $7000, Biddulph's $8000. The northern towns and townships quickly voted payment of their allotted sums but Lucan and Biddulph were not parting with their money so readily!

Certainly the most direct route from London to Clandeboye would be a line parallel to the Proof Line Road and the London-Goderich Road. Public opinion in Biddulph was that the railway was a "sure thing", regardless of whether the subsidy were paid or not and -- why should the township pay more than Lucan who would, no doubt, reap the greater benefit in the end. When a vote was taken, the ratepayers of Biddulph were overwhelmingly opposed to the payment of the $8,000 railway bonus.

Lucan was more cautious. The raliway would mean a great deal to the village in the future, so, at the November meeting, the council sanctioned a by-law for the payment of the $7000 grant. The issue was later submitted to a vote of the ratepayers and approved by a very large majority.

As the situation then stood, Biddulph had cancelled out Lucan's vote, since the line must first pass through the township before entering the village. At this point the company took the matter into its own hands and warned that if the subsidy were not paid by a deadline date, there would be no alternative but to re-survey the route. Time went on – still no action was taken by either municipality. As it turned out, Lucan was waiting to see what Biddulph would do and Biddulph was waiting to see what Lucan would do!

Some time later a new route was surveyed which neatly by-passed both Biddulph and Lucan and the crossing of the Grand Trunk and the Great Western was at a point called, ironically, "Lucan Crossing" about 2½ miles west of the town. Lucan and Biddulph had both erred in judgement and had "blundered" themselves out of the railway.

In the years that followed both municipalities suffered, especially Lucan, because its hopes of becoming a booming railroad centre vanished with the railway company's decision. So keen was the disappointment that in June 1880 Lucan council offered $10,000 to ANY company that would build a branch line to connect Lucan and Clandeboye. No offers were submitted and until later years, livery stables in Lucan provided horse-drawn rigs -- and later motor cars -- to meet passengers arriving at Clandeboye on London, Huron and Bruce trains.

The growth of the village remained static for a few years after the railway episode then it began to decline slowly and the population dropped accordingly. The loss of hte railroaod spelt bad luck for Lucan for quite a few decades and it faced a grim future until the decline of the railways and the increase of motor cars, then the old London-Goderich road proved to be its salvation.

SIR JOHN A. McDONALD VISITS LUCAN

Lucan counted itself very lucky on December 16, 1886 when Sir John A. McDonald, the Prime Minister of Canada and four of his colleagues made a visit to the village.

The London Free Press reported the visit at length:

"Lucan has always been a village in which politics have taken a prominent place in the affairs of the people, and for a generation it has polled almost a solid vote for Sir John A. McDonald. This is equally true of the countryside of which it is the centre. – Lucan feels proud to add one more to the list of places whose welcomes have combined to make this tour of the Premier's historical for its pre-eminence over all that have preceded it in the Dominion."

"The preparations were the best that could be made, but such were the difficulties of providing a building in which any considerable number of people could gather, that the Committee felt discouraged. The Hon. David Mills had addressed a meeting here yesterday, and the Town Hall (a large room over the old Public School, also used as a court room) had been found large enough. -- but that building would never do for Sir John A. There was no building sufficiently large. The Drill Shed (the old Biddulph Township hall) however, was accepted, not because of its fitness but because it would contain the greatest number of people. It would hold perhaps 1200 but it was wholly inadequate. A gallery had been erected against

CHAPTER IV
TRANSPORTATION & COMMUNICATION

Transportation

Transportation in the Tri-Community has evolved from marine to rail to highway, all of which are enjoyed to the present day.

Marine

Located in the middle of the Great Lakes, the Amherstburg Channel is a natural bottleneck that lends itself not only to military advantage but also to the marine-related activities of shipping, shipbuilding, channel clearance, aids to navigation, excursions and towing and salvage. The harbour is federally controlled but its boundaries were uncertain until the British and American governments finally agreed in 1822 that Bois Blanc Island would remain British and Sugar, Fox and Stony Islands would become American.[1]

Shipping

From its inception, Amherstburg was a busy port with typical pioneer trade: exports of salt pork, hardwood timber, furs, potash, wheat and whisky, and imports of coffee, tea, sugar, cloth, glass, iron and salt. Hemp for ropemaking was grown for the King's Navy Yard with the active encouragement of the Parliament of Upper Canada.[2] The first dock was erected in 1797 and volume soon necessitated the stationing of a Collector of Customs and Excise by 1806 and the legislative establishment of wharfage fees and tolls in 1831.[3] American trade dominated, as demonstrated by the 1874 statistics of vessels calling at port: 15 steamers and 43 sailing ships of Canadian origin; 323 steamers and 204 sailing ships of American origin. Total tonnage in 1874 was 146,422.[4]

Sail and steam vied for prominence throughout the 19th century by balancing speed with expense. The sailing vessels varied from small 30-ton sloops like the Good Intent around 1800 to larger ocean-going schooners such as the Thomas F. Park. Steam made an early entry with the Walk-in-the-Water, a two-masted, one-funnel ship which anchored in Amherstburg harbour on the night of August 25, 1818 while on her maiden voyage to Detroit. By mid-century, fast steamers such as the commodious Arrow offered passage to Detroit in 1¼ hours. Its slower competitor, the Seneca, carried passengers at 25 cents each and freight at 12½ cents per barrel with scheduled departures from Amherstburg at 10am and 5pm daily in the summer and three times a week in the spring and fall.[5] Passengers could travel farther afield to Chatham on the steamer Brothers after a stop in Detroit; to Buffalo on the steamers Atlantic and Canada in 18 to 22 hours; to Montreal in 10 days aboard the Earl Cathcart; and even to Liverpool, England on the aforementioned schooner Thomas F. Park.[6]

The Conductor, a local vessel manned by an Amherstburg crew of Captain Henry Hackett, Jerry Sawyer, James Cousins and John Jones, was the centrepiece of the famous story of Abigail Becker, a lone woman unable to swim who managed to rescue the entire crew when the ship foundered off Long Point in Lake Erie in November, 1854.[7] Among sailors of the modern era was Captain Walter Callam who often hired local men such as the Maloney brothers (David, Mac and Jack), Russ Fox, Alex Callam, Hank Whelan and Bill Miller for service on the steamer Ralph Caulkins which always blew greeting salutes to appreciative families on shore.[8]

Steamers required coal and late in the 19th century John G. Mullen took over the Pittsburgh Coal docks to become the Mullen Coal Company, the largest independent steamship fuel company on the Great Lakes. The 800-foot dock between Murray and Richmond Streets permitted two ships to coal simultaneously. The fuel was brought from Ohio in the company's barge S.J. Tilden towed by the Hackett/Trotter tug Home Rule. Unknown to many, the wealthy Mullen gave coal freely to families too poor to afford it. In 1921 sparks from the coal derrick ignited the old town pavilion (and nearly the town!) but were doused by buckets of water dipped from the river by the derrick. The dock remained in use through the 1960s when coal and stone shipments were landed by large freighters such as the E.B. Barber and the Leadale.[9] The site is now occupied by the King's Navy Yard Park.

Fuel and stone are still received at the Brunner Mond (now General Chemical) dock at the harbour's north end. The oil is transported by the Montreal-based vessels of the Branch/Simard lines and the stone arrives in the Seaway-sized vessels of the Algoma Central Marine of Sault Ste. Marie.[10] Many a southbound motorist on Highway 18 has been surprised by the immense bulk of the ship unloading almost next to the road.

Not all activities were of a size comparable to that of Mullen or Brunner Mond; many were as small as one person. In 1885 William Fortier ran a supply boat with light provisions and newspapers to passing ships. Marine reporting to Detroit shipowners of the passage of their ships and estimated time of arrival was conducted by the partnership of H.G. Duff and William H. Gatfield and after 1934 by Mrs. Eileen Callam, Joseph McGuire and later Miles Maricle of the J.W. Westcott Company. McGuire's perch on the Livingstone Channel lighthouse dividing the Amherstburg and Livingstone Channels became too interesting on the foggy morning of September 11, 1952. The downbound George R. Fink missed the light but turned into the wrong channel and ran aground. The E.J. Kulas aimed better and struck the lighthouse head-on, demolishing it and pitching McGuire into the water. Miraculously, he was back at work eleven days later with a new set of teeth and a new perch on the shore.[11]

Piracy existed in the 1800s but only two local instances were recorded. Captain John Williams and his scow Trader were captured at Wyandotte, Michigan in August of 1885 after his theft of 35 hogs from Eli Reaume of Malden and various articles from Alexander Hackett and Henry Klie of Amherstburg. The last recorded incident took place in 1890 when the Coveau Gang from Detroit began robbing the passengers and the strongbox on board the steamer Kirby as it passed Amherstburg. Captain Fox steered close to shore to call for the police and then stood off until authorities arrived and arrests were made.[12] The river remained quiet until the 1920s when it became a virtual Barbary Coast with rumrunners and gangs hijacking each other.

Shipbuilding

When the British army established their new post at Amherstburg in 1796 they also constructed a navy yard at the southern boundary of the garrison lands (now the site of King's Navy Yard Park). In the Battle of Lake Erie in 1813 the navy yard lost its fleet of ships: the General Hunter, Queen Charlotte, Lady Prevost, Chippewa, Little Belt and Detroit. Military shipbuilding ended with the torching of the yards in the British flight of 1813. Two private yards later came into operation on Dalhousie Street - John Pembroke Jones' yard just north of the former navy yard in the 1850s and John McLeod's shipyard at the southern end of the street in the 1860s.[13] Later the Canada Southern Railway built a drydock a mile north of town at Gordon to service its steam ferry Transfer operating between Gordon and Stony Island.[14] All of the yards have disappeared.

Channel Clearance

As ship size increased in the latter part of the 19th century, difficulties were encountered with the depth of the Amherstburg Channel, especially at the Lime Kiln Crossing (so named for a lime kiln on the shore). Improvements began in 1875 and continued through the turn of the century with the well-known contractors Dunbar & Sullivan Dredging Company, M. Sullivan Dredging Company and the Great Lakes Dredge & Dock Company.[15] The work was not always easy and in the early morning of August 30, 1901 the drill boat Destroyer lived up to its name when sticks of dynamite floated off the bottom, blew at its waterline and caused a severe list. Fortunately, the crew suffered only a rather loud wake-up call as they took to the boats to abandon ship.[16]

The advent of the 600-foot freighter meant that a permanent solution had to be found for the Lime Kiln Crossing. By fortuitous coincidence, visionary William Livingstone (1844-1925) arrived on the scene. From humble beginnings in Dundas, Ontario, Livingstone had sought and won fame and fortune in Detroit as a banker, publisher, state legislator and vessel owner. In the latter role and as president of the Lake Carriers' Association, he conceived a bold plan for a deepwater channel to the west of Bois Blanc Island. In 1907 a contract for $1.6 million was awarded to H.S. Locher for a channel 11 miles long, one-half mile wide (330 feet available for navigation) and 22 feet deep. For one mile near Stony Island the excavation would be on dry river bottom by means of coffer dams.

A total of 3.5 million tons of limestone would have to be removed, the majority of the work to be undertaken by the Dunbar & Sullivan Dredging Company. A crew of 300 lived in a village named Locherville built for them on Stony Island. An impressive list of equipment was assembled: Dredges No. 3 and 8 of the Great Lakes Dredge & Dock Company; Breymann Brothers Dredge No. 3; C.H. Sharkey's Dredge No. 9; the drill boat Dynamiter; and tugs Milwaukee, Sullivan, G.H. Breymann, Pauline Heckler and T.J. McCarthy, all with double crews. Headquarters were on the second floor of the Hough building, next to the Salmoni Hotel on Dalhousie Street. Locally popular were Commander C.Y. Dixon and his staff, Harry Hodgman and Fred Haynes. The area prospered from the flow of wages which were set at ten hours' pay for eight hours' work to speed the project. The only major mishap occurred when a dynamite shed blew up on Powder Island, killing two people. At 2:30pm on October 19, 1912 traffic was inaugerated in the Livingstone Channel by the steamer William Livingstone, captained by William Livingstone himself[17] - a Livingstone day all around.

During the Livingstone Channel construction, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers stationed itself in Amherstburg to conduct its own improvements to the south end of the Amherstburg Channel by removing a large number of sailing wrecks from Callam's Bay. In the early 1800s a large sandbar

Headquarters were on the second floor of the Hough building, next to the Salmoni Hotel on Dalhousie Street. Locally popular were Commander C.Y. Dixon and his staff, Harry Hodgman and Fred Haynes. The area prospered from the flow of wages which were set at ten hours' pay for eight hours' work to speed the project. The only major mishap occurred when a dynamite shed blew up on Powder Island, killing two people. At 2:30pm on October 19, 1912 traffic was inaugurated in the Livingstone Channel by the steamer William Livingstone, captained by William Livingstone himself[11] – a Livingstone day all around!

During the Livingstone Channel construction, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers stationed itself in Amherstburg to conduct its own improvements to the south end of the Amherstburg Channel by removing a large number of sailing wrecks from Callam's Bay. In the early 1900s a large sandbar had been located there, as shown in the famous Margaret Reynolds painting, "A View of Amherstburg, 1813." After the sand had been removed to build many of the great buildings of Detroit, another hazard was created by the dumping of derelict ships into Callam's Bay, the clearing of which led to the hiring of two divers, Harry Hamilton and Arthur Kiyoshk. Hamilton, who had trained with the Royal Navy, was hired by the Corps and became the first hardhat diver on the river. Kiyoshk was part of a duo with his father Adam, both of whom belonged to the Walpole Island Native Band and worked for the Trotter Wrecking Company. The divers died young: Hamilton at 41 years of age in 1914 from too many bouts with the 'bends' (he used to sleep fully-suited on the river bottom when they bothered him); Kiyoshk drowned the following year at the age of 37 when he fell fully-suited off a gangplank of the Trotter barge J.E. Mills, moored at the foot of Murray Street.[18]

The Corps returned in a big way for the construction of the St. Lawrence Seaway from 1956 to 1959. The equipment was truly gargantuan. Two drill barges were used: Marine Operators' Hornet IV with 20 drill towers and the ability to blast every 1¾ hours; and Great Lakes Dredge & Dock's Drill Boat No. 1 with 12 drill towers. Boaters marvelled at the size of the dipper-dredge Mogul and the drag-line scow Samson. The cost of deepening the Amherstburg Channel consumed $23 million of the Seaway Authority's budget of $136 million for all connecting channels; however, on a cost-benefit analysis it was worthwhile, as each additional inch of draft allowed the passage of 90 more tons of cargo.[19] The

Seaway may have opened the Great Lakes to foreign vessels but only two ever called at Amherstburg; the German Innstein and the Swedish Oslo both arrived in 1961 to load ketchup from the Aylmer Canning Plant on Fort Street.[20]

At the present time, the Corps has on station for the purpose of channel clearing the crane-barge Veler assisted by the tug Duluth under the respective commands of Masters Gerald Benson and Bob Kerr. Master Benson's family history on this water goes back 170 years to a time when his maternal Iroquois (Oneida) ancestors sailed past on their way from New York State to Wisconsin.[21]

Aids to Navigation

The first documented aid to navigation was a fire lit in August, 1679 to mark the entrance to the Lower Detroit River for LaSalle's Griffin which stayed for a fortnight to enjoy the abundant food.[22] In the early part of the 19th century, channel markers consisted of fires lit atop rock piles built up in the river but the piles became hazards themselves in bad weather or when a sailboat tried to tack upriver and consequently they were levelled, although they can still be seen (if not felt) during low water levels.

The rock piles were replaced by lanterns hung both in the river on red and white floating buoys and in trees near the Lime Kiln Crossing by the firm of Duff & Gatfield, under contract with the Lake Carriers' Association which never missed a payment after one dispute led to a tie-up of traffic when the lanterns were not hung.[23]

At the turn of the century, use was made of lighted gas buoys that had to be towed upriver each spring for refuelling by the Detroit Gas Company. These were replaced a few years later by the Wilson carbide buoys which remained in service for over 40 years until the present type of battery-operated electric buoy was put into use during the early 1940s. The service of these buoys was contracted by the Government of Canada to McQueen Marine Limited from 1929 until the 1960s when the Canadian Coast Guard began to permanently station ships (such as the Kenoki and lately the Gull Isle under Captain Alan Morris*)* at Amherstburg to carry out this function. McQueen's staff used to comment that the cost of their contract had been less than the grocery bill for the Coast Guard base! Nevertheless, the Coast Guard station provides valuable revenue to the town and has been expanded to include a search and rescue function using a series of ships, lately the Sora under the command of Coxswains Greg Sladics and Leonard Moody. Leading Seamen in town are Jack Quinn, grandson of John G. Mullen, and Blane McBride.[24]

Lighthouses were located to mark the head of the Livingstone and Amherstburg

Channels and at the southern tip of Bois Blanc Island. The latter was built in 1837 and was maintained for a half-century by the Hackett family (father James, son Andrew, the latter's widow and then grandsons Harry and Charles) until 1924 when it became non-attended.[25] Range lights were erected at the head of Bois Blanc Island in 1875 by Dunnville Contractors. For years a lightship held station at Bar Point under Captain S.A. McCormick.[26]

Towing and Salvage

The tricky currents of the Detroit and St. Clair Rivers led to the industries of towing and salvage. Tows upstream for sailing ships were available from fleets of tugs stationed in Amherstburg. Most were local and owned by the wrecking companies but the largest hailed from Detroit, such as the Crusader and the Wilcox, captained respectively by Ed Gatfield and David Girardin. A record tow of eight fully-laden schooners was held by the massive Champion.[27] A less powerful but well-known tug was the T.J. McCarthy, owned and operated by the local Goodchild family - Robert as captain, James as first mate and Lewis as engineer.[28]

Marine salvage was carried on by various companies: Captain Francis B. Hackett and his Hackett Wrecking Company whose pride and joy was the tug Home Rule; M. Sullivan Dredging Company; Trotter Wrecking Company with the tug Marion E. Trotter and barge J.E. Mills; Dunbar & Sullivan Dredging Company; Great Lakes Towing & Wrecking Company with the tug Abner C. Harding at the foot of Rankin Avenue; and the famous larger-than-life Captains McQueen - father John Sylvester and son John Earl,[29] who formed McQueen Marine Limited.

John Sylvester McQueen (1858-1941) was born in Ruthven and entered the transportation business in 1888 only after he could not find adequate transportation for his Pelee Island sawmill. His succession of vessels included the sailing ships Albert E. Bailey and Maple Leaf, the steam yacht Ida, the steamers Energy (purchased from Colin Wigle who owned the mill on Dalhousie Street), City of Mt. Clemens and City of Dresden, the barge Malden and the tug Leroy Brookes. The rumrunning trade for the Brookes and the Dresden was lucrative but costly for McQueen. As told in Chapter III, "Prohibition," the 1922 wreck of the Dresden cost the life of his son Peregrine, nearly claimed his own life and forced his retirement from the sea. His last act was to purchase and refit the South East Shoal lightship, renamed Geronimo, which he sold to rumrunners who eventually lost it to seizure by American authorities.[30]

Captain John Earl 'Cap' McQueen (1891-1957) succeeded his father in the trade and rose to be the most colourful character on the Great Lakes. In 1891 his mother braved a stormy January passage over the ice from Pelee Island in order to give birth to him at Kingsville. Service in the Empire forces of World War I proved important in his life: a friendship with the future King George VI; salvage skills from the scuttled German fleet at Scapa Flo; a bravery award for the Battle of Zeebrugge; and a lifelong marriage to Shetland Islander Patricia Williamson. Upon his return to Canada he set up a cold storage and fish business in Belleville and developed an association with Corby Distillers in the lucrative trade of transporting alcohol to quench American thirsts. When his father retired after the loss of Peregrine, McQueen activities once again centred in Amherstburg under

McQueen's fleet was numerous and diverse: the lighter *T.F. Built at a cost of $160,000 by Russel Brothers in Owen Sound, the Atomic was famous for several reasons. McQueen had it designed to his own specifications with a bow flared back underwater so that its knife-like edge could cut through five feet of ice at six knots. The tug was outfitted with modern radar and depth-finder from the corvette H.M.C.S. Kamloops, which McQueen had purchased for $12,000 and scrapped in Amherstburg after its conversion to a lighter was given up (it was unstable after the engines were removed). Most importantly, the Atomic achieved its place in history by winning several annual races sponsored by the International Tugboat Racing Association, including the first such race in 1950.[32] Before an event, McQueen was not averse to replacing an everyday work-propeller with one specially pitched for racing. The fleet had character and so did the men who worked for it. Captains were Angus Morrison and son Cliff; Charlie Hackett, who acted also as a marine superintendent; Jake Penner, who escaped the Russian Revolution of 1917 with his mother and died at the wheel of the Atomic in 1955; Bert Hoag; and 'Wynkie' Winters. Captain Hackett's small rock island in the river opposite Bois Blanc Island was known as 'Alcatraz' by the men who built it in their spare time. An early diver and later chief engineer for the Captains McQueen was Harry Atkinson. The derrick Commander was operated by engineer Oromond Hamilton, son of U.S. Army Corps of Engineers diver Harry Hamilton. John Goodchild was another well-known diver and his stepbrother Eric 'Sonny' Boulton was engineer on the tugs. Regular staff consisted of David Lowe, Al Jackson, Joe Fox, Alec Deehan, Remi Moore, Ted Rousseau, Irvin Brush, Bob Crowder, Glen 'Pop' McKenzie, Rube Franklin, Martin 'Wimpy' Boufford, Dave Crowley, Mark 'Reb' Rebidoux and the Fauchers, father Delore and sons Mark and Leo. The homes of Captains McQueen, Penner and Hackett were next to each other on south Dalhousie Street, each with a yardarm in the front, such that locals referred to the location as 'Pirates' Row'.[33]

'Cap' McQueen retired in 1956 and disposed of his business to a Detroit syndicate headed by G.G. Garland, Sparkman Foster, Jack Bliss and Stan Dupont. The latter became superintendent and general manager after a career with the Nicholson Transit Company and the D&C Line. On October 6, 1957 Cap entered the hospital for kidney tests but by 06:00 hours on October 8th he made his last voyage.[34]

Many a harrowing tale could be told by these men but none more so than a run of the Atomic up Lake Huron two weeks after the freighter Edmund Fitzgerald sank on Lake Superior in 1975. McQueen Marine had been contracted to proceed to Thunder Bay to escort a new ferry boat, the Wolf Islander, to Kingston. While proceeding upbound on Lake Huron the Atomic was hit by a gale that at times entombed the tug in mountainous seas and threatened to capsize it. Sheer surprise was expressed each time it surfaced upright. Fortunately, the windows were bevelled inwards so the water pressure inside a large wave only sealed them tighter instead of blowing them inwards. When Houghton, Michigan was reached that night, three of the crew left permanently. Cliff Morrison took over as captain and Sonny Boulton remained as engineer. At the Soo Locks, the U.S. Coast Guard requested that the crew keep a sharp lookout for any debris from the 'Fitz' as they crossed Whitefish Bay, but none was found. The return passage was freezing cold but uneventful.[35]

Excursions

In 1897 the Detroit, Belle Isle & Windsor Ferry Company, under the presidency of Walter Campbell of Detroit, leased 10 acres of Bob-Lo Island for a park and excursion destination.[36] The first steamer runs began on June 20, 1898 with the Pleasure and Britannia, later followed by two vessels built for a dedicated Detroit-Bob-Lo route, the Columbia of 1902 and the Ste. Claire of 1910. In 1909 the company erected on Bob-Lo the still-visible monument to Great Lakes sailors, capped by a 1½ ton anchor of the Bradley steam barge City of Cleveland.[37] A series of smaller passenger boats operated between Amherstburg and Bob-Lo, starting with the Goodchild family's Scotia (1898-1902), followed by the original Papoose, the C.H. Park under Captain Everett Saunders and occasionally Don Turner and the later Papoose boats of the early 1970s, captained notably by Harry Spearing. Bob-Lo Island also had a tug/barge combination with the tugs H.E.Gorry and the later Marvin O., captained by Marvin O'Gorman and Cliff Thompson.

Steamers of other companies called in the area but none was more famous than White Star Line's Tashmoo, known affectionately as the 'glass hack' because of her many windows. While cruising on the evening of June 18, 1936 she holed herself on a boulder that had rolled into the Sugar Island Channel. Under the guidance of Captain Donald McAlpine and an escort from McQueen's tug Progresso, the Tashmoo proceeded across the river to the Brunner Mond dock as 1400 passengers, unaware of their plight, continued to dance the night away to the swing band of Gene Calloway. All were disembarked safely as the ship slowly settled deck by deck into the water. After another contractor had tried for two months to raise the ship, Cap McQueen took the contract on a 'no cure, no pay' basis and floated it in six weeks by using unconventional means: bracing the hole in its hull with mattresses and pouring horse manure upstream so that the finely chewed straw was drawn into the hull cracks by the suction of pump inside the ship. Along with $12,000, the underwriters gave him the ship which he later sold for scrap after removing the wheelhouse for a summer home.[38]

Usually once a season, either the Columbia or the Ste. Claire was chartered locally for an excursion from Amherstburg in July. The scene was lifted straight out of Stephen Leacock's Sunshine Sketches of a Little Town: a band playing, the ship's whistle blowing, mothers calling, children screaming and the ship stuck in the mud at the dock until a McQueen tug could arrive to pull it free. A memorable time was had by one and all!

The Bob-Lo boats were very convenient for local mothers who wished to shop for children's clothing in Detroit without the encumbrance of the prying eyes of Customs and Immigration officials. The routine was the purchase of a return Amherstburg-Bob-Lo ticket followed by the purchase, with a wink, of a return Bob-Lo-Detroit ticket from the office manager on the island. Trouble arose on only one occasion when during World War II the German Bund used the ruse to escape from Canada to the then-neutral United States.[39]

The importance of the Bob-Lo boats to Amherstburg life cannot be underestimated. People marked the seasons by the sound of the first whistle blown on the Victoria Day weekend and the last blown on Labour Day. One of the great impromptu events in the county was the spontaneous arrival of thousands of area residents and dozens of small boats in the harbour to bid farewell to the last boat of the season, which left the Bob-Lo dock at 8:30pm sharp. From the ship came the continuous blowing of the whistle and the strains of "Auld Lang Syne," and from the shore the sirens and water cannons of emergency vehicles and the fond farewells of those gathered together. There was many an arm waving, many a tearful eye and many a thought whether we, too, would see another season of Bob-Lo. Few imagined outliving the event.

Four horses went on a run with two used at a time and in bad weather a fifth horse was sent from town to Petrimoulx Corners, a difficult clay area, to offer assistance. Terminals were located at Millard's Feed Barn near the present market in Windsor and at the livery barn of Albert Fox, William's brother, on Richmond Street opposite the Amherst Hotel. Departures were made six days per week from Windsor at 9 am with an arrival in Amherstburg at 12:36pm, followed by a return departure at 1:30pm to meet the Grand Trunk train's departure at 6:30pm. William Fox's most memorable run was the carriage to Amherstburg of $9000 in a safe for the opening of the Sovereign Bank. A second Fox service had operated until 1887 to Oxley through Harrow and Colchester with an overnight at Oxley. Both services were ended by the coming of rail service: the Windsor run by the electric railway in 1903 (Fox kept running until 1907) and the Oxley run by Hiram Walker's railway (later part of the Canada Southern Railway) through Harrow to Kingsville. It was pointed out, however, that the trolleys just could not move around snowdrifts like the old stagecoaches could.[45]

Railways

Amherstburg has suffered the whims of railway politics, often at the hands of influential Windsor personalities. Although Amherstburg and Sandwich were the prominent municipalities along the Canadian shore in the mid-1800s, Windsor lobbied hardest and was chosen by the Great Western Railway (GWR) as its terminus in 1854.[46]

Amherstburg finally succeeded in 1872 when the Canada Southern Railway (CSR) chose Gordon, a mile north of town, as a western terminus for transporting railway carriages across to the United States via Stony Island. The route along the lakeshore followed prior routes laid out for the Niagara and Detroit River Railway and the Great Southern Railway, both of which were scuttled by powerful opposing interests. The first train arrived from St. Thomas in November, 1872 on Friday the 13th which in time lived up to its reputation. The regional headquarters were located in the present Legion building on Dalhousie Street just south of Gore Street. The rugged ferry Transfer, built at the Jenkins shipyard at Walkerville, carried nearly 1000 cars daily. Trains were fast, as ably demonstrated on September 13, 1877 when a CSR train between St. Thomas and Amherstburg via Essex clocked the fastest time in history for a wood-burning engine - 111 miles in 109 minutes. Prosperity followed the railway until 1883 when a growing ice problem in winter led to the cessation of the ferry service. An option to build a bridge had expired, so U.S. railway baron W.H. Vanderbilt commenced the construction of a railway tunnel under the river until politics intervened to force a termination of the project.[47]

In 1883 local interests again fell victim to the lobbying of Windsor politicians, this time the merchant James Dougall and the Windsor Board of Trade. The Michigan Central Railroad ('railroad' is an American term, 'railway' is British) allied with the GWR, took control of the CSR and built the 'Essex cutoff' to divert at Essex the CSR's mainline traffic from Amherstburg to Windsor. The future of Windsor as the economic hub of the county was now secure. Prominent Amherstburg families such as the Bartlets, Nobles and McGregors all moved to Windsor.

On January 21, 1883 the frame MCR station at Gordon was destroyed by fire.[48] A new station was erected but when it met the same fate in August, 1892 thoughts turned to building a station closer to the centre of town.[49] Over the next two years the railway committee sought a direct connection to the railway. A connecting line was granted to the Michigan Central Railroad in 1894 and the railway was extended into Amherstburg from Gordon.

Construction of the brick railway station and frame freight warehouse on Richmond Street was begun in October, 1895 by Detroit contractor A. Ellison. On January 25, 1896 MCR station agent Thomas Moffatt "took farewell of the old Amherstburg station in Anderdon, which will be hereafter known as Gordon, and he is now located in the new freight shed with all the paraphernalia of his office...All freight is now received and despatched from here and all business must be transacted at the new office."[50] Although it was hoped that the building would be occupied by March 1st,[51] the work was not completed until May[52] and Moffatt did not move his office into the new station until September of 1896.[53]

Until September of 1923[54] the MCR continued a twice-daily passenger service to Windsor via connections at Essex with a car called the 'Plug' which transported high school students to Essex for a time. The Richmond Street station was abandoned by 1969 and CSR/MCR freight service ceased in the early 1970s, nearly a century after the arrival of the first train. All that now remains of the CSR in the Tri-Community area is abandoned tracks in the bush and bridge pylons in the river near Stony Island.[55] At the present time, service is provided by the Essex Terminal Railway and the CSR/MCR station on Richmond Street has been preserved as the Gibson Gallery.

Streetcars

An interurban streetcar service between Amherstburg and Windsor was started in 1903 by the Sandwich, Windsor & Amherstburg Railway Company (SW&A), owned and operated by the Detroit United Railway Company and its successor, the Hydro Electric Power Commission of Ontario. After the line was extended to the post office at the end of Richmond Street in 1905, the cars returning to Windsor would turn at the corner of Richmond and Sandwich Streets and back down to the town hall.[56] The service was popular with commuting workers, market gardeners who shipped their produce to the city and social groups who chartered it for a 'trolley party' that resembled

On June 12, 1982 the Amherstburg Kinettes celebrated their 25th anniversary at the Anderdon Tavern.

Amherstburg Kinettes have undertaken many projects, including peanut drives, card parties, shrub plantings, babysitting courses, selling chocolate bars and licorice, dancing lessons, distribution of gifts for seniors at the Richmond Nursing Home, sponsoring young girls' baseball teams and donating to the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation. They enter floats in festivals and parades with the Kinsmen and volunteer their time and efforts at the arena, holding skating events for children. They also canvass for the Cancer Society, the Canadian National Institute for the Blind and the Heart Foundation, as well as sponsoring an annual bursary for General Amherst High School students.

Throughout the years the Kinettes have watched their membership fluctuate but their goals have remained strong. Although they no longer organize the annual dinner/dances, they are still active in the community.

At present, the Amherstburg Kinettes have four members: president Mary Ann Hasson, secretary Aggie McDonald, treasurer and Life Member Doris White and vice-president Debbie Russell. They are still involved in high school bursaries, donations to area food banks and fire departments (for protective wear) and the selling of Nevada tickets. One of their main goals is to increase their membership in the Tri-Community area by encouraging new Kin wives to join them.

Knights of Columbus Council 2110 - Father Bernard O'Donnell Council

The Knights of Columbus was formed by a young priest named Michael Joseph McGivney who was the assistant pastor of St. Mary's Church in New Haven, Connecticut during 1881 and 1882. Father McGivney realized the need for a lay organization that would stimulate the interest and strengthen the faith of the immigrant Catholic population of New Haven and which would instill a sense of responsibility and protection for the financial integrity of the family.

In May, 1919 the pastor of St. John the Baptist Church in Amherstburg announced that the District Deputy of the Windsor Knights of Columbus wished to meet with the men of the parish. By autumn the local Knights were meeting regularly, making preparations for eventual inauguration. The Amherstburg Council No. 2110 Knights of Columbus was instituted May 9, 1920 at the Amherstburg Town Hall.[24] Charter officers were chaplain Michael J. Ryan, C.S.B., Philip A. Barron, Arthur J. Burns, Edward J. Crimmins, Oscar Mailloux, Joseph A. Bedard, Alex U. Gunn, Orion P. Barron, James J. Meehan, Thomas A. Boyle, J. Alfred Girardin, Patrick Donnelly, Philias T. Reaume, Simon Bertrand and Macomb Mullen.

The first meetings of Council 2110 were held in the Parish Hall, corner of King and Gore Streets. The first project was to buy chairs and ceremonial furniture. Bro. Harry Ouellette donated people attended the event, at which Miss Kay Dube of Malden was crowned Queen of Hearts. The ball raised over $150, a considerable sum at that time!

Throughout the years the Kinettes have watched their membership fluctuate but their goals have remained strong. Although they no longer organize the annual dinner/dances, they are still active in the community.

At present, the Amherstburg Kinettes have four members: president Mary Ann Basson, secretary Aggie McDonald, treasurer and Life Member Doris White and vice-president Debbie Russell. They are still involved in high school bursaries, donations to area food banks and fire departments (for protective wear) and the selling of Nevada tickets. One of their main goals is to increase their membership in the Tri-Community area by encouraging new Kin wives to join them.

Knights of Columbus Council 2110 - Father Bernard O'Donnell Council

The Knights of Columbus was formed by a young priest named Michael Joseph McGivney who was the assistant pastor of St. Mary's Church in New Haven, Connecticut during 1881 and 1882. Father McGivney realized the need for a lay organization that would stimulate the interest and strengthen the faith of the immigrant Catholic population of New Haven and which would instill a sense of responsibility and protection for the financial integrity of the family.

In May, 1919 the pastor of St. John the Baptist Church in Amherstburg announced that the District Deputy of the Windsor Knights of Columbus wished to meet with the men of the parish. By autumn the local Knights were meeting regularly, making preparations for eventual inauguration. The Amherstburg Council No. 2110 Knights of Columbus was instituted May 9, 1920 at the Amherstburg Town Hall.[34] Charter officers were chaplain Michael J. Ryan, C.S.B., Philip A. Barron, Arthur J. Burns, Edward J. Crimmins, Oscar Mailloux, Joseph A. Bedard, Alex D. Gaus, Orion P. Barron, James J. Meehan, Thomas A. Boyle, J. Alfred Girardin, Patrick Donnelly, Philias T. Reaume, Simon Bertrand and Macomb Mullen.

The first meetings of Council 2110 were held in the Parish Hall, corner of King and Gore Streets. The first project was to buy chairs and ceremonial furniture. Bro. Harry Ouellette donated James, to come from Ireland then they would both proceed to Biddulph.

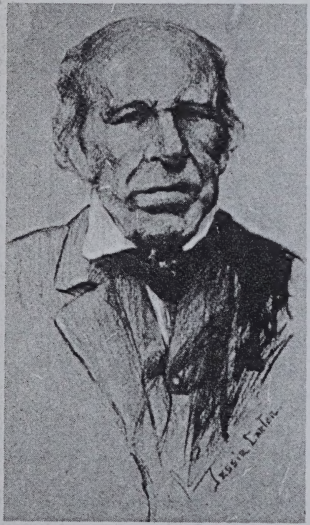
Owing to numerous delays they were later in reaching York than they had anticipated but here they procured provisions and an ox team and travelled westward along the governor's road from Hamilton to London. Then they went north along the Proof Line Road to Lot 25 on the 16th concession of London Township where their Irish friend James Stanley had settled in 1823. He had emigrated in 1822 from Borrisokane, Ireland and we can imagine there would be a joyous reunion with his former countrymen and as it was summer he, James Stanley would insist on his friends staying there until some sort of shelter was built on their newly-claimed lots in Biddulph. Col. James Hodgins and his family stayed until his own log house on Lot 39, Concession 3 was erected in September, 1832. His sons and relatives who emigrated with him settled on the same concession. His brother, Adam, built his log house a few lots further north on Lot 36. The Hodgins families, all relatives of Col. James, were the first Irish settlers to occupy Biddulph. James Hodgins was known officially as Col. James Hodgins but to his friends he was "Big Jim" — on account of his stature, but he was "big" in more ways than one, he was kind-hearted and generous, well-liked and admired by all who knew him. At first the 2nd concession road was known as "Big Jim's Line" but with the arrival of several families of Courseys it has since been known as the "Coursey Line".



Col. James Hodgins

In 1835 Col. James became an agent for the Canada Company and in this capacity in 1844 he returned to Ireland to encourage other families to emigrate to Canada. Conditions in Ireland prompted many to seek homes in the new land and thus a large part of Biddulph was populated by Irish.

As agent for the Canada Company also, he secured a grant of several acres of land where St. James Anglican church and cemetery is located.

When rebellion broke out in 1837 he drilled recruits for the protection of his new country. He commanded the 6th Battalion of Huron Militia and in 1842 he was officially appointed Lieutenant-Colonel of the Huron regiment, the official announcement of which is in the hands of a descendant. His Bible also is in possession of a great grandson, Harvey Hodgins.

Col. James Hodgins was, in 1842, the first District Councillor to represent Biddulph in Huron District Council held in Goderich and after the Baldwin Municipal Act was passed in 1850, providing free elections of township officials, he was the first ELECTED reeve of Biddulph. He was reeve for 8 years, then left the office for his descendants and others to carry on and indeed scarcely has there been a council since that time that has not had at least one Hodgins as a member.

A son and grandson of Col. James followed in his footsteps. His son, "Deputy" John and grandson, Charles C. Hodgins both occupied the reeve's chair — Charles C. later going on to be Warden of Middlesex and Member of the Legislature for Ontario. Other descendants of the Colonel have been elected to the council from time to time. In 1964, Wilson Hodgins, a great grandson, was elected Reeve, thus completing five generations, including the Colonel, to fill the Reeve's chair. Austin Hodgins, a great-great grandson, now township clerk, previously served as reeve. Two other great-great grandsons have reached prominence. Norman Hodgins of W. Williams was Warden of Middlesex in 1963 and Hamilton Hodgins, of Biddulph, was elected president of Middlesex Federation of Agriculture in 1964. Archbishop Rev. A. H. O'Neil is another great-great grandson.

Col. James Hodgins died in Biddulph on January 1, 1869, in his 85th year. His widow, Mary Napier Hodgins, a cousin whom he married in Ireland, died in 1880 at the age of 90. Both Col. Hodgins and his wife are buried in the cemetery of their first parish, St. Johns, Arva.

Col. Hodgins was an outstanding figure and may be rightly named the "Founder of Biddulph Township". To mark the centenary of the establishment of the first Irish settlement in the township under Col. Hodgins, a cairn was erected to his memory in St. James cemetery, Clandeboye and unveiled September 4, 1932. The stones composing the cairn were gathered from the farms of his grandsons on the Coursey Line where he and his sons settled in 1832.

CONTAINING ABOUT

ONE MILLION ACRES OF LAND,

IN ONE BLOCK,

Extending Westward from the Gore and Wellington Districts to the Shores of Lake Huron, which bounds it for sixty miles.

The Land in the Huron Tract is of the finest character, and of the description best adapted to the cultivation of Wheat. This Tract possesses advantages which render it peculiarly eligible to every class of Settler: scarcely a bad Farm is to be found in it: it is well watered by living Streams, and the climate is most healthy. The principal Port is Goderich, the District Town, which has a population of about 1200—good Stores or Shops, Mechanics, a large Grist Mill, a Fulling and Carding Mill, an Iron Foundry, places of Religious Worship, resident Clergymen, and good Schools, where the higher branches of the Classics are taught, &c. &c. &c.

Dear Helen:

Enclosed is the death registration for Johanna Moriarity which you ordered.... #20868-1902 as found on MS 935 reel 107.

As you probably know, the 1901 census for Ontario does give birth dates. So to get Johanna's birth, you might consider checking the Ellice twp Perth co census.

It has been a pleasure to get this for you. I look forward to assisting you again.

Sincerely,

Ruth Burkholder

US and OVERSEAS searchers, please read this as written in US funds.

GENERAL RESEARCH:

Option 1: "Do-it-yourself" -- $30 consultation fee for me to take an hour to consider your problem and send you references or addresses for doing the work yourself.

Option 2: "Let-me-do-it" -- $100.00 deposit covers about 4 hours research at $20/hr with the balance for travel and other expenses. I usually divide the travel expenses between those I work for on a given day. I may work for an additional two hours and bill you, if I am not otherwise notified.

Option 3: "Working together" -- $30 consultation fee, and the $100 deposit as in Option 1, a total of $130. I will send you references for what you can do, and then work on an hourly basis for you.

VITAL STATISTIC SEARCHES:

The Registrar General's office has been turning over their Birth, Marriage and Death records, which start in 1869, to the Ontario Archives for preservation and research use.

Option 4: I will check the index and provide a copy of the registration for a flat $20 fee, if that is all that you require.

Option 5: I will provide a copy of the registration for $10.00 if you provide me with the registration number and registration year, as well as the date and name of the party. This charge occurs when no other research is being undertaken at the same time.

Option 6: Registrations without this information will be supplied at regular copy costs plus search time in conjunction with research provided under options 2 or 3.

There is no refund of advanced payment if the information provided for options 4 and 5 does not correspond with the registration, and a copy is not made.

Additional expenses may include:

Phone calls: Research time charged for all calls; no charge for calls

Hi Helen, I rec'd your letter today, what a surprise!! Lots of relatives in Mt.Carmel, St. Pat's, & St Peter's cem. Not all connected by me--yet. My g grandfather was Florence Barry b 1830. Your Thomas Barry b 1811-1813 could be his brother or cousin or uncle. Florence had a son Thomas b April 27 1866 and another son John Barry,<my grandfather> b1856 in Lucan , Biddulph Township, Middlesex Co, who married Catherine Casey & she is buried " with her people" in St Pats cem. The person you meet was Donald O'Rourke , my cousin, who teachs French & cuts the grass in the summer @ all three cem. mentioned above. About 3 yrs ago, he & I went thru all the cem. marking down all the names we both knew or thought we knew. I have been sorting them out ever since. We have an O'Rourke reunion ever 5 yrs around Mt. Carmel. Next one is next yr.

Pls keep in touch since I thing our paths will cross again-- just about all the "Biddulphers" were related somehow. Jerry Barry

Hi Helen, Most of the records I used where from my memory of what people told me. I lived in that area every summer on my uncles farm from being a baby until I went to U of M. Also, most of my relates still live in the area. Wrote to Mt C,& St Pat for their records.
Also used Internet for a lot of stuff i.e. 1871 census etc. Also joined Canadan - Irish roots email group-- "signed up" , is better choice of words. Only R C churchs that where ever mentioned were the ones you mentioned. Maybe the dioceses could help.
I use Family
Tree Maker 6.0. Do you use any software??? So far I have 600 names for my wife & my roots. Still have lots to load.
I spent a lot of time tring to find my g grandparents parish in Irland w/out any success. Any ideas??? I know their b, and area where they are from, i.e. Cork etc , but need to know parish since that is the only records avail. for 1830 & earlier. jerry

Concession 6 Lot 31, Kinkora

Ellice Township

Kinkora was established by the Irish settlers and named after Kincora near Killaloe in Ireland. But to-day most parishioners are of Dutch background.

The first priest was Father Schneider of Goderich, who celebrated mass at Hennessey's log cabin in Kinkora in 1842. A frame church was built in 1858 on the site of the present church.

The first of many notable resident priests was Father John O'Neil. He drove every saloon out of his parish. He died July 1904 and was buried in the parish cemetery across the road from the church.

Little is known how the present beautiful church came into being in 1882. Kinkora was a hamlet of some 30 families and a parish of some 105 Irish immigrant families. It was designed by architect Joseph Connolly who also planned St.Peter's Cathedral in London. The church originally cost $30,000.00.

Irish Fam History - Marilyn Yurdan - 1990 - Gen Pub. Co

Eamon de Valera, on the other hand, did things in reverse. Born in New York in 1882, he was brought up in Co. Limerick, at Bruree, where his mother had lived before emigrating to America. 'Dev' went on to become Taoiseach on several occasions, and finally President of Ireland from 1959 to 1973.

An interesting relic of emigration to North America is the term 'American Wake' which described a kind of combination of dance and wake. The night before a villager was due to leave for America, all the neighbours would come round to the family home for music and dancing, in a kind attempt to take the family's minds off the loss which they were shortly to suffer.

Emigration to Canada

Perhaps as many as 20% of today's Canadians have Irish blood in them. The main ports of immigrant entry were St John, and Halifax, both in Nova Scotia, and Quebec, although at one time Toronto was known as the 'Belfast of Canada'.

It is in the eastern provinces then, that Irish ancestors should be sought in the first instance, partly due to the fact that these, together with British Columbia in the far west, were the first to be extensively settled, but mainly because of the strong trade and shipping links forged by the beginning of the nineteenth century between the Maritime Provinces, in particular Newfoundland, and the ports of West Cork.

Some aided immigration, mainly thanks to grants of land from the Canadian government, was made possible and taken advantage of by large numbers of immigrants from Cork, who settled in Upper Canada, now known as Ontario.

The Canadian authorities, however, were soon to discover that they had a serious problem on their hands when attempting to deal with the disease and poverty which was invading their country with the influx of wretched immigrants, notably from Ireland.

At Montreal, a hospital and fever sheds were set up where Victoria Bridge and the railway sidings now stand. By the entrance to the bridge is a stone, placed there by workmen employed by Messrs Peto, Brassey and Betts on the construction of the bridge in 1859. It is inscribed to the memory of the 6,000 or so immigrants who died there of ship fever in 1847–8.

Grosse Isle was a quarantine station in the St Lawrence river, 30 miles from Quebec. In the emigrant cemetery there is a memorial, near the spot where lie 'the mortal remains of the 5,294 persons, who, flying from pestilence and famine in Ireland in the year 1847, found in America but a grave.'

Of the more than 100,000 emigrants who left the United Kingdom in 1847, a large proportion of them Irish, more than 21,000 died in Canada on, or shortly after, arrival. Of these, apart from those who died on Grosse Isle, 14,706 died in Quebec, Montreal, Kingston, or Toronto, and a further 1,120 in New Brunswick.

It is to the everlasting credit of the Canadian people that they, themselves an immature nation, have such a wonderful record of welcoming the destitute, and providing a refuge for the diseased and dying.

So, for thousands, their dream of the good life in North America ended in nightmare. A vivid account of the appalling conditions, both on board emigrant ships and in Irish ghettoes, notably in Boston and New York, but also in Montreal, Quebec and Liverpool, in South Wales and on Clydeside, may be found in Cecil Woodham-Smith's The Great Hunger.

Emigration to Australia

Throughout 1988, when Australia and Britain were celebrating the Australian Bicentenary, no-one could have remained unaware of the fact that transportation to New South Wales began in 1788. The colony had already been proclaimed as such by George III in 1786, and was quickly adopted as a welcome substitute for the American colonies which had recently declared their independence and, not unnaturally, their unwillingness to continue to act as a dustbin for Britain's undesirables.

Many of us in the Old World, though, were probably unaware of the legions of soldiers, sailors, prison officers and administrators who were needed to enable a penal colony to exist. In addition, many thousands left Europe of their own accord in order to better themselves.

It is now very fashionable in Australia to be able to claim convict ancestors; apart from the dictates of fashion, such emigrants are much better documented than those who arrived as free men, or as famine refugees, even the colour of convicts' eyes being recorded.

When the last convict ship had unloaded its contents at Sydney

Hello

There is nothing in the 1879 Perth Atlas about Hugh McCaffrey. I had found his name in the listing of land owners in Biddulph in 1848 and 1850.

I have a lot of data on the McCaffrey/ery families from Perth but I can't connect Hugh McCaffrey. He could of possibly been the brother of Arthur b. 1816, William b. ? and Patrick b, 1806 all in County Fermanagh, Ireland.

Here is a couple of generations of the McCaffrey family from Ellice, Township.
Descendants of ? McCaffrey

Hello HER

<cut>
"Do you know if there is really a difference between McCaffrey and McCaffery families? I figure it is just an oddity of spelling and the name could be spelled either way at various times"

The spelling difference is irrelevant, the family seemed to be split on the spelling. On the gravestones of Arthur McCaffrey for instance it is spelled McCaffrey and in everything I see on paper it is spelled McCaffery. It depends which line of the family spelled the name. I have spelled all the names in my wife's family as "rey" just to make it simple.

This is a larger outline below of the McCaffrey/ery family.

History of The Michigan Central Railroad Company and its predecessors from the 1913 Annual Report of The New York Central Railroad System.

THE MICHIGAN CENTRAL RAILROAD COMPANY.

In 1836, the Detroit and St. Joseph Railroad Company, chartered June 29, 1832, began the construction of the road. Before the completion of any portion of the line, that Company sold its property and franchises to the State of Michigan, April 22, 1830, and the Central Railroad Company of Michigan was created. The road was completed by the State between Detroit and Kalamazoo, February 2, 1846. March 28, 1846, the State of Michigan passed an Act granting a special charter to The Michigan Central Railroad Company, and authorizing the sale of the Central Railroad to said Company for $2,000,000. The Michigan Central Railroad Company was organized, paid the consideration and took possession of the property under such, September 25,1846. The road was extended and operated to Niles and New Buffalo, and the further extension and change of line to Kensington, Illinois, was completed in May, 1852, and at the same time trains were run to Chicago, Illinois, over the tracks of the Illinois Central Railroad from Kensington. Under an agreement with the Illinois Central Railroad Company dated June 14, 1871, in lieu of all former agreements, The Michigan Central Railroad Company has perpetual running rights between Kensington and Chicago. The special charter was repealed by Act 2 of the Public Acts of Michigan, extra session 1900, and at a meeting of the stockholders, December 4, 1901, the Company, subject to the provisions of said Act, resolved to surrender its charter and to continue its incorporation under the general railroad law of Michigan. The certificate of such surrender and incorporation was filed in the office of the Secretary of State, December 30, 1901.

JOLIET AND NORTHERN INDIANA RAILROAD COMPANY

Incorporated January 9, 1854, under the laws of Indiana. Consolidated with the Oswego and Indiana Plank Road Company of Illinois July 1, 1854. Operated under perpetual agreement, dated September 7, 1851, by which, as amended The Michigan Central Railroad Company maintains the road and pays a rental of $15,000 per annum, being five per cent. on the capital stock of $300,000 and interest on funded debt and all taxes and expenses, and receives all revenues. Bonds of The Michigan Central Railroad Company issued for $1,500,000 secured by a mortgage on the property of the Joliet and Northern Indiana Railroad Company (under which mortgage the issue of bonds of The Michigan Central Railroad Company to an amount not exceeding $3,000,000 is authorized), have been substituted for such funded debt. The Michigan Central Railroad Company owns the entire capital stock.

MICHIGAN AIR LINE RAILROAD COMPANY

This Company is a consolidation of the Grand Trunk Railway Company of Michigan and the Grand Trunk Railway Company of Indiana, Articles of Consolidation being dated July 14, 1868, and filed August 27, 1868. There was a further consolidation with the St. Joseph Valley Railroad Company October 7, 1870. The road was complete in February, 1871. Operated under perpetual agreement, dated January 1, 1870, by which The Michigan Central Railroad Company maintains that portion of the original line west of Jackson, and pays interest on funded debt, and all taxes and expenses, and receives all revenues. Bonds of The Michigan Central Railroad Company issued for $2,600,090 secured by mortgage on the Michigan Air Line Railroad Company's property have been substituted for such funded debt. The Michigan Central Railroad Company owns a majority of the capital stock.

KALAMAZOO AND SOUTH HAVEN RAILROAD COMPANY

Incorporated April 15, 1869. The road was completed January 2, 1871. Operated under perpetual agreement, dated July 1, 1870, by which The Michigan Central Railroad Company maintains the road, pays interest on funded debt and all taxes and expenses, and receives all revenues. Bonds of The Michigan Central Railroad Company issued for $700,000 secured by mortgage on the property of the Kalamazoo and South Haven Railroad Company have been substituted for such funded debt. The Michigan Central Railroad Company owns a majority of the capital stock.

THE GRAND RIVER VALLEY RAILROAD COMPANY

Chartered May 4, 1846. Reorganized under General Laws of Michigan April 25, 1894. Road completed in spring of 1870. Operated under perpetual agreement dated August 15, 1870 by which The Michigan Central Railroad Company maintains the road and pays rental of $24,560 per annum, being five per cent. on the capital stock of $491,200 and $150 corporate expenses, and interest on funded debt, and all taxes and expenses, and receives all revenues. Bonds of The Michigan Central Railroad Company issued for $1,500.000 secured by a mortgage on the property of The Grand River Valley Railroad Company (under which mortgage the issue of Michigan Central bonds to an amount not exceeding $4,500,000 is authorized), have been substituted for such funded debt. The Michigan Central Railroad Company owns a minority of the capital stock.

JACKSON, LANSING AND SAGINAW RAILROAD COMPANY

The original company which built the first portion of this railroad was incorporated in 1857 under the name of the Amboy Lansing and Traverse Bay Railroad Company, commonly known as the Ramshorn Road. A considerable land grant was made to it. It began with the construction of the road north of Lansing and completed about twenty miles between Owosso and Lansing before 1861. February 23, 1864, the Lansing and Jackson Railroad Company, as purchaser of the property of the Lansing and Jackson Company, which had been organized to build a railroad between Lansing and Jackson , filed articles of association, and on February 23, 1865, filed amended articles changing the name to the Jackson Lansing and Saginaw Railroad Company. March 18, 1965, the State of Michigan authorized the latter Company to buy the railroad and property, including the land grant, of the Amboy Lansing and Traverse Bay Railroad Company, and on October 26, 1866, the contract of purchase was executed. The road was thereupon completed from Jackson to Lansing and from Owosso to Saginaw and Bay City, and in July, 1873, extended to Gaylord, and on December 31, 1881, all of the railroad from Jackson to Mackinaw City was completed. Operated under perpetual agreements dated August 31, 1871, September 1, 1876, and January 31, 1887 by which The Michigan Central Railroad Company maintains the road and pays rental of $70,750 per annum, being, 3 and one-half per cent on the capital stock of $2,000,000 and $750 for corporate expenses, interest on funded debt, and all taxes and expenses, and receives all revenues. Bonds of the Michigan Central Railroad Company, issued and now outstanding for $1,114,000 secured by mortgage on the property of the Jackson Lansing and Saginaw Railroad Company have been substituted for such funded debt. Such outstanding bonds are subject to reduction from time to time by purchase and retirement with funds arising from sales under the land grant. (See Trustees Report on another page). The Michigan Central Railroad Company owns one-third of the capital stock.

DETROIT AND BAY CITY RAILROAD COMPANY

The road was completed from Detroit to Bay City, Michigan, July 31, 1873, by the Detroit and Bay City Railway Company. The Detroit and Bay City Railroad Company was organized February 21, 1881, and acquired e the property of the Detroit and Bay City Railway Company. Operated in perpetuity under an agreement dated March l0,1881. The Michigan Central Railroad Company has issued its bonds for $4,000,000, secured by a mortgage on the property, and owns the entire capital stock.

BATTLE CREEK AND STURGIS RAILWAY COMPANY

Acquired that portion of a road which had been constructed between Battle Creek and Sturgis, Mich., in 1888 by the St. Louis Sturgis and Battle Creek Railroad Company.
